Work stoppage certain

Weekend coal accord could shorten strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief coal industry negotiator in contract talks with the United Mine Workers says an agreement could be reached by this weekend to keep short an expected nationwide miners strike.

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, said Wednesday he thought the two sides should be able to reach an accord "in two or three days," provided no new snags develop.

"I don't think we're that far apart. That's not to say we don't have some real knotty issues which need to be resolved," Farmer said.

UMW President Arnold Miller said there could be a tentative agreement before the current contract runs out at midnight Monday, but not in time to prevent at least a brief work stoppage. Miller would not comment when asked about the possibility of a breakthrough this weekend.

"What we do every day (at the bargaining table) will affect the duration of a stoppage," Miller said. Under the union's ratification procedures, it will take about 10 days for the membership to approve a tentative settlement.

Farmer said the negotiators were in the process of taking each other's proposals, starting at the beginning and comparing positions and "discussing how we might settle it."

Sources said that while major differences remained, the two sides were close in the economic area, including wage increases for the union's 120,000 miners.

The government has estimated that a month-long strike could force the layoffs of as many as 400,000 workers in the steel and other coal-burning industries. In addition, the auto industry, the nation's largest consumer of steel, says it would have to shut down within a few weeks for lack of supplies.

Governor's race recount may take until Christmas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The people of Ohio may not know officially until Christmas who their next governor will be.

With an unofficial victory margin of just over 10,000 votes for former Gov. James A. Rhodes, incumbent Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan is entitled to a free recount, and the recount is considered almost a certainty.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said the recount may take until Christmas and could cost the state as much as $200,000.

Brown said he expects errors in the unofficial tallies released early Wednesday.Those figures gave Rhodes, a Republican, 1,485,977 votes; Gilligan 1,475,799 votes, and Nancy Brown Lazar, an independent, 97,502.

The raw scores in the unofficial totals are reported to Brown's office by telephone.

"They are seldom the same as the written report that follows up," Brown said. "There are transpositions and things like that discovered when the written report is prepared."

Brown first gets a written report of the unofficial vote. Then an official canvass begins, lasting two to three weeks, he said.

After that is certified, the recount request can be made.

Brown said past experience has shown that major mistakes usually are caught during the written unofficial tabulation, which is started after election personnel get a day's rest from their all-night stint.

Under state law, candidates are entitled to a recount at state expense if the margin is less than one-half of one per cent. That would include the Gilligan-Rhodes contest.

When a candidate has to pay for a recount himself, the price is $10 per polling place, and Brown says that doesn't cover expenses. The state has 13,013 polling places.

Since the state will be paying for the recount, Brown is expected to ask the Democratic-controlled state Controlling Board to reimburse his actual cost.

The Democrats, who have more to gain than they do to lose, are expected to comply.

"Everybody will want to be assured of the actual vote," Brown said. "If I was Gov. Gilligan, I would."

Rhodes said it will not bother him to wait until Christmas for the final word.

"I will go on as I have before," he said. "We will leave that up to Ted Brown. We will abide by the law."

Body discovered in woman's yard

GREENFIELD — The Greenfield Police Department was contacted shortly after 8 a.m. Thursday when a woman living on Taylor Street reported that a man, dressed only in underwear, was lying in her front yard.

Officers responded and found the body of an elderly man at the residence. Dr. Glenn B. Doan, county coroner, verified that the man was, in fact, dead, and the investigation was turned over to the Highland County Sheriff's Department.

Since the man carried no personal items, identification was difficult. However, area residents were contacted, and some recognized the man from photographs.

He was identified shortly before 1 p.m. as Lester Tuesdale, 1028 South St., Greenfield.

The Sheriff's department and county coroner will continue their investigation into the cause of death.

Subdivision proposals approved by planners

Preliminary plans for two new residential subdivisions in Washington C.H. were approved by members of the City Planning Commission during the regular monthly meeting held Wednesday night in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford, who serves as secretary of the City Planning Commission, said preliminary plans for the proposed Wagon Wheel Estates and Belle-Aire South Subdivision No. 3 were approved by the city planners.

He said no date was established by the planning commission to review final plats and detailed construction plans by the two developers involved.

Robert E. Lewis, doing business as Silver Dollar, Inc., 1017 Clinton Ave., is proposing the Wagon Wheel Estates Subdivision at the corner of Gregg and Lewis streets in Washington C.H.

Lewis has proposed single-family residences on 34 lots. A small area of the proposed subdivision must be annexed into Washington C.H. The present zoning is R-2.

The Baker Construction Co., 225 S. Main St., has submitted plans for a Belle-Aire South Subdivision No. 3. Single family residences would be situated on three lots. Present zoning in the area is presently R-2 and R-3.

Man wins $300,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Kenneth F. Comer of Springfield won $300,000 today in the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 300 drawings.

Lester C. Nelson of Zanesville and Paul J. Markovsky of Youngstown each won $30,000. There was no $60,000 prize since there were only seven participants, too few under lottery rules to warrant the larger prize.

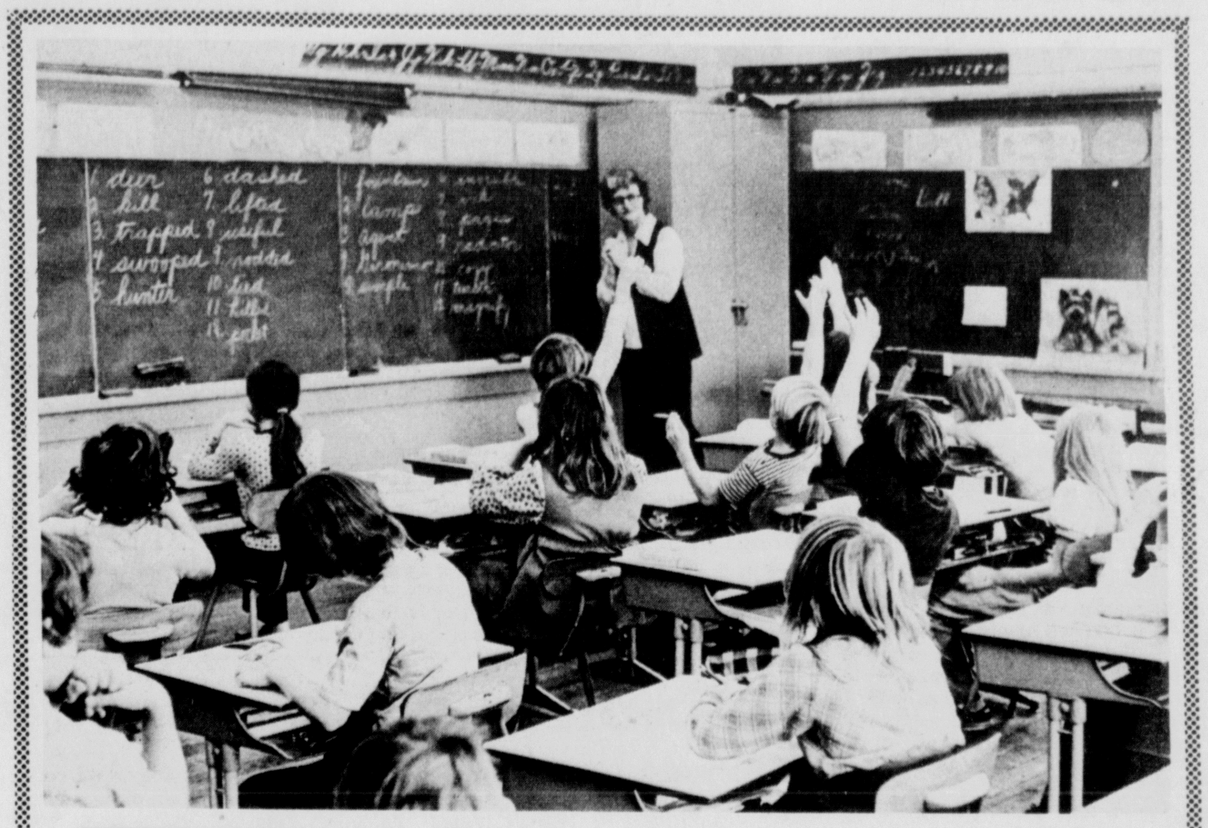

Winning the Buckeye 300's minimum $15,000 each were Gerald Harris of Defiance, Robert R. Ross, Elyria; Terri A. Fenwick, Canton; and Robert Gibson, Cambridge.

The week's winning numbers were announced as 096 for the single set and 623 062 as the double.

About a dozen additional participants were selected for Ohio's second millionaire drawing, tentatively scheduled for Jan. 10 or 11 in Columbus, according to Ohio Lottery Commission spokesman in Cleveland.

Combined class studied

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Are the Washington C.H. city schools reverting to the old tradition of the one-room red brick schoolhouse?

It would appear as such after the city Board of Education instituted a combined third and fourth grade class under one teacher this fall at the Rose Avenue Elementary School.

HOWEVER, according to Edwin Nestor, superintendent of the city schools, the plan was instigated under an emergency situation in which a tremendously low enrollment in the two grades made it economically impossible to conduct two separate classrooms.

Nestor said the school board was faced with two alternatives with the enrollment problem at the school — it could either bus the children in the two grades out to other city schools in their own classes or "in an attempt to preserve the neighborhood school atmosphere," it could set up one class with both grades under one, well-qualified teacher.

The board combined the 10 third grade students with the 14 fourth graders at the Rose Avenue school under Mrs. Dorothy Stanforth, who had been a fourth grade teacher for the last 12 years.

According to Nestor, the move has proved to be "a rather interesting venture and even though it came out of necessity, it is going to be a valuable experience for the students."

Nestor said he believes the combined grades "may bring up some unanticipated benefits" and noted that several school systems around the state were receding to the combined grades system under the thinking that "there may be values there with the little ones learning from the older ones."

But Mrs. Stanforth feels there are some definite drawbacks in teaching a combined-grade class today. "I think it is cutting some of the goals of elementary teaching," she said. "The combined-grade class doubles and even triples the work load of teachers and leaves them with less time to work with the students individually."

She added that there were some advantages in the system, such as allowing the children to work more on their own and giving the third graders a chance to learn and retain some knowledge from the fourth grade students, but overall, Mrs. Stanforth feels the arrangement is a "step backwards" and "should not be used unless you absolutely have to."

MRS. STANFORTH said she did not think the children had noticed that much of a difference in their classes. "In fact, they seemed to have adjusted to the change easier than their teacher," she said.

Although Mrs. Stanforth said she enjoyed teaching the two groups and watching their different reactions, she added that she would not teach a combined class again next year if it was reinstituted.

Her main reasons were the heavy workload and the time element involved in such an undertaking. "It takes a lot of extra preparation and drills in teaching two classes. The fourth graders have social studies and science, two subjects the third grade does not have, so I have to give the third graders extra drills in spelling and math to keep them busy while I'm teaching the other group," she said.

She added that the amount of free time was another important element in teaching a double grade. "There is no free time," she said. "While the third grade is out for art class, you're always teaching the other class geography or something, and when the fourth grade goes to art, the third graders are coming back so you have to be ready for

Congress likely to mark time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping gains Democrats scored in Congress, especially in the House, could mean that the lawmakers will do little more than mark time in the lame-duck session that opens Nov. 18.

Major decisions on economic and social programs, most of which had little chance of enactment this year in any case, are more likely than ever to be left to the more Democratic, more liberal and younger Congress that will convene in January.

There will be a strong effort in the Senate to conclude action this year on the foreign trade bill, which the House has passed and which was brought to the verge of Senate approval by a compromise on Soviet emigration policies.

Some senators also have promised to try to attach to any available House bill some version of the tax on oil company windfall profits, which has been stymied in the House.

But wide-ranging tax revision, a national health plan, strengthening of the unemployment compensation system and a big public service job program are issues likely to be left to a Congress where more sweeping solutions could have more support.

It was increasingly doubtful that Congress would conclude action this year on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president.

The Senate may finish its part, even though additional hearings have been scheduled. In the House, where the Judiciary Committee has not begun hearings, it seemed likely that the final vote would come in 1975.

In the Congress that convenes in January, Democrats are assured at least 291 House seats, more than two-thirds, with three races still unsettled. In the Senate, they will have at least 61 out of 100.

President Ford and Democratic congressional leaders exchanged post-election statements pledging cooperation in solving the nation's problems, but the record gave no assurance they will see eye to eye on the methods.

Senate Leader Mike Mansfield told Ford, "I would hope ... now that the election is over we will be able to get together and work cooperatively. I know you want to, I know the Senate wants to and I feel sure the House wants to."

"Let me assure you that will be the case," Ford replied.

After a House leadership conference at which Speaker Carl Albert was reported to have urged that solving the economic problems be put ahead of partisan interests, an aide said, "The name of the game is going to be compromise.

"We may make suggestions, but if anything is to be done, Ford is going to have to agree."

Traffic blocked as rig upsets on U.S. 35

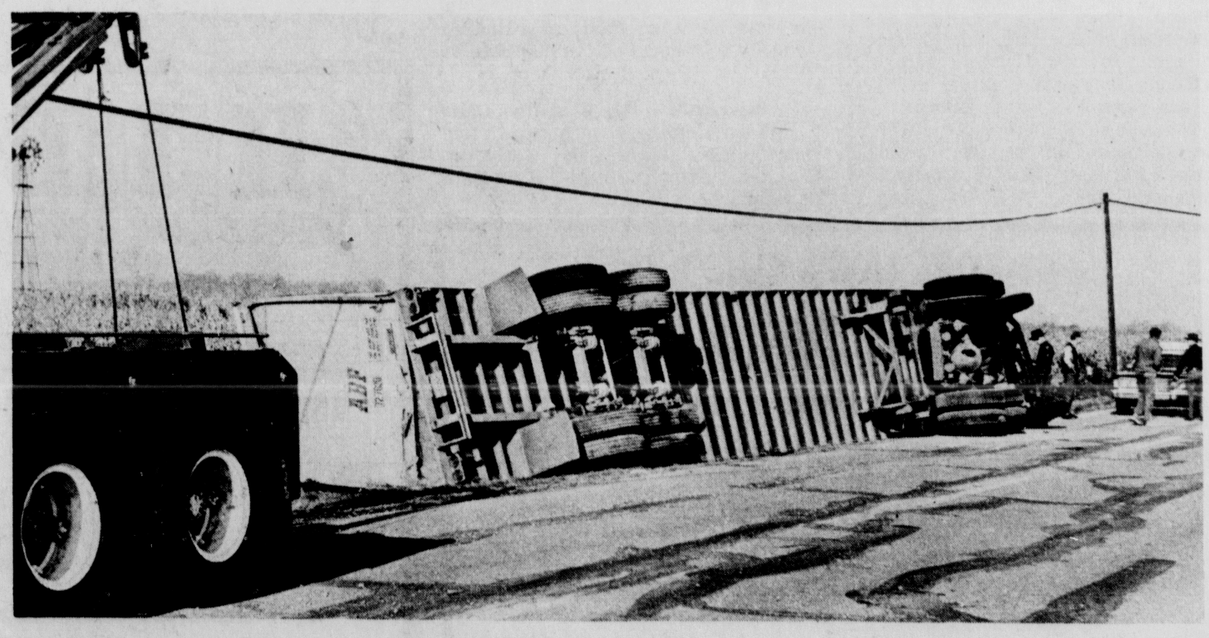

A tractor-trailer rig upset along U.S. 35-S shortly after 9 a.m. Thursday hospitalizing the driver and blocking traffic for several hours.

David Lawson, 44, of Connersville, N.C., was admitted at Fayette Memorial Hospital suffering from abrasions of the back and shoulder, lacerations of the face and injuries to the legs. He is listed in satisfactory condition.

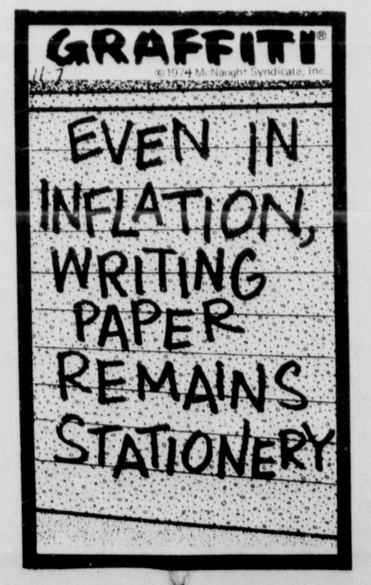

The 1974 model truck carried more than a quarter million dollars worth of cigarettes, all of which had to be transferred to another trailer before the truck could be righted. Two tow trucks were positioned in a field across the highway to pull the semi back on its wheels, blocking traffic for some time.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputy John Emrick was on the scene for more than four hours, directing traffic and protecting the payload from looters.

First reports of the incident were relayed to Sheriff's deputies by a ham radio operator as a passing motorist had reported the mishap on a citizens' band radio.

QUARTER MILLION PAYLOAD — This truck carrying more than $250,000 worth of cigarettes overturned along U.S. 35-S Thursday morning. The driver, David Lawson, 44, of Connersville, N.C., was reportedly passing another semi truck when the mishap occurred shortly after 9 a.m. The driver was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he is listed in satisfactory condition.

"As the work gets harder in each grade level, it would become more difficult in this type of situation to give them the additional individual attention they need," she said.

Nestor said he could not speculate on whether the board would continue the present program with combined grades until viewing the total perspective of the situation at the end of the year.

Robert Highfield, a member of the city school board, said that although he had not visited the class, he did not think the program would be continued. "It (the enrollment problem) just came up too soon and no one was aware of it; they'll probably bus the students to other schools in the future," he said.

Guy Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, said there were two cases of combined grades in session this school year in the county schools.

"In general, we do not encourage these situations. The reasons are simply due to the irregular enrollment in most instances where we cannot justify two separate sections so we just combine the two and still have a workable situation," he noted.

However, Foster said the county school board tries to be selective when establishing a combined-grade class. "We look at the teacher involved and the overall achievement level of the kids. We tend to take the stronger kids out of the two sections who work on their own and are more inclined to explore and do reference work on their own," he said.

Nestor said the board would definitely keep the number of students in a combined class down to "less than 30," the average size of a classroom under one grade level and teacher, if they found it necessary to combine grades again.

LEWIS PARRETT, city schools elementary coordinator, said if he were to employ the combined grade system, he would have to "look at each situation differently. I would hold down the number of students to probably under 25 depending on the pupils and how well they are able to follow directions and blend in with the situation."

The children who are placed in the situations do not appear to find the change so drastic and according to Mrs. Stanforth, she has heard no complaints from parents.

But in order to continue and capitalize on the combined-grade system, the Washington C.H. and Fayette County school boards have an extremely difficult situation to consider and evaluate.

SAUSAGE TIME — The 65 members of the Good Hope Lions Club will be treating hungry folks to their annual sausage and pancake supper from noon this Saturday through 7 p.m. at Wayne Hall in Good Hope. A very full belly can be obtained for $2 if you're an adult and $1.50 if you're a child. Along with the novelty of "the freshest sausage ever," (presently on the hoof in the photo) maple syrup and real butter will also be served. The money raised by the supper will help finance Lion's Club activities in helping promote the pilot dog program, eye research and the purchase of glasses for people in Fayette County who cannot afford them. Left to right behind the hogs are Howard Barney, club president; Joe Barton, chairman of the supper; Jack Alkire, public relations chairman and in the foreground is Mead Noble, the hog securer.

Stock list up slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly today in another active, back-and-forth session on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.20 at 672.32, and gainers held a moderate lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said hopes for another prime rate cut by New York's First National City Bank on Friday were providing the market with some upward impetus.

Texas Utilities, the most-active NYSE issue, rose ¾ to 21⅜ in trading that included a 99,900-share block at 21½.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slipped .12 to 69.69.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index rose .15 to 39.61.

Houston Oil & Minerals led the active list on the Amex, rising 1⅛ to 29¾.

Nixon tape system flaw-ridden

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Secret Service man has testified that former President Richard M. Nixon's taping system had flaws that make it suspect as a complete record of his White House conversations.

Secret Service technician James G. Baker said Wednesday at the Watergate cover-up trial that as much as three minutes of some presidential conversations went unrecorded while tape reels were being changed.

Baker, a retired Air Force sergeant, testified as one of a series of witnesses summoned to authenticate 26 White House tapes the prosecution plans to play for the jury. The verification process was scheduled to continue today with the likely testimony of former White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt.

Assistant special prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste said none of the 26 tapes the prosecutors plan to introduce into evidence starting next week have any gaps resulting from the Secret Service's method of changing tape reels.

Defense sources said, however, there were other flaws in the system that probably prevented other presidential conversations from being picked up by the taping system.

Former White House assistant Alexander P. Butterfield has testified that Nixon ordered the system installed in the White House Oval Office, the president's office in the Executive Office Building and the Cabinet Room in the White House.

As described by Baker and Secret Service agent Randolph Nelson on Wednesday, the taping system was installed in February 1971 and remained until July 18, 1973.

Through an elaborate interconnection of electronic and sound gear, the system was devised to pick up only conversations in which Nixon was a participant.

Although the tape recorders were designed to turn on with the sound of a voice or some other noise, only if the President was present would the reels begin to roll.

Agent Nelson said he knew of only nine persons, including Nixon, cover-up defendant John D. Ehrlichman, Butterfield and Secret Service men, who knew about the system until Butterfield made it public.

Deaths, Funerals

Colonel Harold Rodecker

He is survived by his wife Frances, and one sister Helen Grigg of Toledo.

Born in Washington C.H., he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rodecker, former book store owners here. He graduated from Washington High School and Miami University where he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

A member of U.S. Army for 31 years serving in the European theater during World War II he retired in 1965.

Fair weather was forecast to return to Ohio today and continue through the weekend, following the rain and drizzle that hung over the state Tuesday and Wednesday.

A high pressure area centered over Missouri this morning is responsible for the return of fair skies. The high is forecast to move to West Virginia by early Friday, then continue eastward, bringing warmer weather late Friday and on Saturday.

Lows at dawn today were generally in the 30s and low 40s. The cool spot in the state was Toledo Express Airport with 33 degrees.

Readings this afternoon were forecast in the upper 40s and low 50s and lows tonight are expected to dip to the low 30s. Sunny skies Friday should push temperatures into the 50s and possibly the low 60s.

Fair and mild Saturday through Monday.

Nixon said battling pneumonitis

Known as pneumonitis, the condition was apparently not considered serious. Dr. John C. Lungren said his patient is exhibiting over-all "slow but gradual improvement" since his brush with death last week following phlebitis surgery.

"He's ready to face the world again and fight back," reported a source close to Nixon. "He's not depressed anymore but he's grouchy."

Nixon, 61, hopes to be able to walk well enough soon to greet his wife, Pat, at his hospital room door, hospital spokesman Norman Nager said Wednesday. Nixon has been taking brief walks, assisted by nurses, around his room at Memorial Hospital Medical Center.

The pneumonitis, which Lungren said was being combatted with antibiotics, was presumably responsible for the partial collapse of the lung.

"The pneumonitis was determined by tests," Lungren said Wednesday in a written statement. He added that "it would be premature to offer a prognosis at this time."

Nixon has suffered numerous complications since his surgery Oct. 26. He remained on the critical list for six days after he went into shock for three hours from internal bleeding brought on by the operation.

Ohio Bell seeks huge rate boost

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. today asked state approval of a $216 million rate increase to cope with inflationary pressures.

Bell, in its request filed today, said the company had made some significant changes in the way it proposes to charge for some services.

The proposed increase, if granted as requested, would amount to about a $3 monthly hike in telephone costs to a residential user, a Bell spokesman said.

Joan Kennedy loses license

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Joan Kennedy, wife of Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, has been fined $200 and lost her Virginia driver's permit for six months after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Economic outlook bad

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— You can hedge against inflation two ways, says internationally noted economist Pierre Rinfret: by shopping with care, and by making every effort to stash cash into savings accounts.

Resist buying; make do with what you have, he said Wednesday in talking to economists in a Cleveland conference. Putting money into savings means it will draw at least some interest, and that helps beat inflation, he said.

As for the future, he said, if he sounds pessimistic it's because he is: next year will be bad and will get worse as it goes along; unemployment will rise; inflation will continue; and President Ford's "Whip Inflation Now" program will be ineffective.

Joblessness will be eight to 10 per cent by the middle of 1975, Rinfret said. The housing and automaking industries will continue to decline.

WINDING UP — George Geesling, a new barber-hair stylist in Washington C.H., is located in Carey Phillips' old barbershop at 114 N. Fayette St. The old barberpole Phillips had when he ran the shop is still in working order. The novelty of the pole is that instead of being electric like the newer ones, it must be wound like a clock. This is the first thing George does in the morning - wind up for another day of business.

By MARK THELLMANN

When most older barbers are saying, "Ya, I think I can shag your hair or give you a 'style' cut," 23-year-old George Geesling will tell you, "I can give the regular haircuts such as the flat-top, the crew-cut or the standard trim too."

The full-bearded Geesling, who sports longish hair and lives with his wife, Susan (Coldiron) and his two children, Jason and Dawn, at 4525 Ohio Rt. 753, has been open for business at 114 N. Fayette St., (where Carey Phillips ran his barber shop for 60 years), for the past eight weeks.

Geesling, a native of Washington C.H. and a 1969 graduate of Miami Trace High School, recently returned home (he had been working as a barber in Columbus for the past couple years), because he felt Washington C.H. needed a male hair stylist.

"Some men who would prefer to get their hair styled, instead of cut, are opposed to sitting in a beauty salon with a bunch of women," Geesling explained and continued, "I provide a barber shop which does hair styling to alleviate this problem."

Geesling must be fulfilling the need for a man's hair-stylist he thought existed in Washington C.H., for business is going well.

"I have tried to arrange my hours around the working man who can't get away at lunch for a quick haircut. I'm open from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday and Friday, 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Saturday from 9 a.m. through 5:30 p.m. and I'm closed on Thursday," Geesling announced.

Geesling graduated from Andrew's Barber College in Columbus in 1970 after 10 and a half months of training. He then completed 18 months of apprenticeship as a registered barber. This enabled him to take a test for his master's status in haircutting, which he was awarded.

Schooling isn't over for Geesling though. He explained there is something to attend at least once a month, such as seminars on haircutting and hair products and styling courses which keep a barber abreast of new trends.

"There are four main seminars every year which are held in different locations throughout the United States. These seminars give a barber a chance to meet people from all over America in the same profession and an opportunity to put one's skills on the line in haircutting competition which is part of the seminar," Geesling stated.

One problem which Geesling has been confronted with in his vocation, is ignorance when it comes to hair care.

"I've seen many customers walk out of a barbershop thrilled with their new hair style, only to return the next day and ask where it went after they shampooed. Many of the new stylish looks won't spring back after you dry your hair with a towel and run a comb through it. If you have oily or dry hair, you may have to use a shampoo to correct the condition and a hot-comb or hair dryer is usually a necessity to capture the same look your new hair style had when you left the barber shop," Geesling explained. "I am more than willing to educate the person to his own individual hair needs while I'm working on him. What they don't know, will hurt them and me."

A novelty at Geesling's barber shop is the antique barber pole outside the front door, which has been there ever since Carey Phillips had the shop. Unlike the new barberpoles, this one is wound up in order to rotate.

"That's the first thing I do every morning," Geesling stated, "I wind up for another day of business!"

Austria continues aiding of Jews

VIENNA (AP) — Chancellor Bruno Kreisky, who leaves Saturday for an official visit to the United States, says Austria is determined to continue acting as a transfer point for Jewish emigres from the Soviet Union.

The flow of immigrants has never halted despite the closing last year of the Schoenau transit camp, the 62-year-old Socialist leader said in an interview with The Associated Press. Instead, other camps were arranged for them.

Two Arab terrorists seized three Soviet Jews in September 1973, shortly after their train crossed the Austrian border. They held them until Kreisky agreed to close the Schoenau transit camp through which the immigrants funneled to Israel.

Kreisky, who is of Jewish ancestry, was criticized by a number of foreign leaders, including Israeli officials.

"This has been completely misunderstood in the world," he said. "Everybody has been able to see in the meantime that we are determined to continue to be a transfer country."

He said some in Israel considered him a traitor for not automatically siding with Israel on every issue.

"I cannot allow any people, living in Israel or anywhere else in the world, to tell me, 'You are not an Austrian, you are a Jew,'" he said.

The present transit camp in a Vienna suburb is the third such facility. Mayor Leopold Gratz wants it moved because it is close to a densely populated housing project. Kreisky refused to say whether a fourth transit camp would be set up or where it might be located.

"I do not plan to give any hints to these people," he said, referring to terrorists.

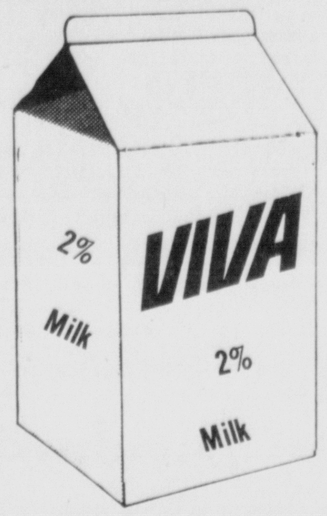

Kreisky warned that if the flow of Jews out of the Soviet Union increases to 60,000 a year as a result of the recent Soviet-American agreement, "other countries must take over a share of the burden.

"Nobody has talked to us so far about an increase. If it takes place, I am sure we will be contacted. In that event, we will state clearly that the problem has become too big for us to carry alone."

About 40,000 Jews left the Soviet Union in 1973, and the number of departures is running somewhat lower this year.

Kreisky said Austria and the United States have such close ties that "there is no need for any concrete results of my present visit to the United States, because there are no open problems between the two countries."

Opinion And Comment

Openness: A matter of judgment

In the early days of the Ford administration, Vermont Royster of the Wall Street Journal raised an interesting question. While government openness is a fine thing and a goal to strive for, he asked, isn't some secrecy necessary? Aren't there occasions when government spokesmen simply cannot divulge information and must in fact present false stories?

Royster cited two episodes to illustrate the sort of thing he had in mind: President-elect Eisenhower's trip to Korea, which was kept secret from the press for security reasons; President Johnson's secret meeting with Kosygin in Gladsboro, N.J., which was announced only after it had begun. One thinks also of Henry Kissinger's trip to Peking to arrange for the Nixon visit, when it was feared that the entire enterprise might be scuttled by premature publicity. And then there were the false stories and misleading of the press by the Kennedy administration at the start of the Cuban missile crisis.

It could be argued with regard to each of these cases that for one reason or another it was in the public interest to withhold information. Our feeling is that the answer does not lie in absolutes but is a matter of degree and emphasis.

To shade a story or dissemble when the truth is actually known does not immediately place a White House press secretary in the Ronald Ziegler mold. The difference is in the trend. A generally open administration may on occasion legitimately seek to avoid publicity because of, say, possible adverse effects on delicate negotiations. That is not comparable to a situation in which secretive or misleading attitudes are the order of the day, with administration cards held close to the chest as a regular thing.

This is the way it often was in the Nixon administration, and no one wants a repetition of that. Nor does anyone want a government which publicizes every last piece of information, sensitive or not. One can hope that the present administration will fall somewhere between those two extremes.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . . By John P. Roche

The depression psychosis

That half of the United States population born since World War II may have been noticing some odd behavior recently among their elders. I have noticed some strange symptoms in myself: I have been jumpy, irritable, even slightly paranoic. I have suddenly, without notice, been hit by the conviction that events were conspiring against me.

Then I had a dream. Usually I awake without having the slightest recall of the content of my dreams, but this was different. Two men were at our front door with documents authorizing them to take back the television because we had defaulted on our payments! "But," I said, "we paid cash for it!" I was so irate I woke up and thus, I suppose, remembered.

The dream, however, clued me in to the source of my morbidity: Like millions of contemporaries, I have a "Depression Psychosis." I recall "Them" coming to our Brooklyn home and reclaiming the Majestic (or was it FADA?) radio on which we had been unable to keep up the time payments. It's a vivid memory: Mother crying and telling me they had come to take it for repairs. Then there was all that business of banks folding, unemployment and the politicians explaining there was nothing to worry about. At the age of seven or eight I was not particularly up on politics. But I knew we had something to worry about when Dad got fired.

The Depression imbedded itself in our collective subconscious. (Just as the War did: We are the generation accused of having a "Munich Complex.") And now the news keeps hitting us and jamming our radar. "What was that about the Franklin Bank?" "How could they get away with it?" "Do you think our bank's sound, our savings secure?" Then there is unemployment, which seems to be hitting autoworkers as well as stockbrokers. Oh Lord, are we in for it again?

An interesting index of how this mood has been internalized by the pre-World War II segment of the population was President Gerald Ford's speech specifically blaming the Democrats for the 1929 Crash. To the younger half of the populace this must have seemed like a reference to the Middle Ages. It was rather as if Ford had accused the Democrats of dragging the country into the Spanish-American War. But the President is one of Us. It is hard to see how he could blame "President" Al Smith for the bust, but understandable that he should not want to be featured as the contemporary Herbert Hoover. The over-45 sector of the electorate is notable for its high level of electoral participation. (According to the latest census figures there are 22 million people over 65 and they love to vote.)

Although I doubt if President Ford has nightmares in which bailiffs come to the White House to reclaim the TV, it is obvious that his sensitive political instincts have spotted the "Depression Psychosis." The trouble is that to date his remedy consists of a series of pep rallies which trigger precisely the wrong memories. When I saw that appalling speech to the Future Farmers (which friendly networks had tried to keep off the tube), I would have started burying gold under the fireplace — if I had any gold. As President Hoover said in Jan. 1932, "We cannot squander ourselves into prosperity. . . . the reduction of government expenses and the stability of government finance is the most fundamental step towards this end."

Of course, the United States in 1974 is radically different from what it was in 1930. And I personally have little reason to lie awake nights. Our only outstanding indebtedness is that precious 5 per cent mortgage plus whatever my wife charges on 30-day accounts. But I worry. (Once before I mentioned that I almost gave an auto salesman a heart attack by handing him a check for a car. I had an even more bizarre experience when we recently had to replace our TV. I wrote out a check, and the salesman looked baffled and shunted me off to a higher authority. To make a long story short, before I got that set in the car I was virtually subjected to a psychiatric examination! Apparently only nuts pay cash.)

At any rate, I hope the young will show some compassion towards the eccentric behavior of their parents and grandparents. A quite inconsequential bank failure could, for example, trigger a national twitch — such is the "Depression Psychosis."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Avoid any urge to take foolish chances, but do not be so hesitant that you lose a golden opportunity. Foresight needed.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

If you missed the mark somewhere, review causes and effects. A change in methods and reasoning may be necessary. A new day for achievement and a new way is before you.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good period for tackling jobs that require patience.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Especially favored now: educational pursuits, travel, research. Achievement is possible in out-of-the-ordinary ways and places.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A day in which to make new starts — in new directions; to lead rather than to follow. Stellar influences favor all pioneering efforts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Do not yield to indifference, nor lose confidence in a matter which seems stymied. Strengthen your hand with facts, your faith with courage.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A conflict between business and personal affairs may bring on some tension. You can counter by isolating the essential and getting it out of the way.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Keep emotions under stern control. Any tendency to "fly off the handle" could result in serious misunderstandings.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Curb an inclination to take on more than you can reasonably handle. You will only scatter energies and accomplish less in the long run.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A better day for your interests than you may realize. Waste no time getting started, but don't drive through, indifferent to the reactions of others.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely ambitious individual, endowed with an outstanding gift of leadership. If a man, you may join the armed forces, where you would make a commander extraordinary. You could also shine as a captain of industry or as a leader of state. The stage may attract you and, if so, your outgoing personality, coupled with your fine sense of drama, could help you to scale the heights in brilliant fashion. Your financial acumen is remarkable and this fact, teamed with your tremendous ambition, should bring you a considerable amount of material success.

C&SOE asks rate boosts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. has asked the state to approve rate hikes averaging 25 per cent for customers whose rates are not set by city or village ordinance.

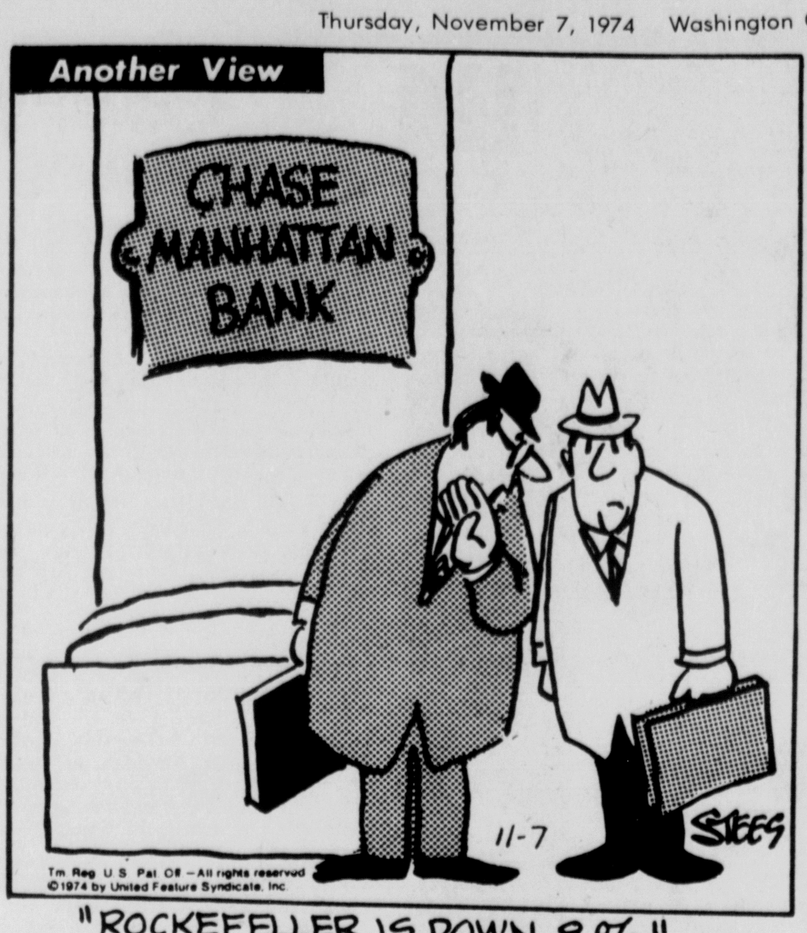

The company filed the request with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio on Wednesday. The PUCO must approve the hike before it would take effect.

The utility said about 37 per cent of its customers would be affected.

The application asks for rate increases totaling $26.5 million.

The proposal also includes higher rates for higher consumption in the summer months, the period of peak demand.

Ohio Perspective

Women's rights pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Women comprise a majority of the population. But they're a minority of the work force and a much, much smaller minority of management.

That bothers the Ohio Civil Rights Commission, charged with enforcing state anti-discrimination laws. It also handles most federal discrimination complaints. They think it's more than coincidence.

Mrs. Marion R. Sweeney, civil rights commissioner, said only 9 per cent—or 58,000—of the nation's doctors and dentists are women. But 96 per cent of all nurses and dietitians—or 879,000—are women.

"Women have the aptitude and proven ability to be nurses, but are denied the opportunity to take the next step and become doctors," she said in a recent speech.

Women comprise 88 per cent of all bank tellers, but only 19 per cent of bank financial officers.

They comprise 70 per cent of teachers, but only 28 per cent of the college level teaching force.

There are 5.03 million women secretaries, receptionists, typists, office machine operators and file clerks, but only 132,000 women are officer managers.

"Even in the work categories in which women dominate, they are not in positions of authority," Mrs. Sweeney said. "These differences can not have occurred by chance."

Yet women are not casual workers, she said. Almost one million Ohio families rely on a woman's income to stay above the poverty level.

"The majority of women in the work force today are not there biding their time either awaiting death or marriage," she said. "They are there out of necessity. And for this reason, industry must reevaluate its policies toward women."

She said some employers mistakenly believe they don't have to worry about sex discrimination because the Equal Rights Amendment has not been ratified.

But, the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964, which applies to many employers, includes sections on sex discrimination, she said. And an Ohio law effective last Dec. 19 specifically forbids sex discrimination.

Of 3,866 complaints of bias filed with the commission during the last year, about 30 per cent charged sex discrimination, she said. There were 187 sex bias complaints in June alone.

And the commission is doing more than investigating complaints, she said. Investigatory teams are now looking at employers with a low proportion of women in management to see if it's just accidental, and they're not waiting for complaints.

"Many have not shared in our country's economic and social progress," she said. "As we approach the 200th anniversary of this nation..., I still have hope for the day when women and men, persons of different color, and with different religious beliefs can say with conviction, 'My country tis of thee, land of the free.'"

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Fourteen years later, and he's still paying

DEAR ABBY: My husband has too much pride to ask his former wife to relinquish her alimony payments. We've discussed it and he is also opposed to taking the matter to court.

1. She received all the equity in a home, paid-up car, and all the furnishings as part of the original settlement.
2. Their children are now married, and financially independent.
3. His ex-wife is now in her forties, is employed full time, and earns a better than average income.
4. He has paid alimony promptly for 14 years. I would appreciate your thinking.

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SEC: You've stated that you have discussed the matter with your husband, and he's content to keep the status quo, so my thinking is not likely to influence him.

Alimony has been appropriately called, "the high cost of leaving." Perhaps unconsciously your husband feels that it's not too high a price to pay for what he bought.

DEAR ABBY: For the last eight years I have been 'engaged" to a married man. I know you've heard this story a thousands times, but he says we will be married as soon as he can get a divorce. Lately I am beginning to wonder.

He is 42 and I am 29. When I met him he said he was separated from his wife. Later on he said he was trying for a divorce but she was contesting it.

He claims he lives like a gypsy, staying with one relative after another, and sometimes with friends. I have never had a phone number where he can be reached in case of emergency. And no address either.

He owns his own business and has given me some expensive gifts, but I want to get married and live a normal life. I used to tell my family and friends that I was too young to get married, but at 29, that's ridiculous excuse.

How do you figure this, Abby? Am I just a slow learner? I promise to take any advice you give me. Please, help me.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: I think you've been used. Don't waste any more of your valuable time on him, dear. Quietly relocate, and make sure he doesn't have your phone number or address.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is a lovely, 24-year-old, college-educated woman who is in love with a man who absolutely does not believe in marriage.

They have been living together for three years, and now they want to start a family. We are heartsick and don't know what to do.

He has no family, but we have. My parents would suffer even more than we if they knew that their beloved grandchild (my daughter) had a child out of wedlock. Should we say they were secretly married, and try to carry it off, or forget it?

We have no one to ask advice from as we are too ashamed to have anyone know.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: You are not responsible for the decisions of your 24-year-old daughter, so hold up your heads and get over the idea that you have something about which to be ashamed. Do not lie to your parents or anyone else. It may ease your burden to know that you have plenty of company.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN DEEP IN HIGHLAND PARK, ILL": There are exceptions, but a good rule to follow is: Don't lend money to a person who owes you money unless he has made an honest effort to pay at least part of what he owes you.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Nov. 7, the 311th day of 1974. There are 54 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, the Bolsheviks overthrew the shortlived Kerensky government in Russia and Nikolai Lenin became the new head of government.

On this date —

In 1659, the Pyrenees were fixed as the boundary between France and Spain, ending a 24-year war.

In 1885, the Canadian Pacific railroad was completed.

In 1918, a false report that Germany had accepted World War I peace terms set off great excitement.

In 1942, the Allied invasion of North Africa began in World War II.

In 1944, Franklin Roosevelt was elected to a fourth term as president.

Five years ago: Sixty-five miners were killed in an explosion in a gold mine in South Africa.

One year ago: In an address to the nation, President Nixon said he had no intention of resigning.

Creative arts project

4-H roundup

BY JEANNIE ANDERSON
4-H Program Assistant

Would you like to learn a crafty craft? Most magic tricks are professional secrets, but here's one I'll let you in on. It's so far out, you'll have trouble believing it really works. Yet, it's so simple and safe that anyone, even your youngest 4-H'er, can do it. The secret is just this: certain plastics contract under ordinary oven heat, and as they do, they also become thicker. So what? Well, knowing this, you can create art miniatures for mere decorations, or for useful items. Interested? Let's start.

First, round up some clear acetate. How? Well, you can purchase it in sheets from a hobby shop, or you can use the lids from cottage cheese or any clear container — remember, only the clear ones, and never the white ones. Sometimes, gift boxes have large, see-through lids, which may do. If you buy acetate sheets, you know the plastic will contract evenly. But, let's assume you've scrounged the acetate from other sources. You can test a scrap in the oven to see how well it will work. There's absolutely no danger in this. If you've guessed wrong, discard the plastic and try another piece. Testing process is the same as described later for shrinking artworks.

Next, get several permanent marking pens in assorted colors. One should be black for outlining. Again, be certain the labels say "permanent", as water-base inks will not work. You'll also need scissors, a piece of aluminum foil (to rest the plastic on, while heating it), an oven, or a sandwich toaster oven, and finally a spray can of white enamel.

Now for your design. With your black marking pen, draw a design on a piece of acetate. This may be a free-hand creation, or a design you trade from a picture. Remember, though, that the whole piece of plastic is going to contract to about one-fourth its original size, so select or make your design large enough to still show detail when it is small.

Your black outline makes up the front side. After you've finished it, turn the plastic over and on the back, fill in areas you want colored, using colored marking pens. The colors will appear thin and faded, but don't worry. The heat and contraction will concentrate and enrich them.

Now, cut around your design with scissors. If you plan to hand the item (for instance a key chain holder, a gift tag, a pendant), punch a hole now. Remember the contraction: make the hole big enough. . . . a paper punch works fine.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place your trimmed plastic art on a piece of aluminum foil on a rack in the oven, or on the tray in your toaster oven, and close the door. This is when the magic occurs. If your oven has a glass in the door, you can watch the fascinating process. As the acetate heats, it contracts through contortions, into torturous shapes, kind of all wadded up. Then, like magic, it just straightens itself out again. All of this takes only a minute or a minute and a half. If your oven door has no window, peek in now and then to check progress. When the piece has contracted and flattened, it's finished. Remove the foil (with item on it), and place it on a countertop. Set an oven-proof glass cake pan on top of the plastic for a few minutes to keep it flat while it cools and you're basically finished. Sometimes, a coat of white enamel sprayed on the back brings out colors and depth, so appraise each piece as you create it.

Creative uses for this oven magic are endless. We're sure you will come up with lots of ideas we haven't thought about.

4-H arc welding club to be organized here

A 4-H club for arc welding is being organized at the Landmark meeting room, 319 S. Fayette St. at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, according to Jack Sommers, 4-H extension agent.

The club is open to any young person 14 to 18 years old.

In addition to learning basic welding skills, members taking the project will be involved in welding safety and have a chance to learn advanced skills such as vertical and overhead arc welding.

Two units of the project are available. The first unit gives the beginner an opportunity to learn how to successfully make basic welds such as butt, lap and fillet. Unit A also covers different types of welders, rods and metals.

More experienced welders may be interested in Unit B which offers instruction on difficult skills. These include vertical and overhead welds, working with specialized metals, and using the carbon arc torch for brazing. In addition Unit B will involve use of acetylene equipment. In both units members enrolled in the welding project can design and construct useful tools for home, farm and shop use.

Older youths interested in the welding project should contact the County Extension office (335-1150) or come to the organizational meeting on Tuesday. Advisors for the group are Jim McClure and Roger Thompson.

Frank Sinatra's house for sale

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — There isn't a "For Sale" sign on the front lawn, but singer Frank Sinatra has put his 2½-acre estate on the market.

For $1.75 million, a homeowner can have the mansion, five guest houses, a tennis court, two swimming pools, a whirlpool bath, sauna and heliport. Terms are available, according to the realtor.

It seems the entertainer wants to move to Idyllwild in the San Jacinto Mountains west of here.

In the Chinook language the word chee means new or fresh while the word chako means to come. The term chee-chako was applied to newcomers into Yukon at the time of the Klondike Gold Rush of 1898.

Plain Dealer section published

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Plain Dealer is continuing its efforts to publish despite a strike by members of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild that has halted operations at the Plain Dealer plant since Friday.

The morning newspaper's request for an injunction to force nonstriking craft unions to cross the Guild picket lines and return to their jobs is in its fourth day today in federal court.

U.S. District Court Judge Ben C. Green continued the case Wednesday after the third day of testimony.

Ohio lottery to be best

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the Ohio Lottery Commission said he expects the state lottery to be "the best lottery anywhere in the United States."

David F. Leahy said, however, that the lottery is just like any other "big retail business" with all the same initial problems in buying, selling and operating.

Addressing about 65 businessmen attending the 52nd annual meeting of the Ohio Council of Merchants, Leahy, a former council president, said the "product is the game.

"Although the lottery does push people a certain amount to take a chance," Leahy said, "the winning ticket is a passport to a new life to those who win."

The lottery ticket sales began Aug. 12, Leahy said, and during the first 12 weeks, 54 million tickets worth $27 million were sold. "There have been 240,000 $20 winners, all eligible for the million dollar drawing," Leahy said.

Beta Omega reports on Convention

The business meeting of the Beta Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha took place in the home of Mrs. Wayne Clark.

Members opened the meeting with the Opening Ritual, which was followed by the 'pledge pinning ceremony' conducted by Mrs. Gary McMurray, president and Mrs. Dennis Hagler, vice president. New members pledge during the ceremony were Mrs. Dennis Holloway, Mrs. Chuck Winkle, and Mrs. Lynn Preston.

Members judged candidates for the Little Miss Snow Princess contest last Saturday and Mrs. Hagler announced the final judging will be held at Eastside School noon Saturday.

All volunteered to help with the TB Skin Testing program at Miami Trace High School and the Washington Court House Middle School.

Mrs. Lester Bower discussed the Craft Auction to be held December 2 at her home. Each is to donate four items. Mrs. Kenneth Everhart will serve as the auctioneer.

Mrs. McMurray reported on the Ohio State Convention. Beta Omega received the State Philanthropic Award for the most money donated to the American Cancer Society, the group's State philanthropic project. This was accomplished through the sale of flowers on 'Daffodil Day.' Mrs. Ralph Leeds, won the Distinguished Athene Award for her outstanding educational programs, and Mrs. Charles Moore, Beta Omega's 'Outstanding Girl,' won third place as the State Outstanding Girl. The chapter also received a gold link award.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Jack Elliott, Mrs. Everhart, Mrs. Hagler, Mrs. Harry Haines, Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. McMurray, Mrs. Holloway, Mrs. Winkle, Mrs. Preston, and Mrs. Steven Jennings.

Spaghetti supper enjoyed by class

The Couples Class and their families of First Presbyterian Church enjoyed a spaghetti supper Saturday evening in Persinger Hall at the church. Fall flower arrangements decorated the tables and the meal was prepared by George Robinson, Sunday School superintendent, and other men of the class.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Richard Rankin presented an interesting program with slides and narration on some of the old homes, especially those over 100 years old in Fayette County.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keiser and Rajean and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Marchant, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Heironimus, John and Don, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dorn and Jill, Mr. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Baker and Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer and Amy, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunn and Dennis, Pat and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Wheat, Don, Doug, Becky and Debbie, Mrs. Bill Carson and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bishop, David and Danny, Mrs. Richard Rankin and guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Fletcher, Mrs. Don Robinette and Mrs. Wood.

Note to brides: when you are buying kitchenware, remember that pots and pans with rounded corners and few seams or crevices simplify dishwashing.

Former deputy operating bakery here

What are nice people like you doing up at 3 a.m.?

BY MARK THELLMANN

It was a quiet night - or rather morning. The Courthouse clock could be made out to say 1 a.m., if you squinted your eyes together real tight. The only sound came from someone swishing a broom back and forth in the doorway of Kroger's store.

Across from Kroger's on S. Main Street, a warm glow was emitted from Henry's Pastry Shop. The nocturnal employes of the grocery store weren't the only ones up.

Inside Henry's a man was running around beating on huge piles of dough, sprinting around the table he was working over to a cigarette burning slowly in an ashtray in the next room, fleeing back to the dough pile to roll it out into a giant sheet which the man punctured with a doughnut cutter, slashed into ribbons with a knife and squeezed into palm-size patties; all the time his eyes flashing anxiously from his work to the clock on the opposite wall and back again to his work.

WHAT WAS this chaos in the dead of night? It was Gary Sword's way of running a business which provided the normal people, sound asleep in their beds at this time, with a quick, tasty breakfast when they would appear at his shop some five hours later, eyes bleary and half-closed, with the sun coming up behind them.

It wasn't always like this though. Sword went through a brief period in his life when he was able to stifle his business interests, which emerged when he was a boy carrying newspapers for the Record-Herald.

Before he leaped into his bakery career, he worked as a jailor-dispatcher with the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, still keeping strange hours, but leading a relatively normal life. This lasted for three years and then one fateful morning, he wandered into Henry's to purchase a sweet roll and Ronald Kelley, owner of the business for the past 11 years, mentioned he was thinking of retiring.

Sword took a bite out of the sweet-roll he had purchased, counted his change and said, "This is the business for me! "Kelley smiled and replied, "Come on in tonight and I'll start training you!"

Sword didn't jump into his new found vocation as cold as it may sound. He developed his business instincts by working for the J. C. Penney Co. through distributive education at Washington High School, where he graduated in 1966 and then did a four-year stint in the U.S. Army, finding time to work in a men's clothing store on the side. After his discharge, Sword worked for awhile in the Washington C. H. Police Department as a dispatcher and later transferred to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

During his "peace officer" days, he still felt the urge to return to private enterprise and "the day of the fateful sweetroll" answered his dreams.

Sword put in his resignation at the Sheriff's Department and trained under Kelley whenever he was away from the dispatcher's desk. His apprenticeship lasted two months. Then Kelley, who had been in the bakery business 47 years (since the age of 16), agreed with Sword, he was ready to go it alone; knowing Kelley would not be far away for fatherly advice, occasional trouble-shooting and a strong shoulder to cry on if anything went wrong. Sword then went from a man in blue to a man in white.

When asked why the name "Henry's" being the original owner was named Ronald Kelley, Sword took a last drag on the cigarette and ground it out in the ashtray, ran back to the dough and punched it a couple more times, glanced at the clock, drew a deep breath and explained, "Mr. Kelley originally owned a bakery in Dayton which was called 'Henry's.' When he set up his operation here in Washington C.H., he decided to let the name stick" and it still will. I have no intention of calling it 'Gary's.'

SWORD, who has been on his own in the bakery since Monday, works feverishly from 1 a.m. until 5:30 a.m., in order to produce 45 dozen assorted pastries Monday through Thursday and 60-70 dozen on the weekend; however, he is not alone in the effort. In June of 1967, he married Darlene Anderson, who is his partner in the business.

Darlene, at this time was rushing around as much as Gary, but doing it less conspicuously, which the natural

RACK EM UP! — Darlene Sword has just removed a tray of twists from the huge oven behind her. They won't sit in the rack for long, before they will be moved again - this time in the direction of someone's mouth.

FROM BAKING TO BUSINESS — The day has begun and people have been stopping in since 5:30 a.m. (when Henry's Pastry Shop opens), to purchase the goodies Gary Sword and his wife created from 1 a.m. through 5:30 a.m. How's that for freshness?

Marathon reports oil discovery

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The Marathon Oil Co. has announced that three of four wells it has drilled in a new least tract off the Louisiana coast have struck multiple oil and natural gas zones.

Marathon said a test well showed production of 5.9 million cubic feet of natural gas and 744 barrels of oil per day. Arrangements for design of a drilling and production platform are underway, the Ohio-based compahy said.

The tract was leased from the federal government on March 28. Marathon owns 25 per cent of the lease.

The first known American printing of the popular song "Yankee Doodle" was a part of Benjamin Carr's "Federal Overture" in Baltimore in 1795. The origin of the song is unknown.

grace of a woman allows her to do. She also trained for two months by husband Gary's side, under Kelley.

Sword checked the wall clock again and slowed his pace to a fast walk in a new direction - toward the door. The time was 5:30 a.m. and the lock was slid back. The sunrise was bringing people with empty stomachs in the direction of S. Main Street.

Completion of the task had exorcised the demon which had pushed the man so relentlessly the past four and one-half hours. The bell above the front door made a dull clang as a breeze of chill morning air entered with the first patron.

Gary Sword's eyes lit up and his face broke into a wide grin. "Good morning sir! What can I get you today?"

Bellefontaine closing set

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Bellefontaine schools will close 10 days early for the holidays in December as the result of the third defeat of a 5.9-mill operating levy on Tuesday, Supt. Harold Martin said.

The levy was rejeced by a vote of 2,852 to 1,984. Similar levies were turned down at special elections in May and August, Martin said.

A deficit of more than $53,000 is projected for the end of the year, Martin said. By law, the levy cannot be submitted to voters for a fourth time in one year.

The superintendent said he was notified Wednesday morning by the state that the district will have insufficient operating funds as of Dec. 10. The state auditor's office must certify that fact to the state Education Department before an order to close can be issued.

Martin said schools will reopen in January when the district can again borrow money.

Socialists plan more candidacies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Nancy Brown Lazar says the Socialist Workers party plans to run more candidates to capitalize on the strength that showed up in Tuesday's Ohio election returns.

Ms. Brown, as she prefers to be known, said Wednesday the 90,000 votes she received as a candidate for governor indicate that the party is stronger than most people think.

She said the party will run campaigns in the state, including a candidate for mayor of Cleveland.

And she said she will "continue to travel around the state and talk about the Socialist Worker ideas and what we think should be the changes in society."

She said she didn't see herself playing the spoiler's role in Tuesday's election, in which former Gov. James A. Rhodes, a Republican, upset Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Ms. Brown said she couldn't choose between Gilligan and Rhodes, because "I think that both of them are totally the same.

"I think if Gilligan were elected," she added, "he would have carried out the same exact policies that Rhodes will carry out."

Coal Grove officials face charges

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — The mayor, the police chief and the administrator of the Village of Coal Grove face a preliminary hearing in Lawrence County Common Pleas Court today on a variety of charges including embezzlement.

A Lawrence County Grand Jury indicted the trio on Wednesday following five days of testimony from more than 60 witnesses.

County Prosecutor Lloyd Moore said the investigation began last spring after a state audit of the village indicated an alleged shortage of funds.

Mayor Carey said he had "no comment, no comment whatsoever," when contacted Wednesday night. The other two officials were unavailable for comment.

Fertilizer talk rapped by official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a fertilizer trade association says it is "cruel and misleading" to suggest significant amounts of chemicals could be made available for food production if Americans would desist from feeding their lawns and golf courses.

Edwin M. Wheeler, president of The Fertilizer Institute, said only 3.5 per cent of all U.S. fertilizer is used for non-farm purposes.

"The amount of non-farm fertilizer used in the United States is very small compared to the amounts produced or used on farms in this country or, for that matter, needed by the developing nations," Wheeler said in a statement.

Cyclists held in slaying

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Three members of a motorcycle club are being held and one has been charged with aggravated murder in connection with the torch-slaying of a Hamilton man Wednesday.

The body of Michael Wayne Settles, 18, a self-employed siding installer, was still burning when police arrived on a rural road in suburban Fairfield Township.

Sheriff Harold Carpenter said the victim had been in a fight Friday and was scheduled to appear in court Wednesday on disorderly conduct charges.

Police charged Curtis Cash, 25, in the slaying. Two other members of the Iron Horsemen Motorcycle Club were held for questioning.

Carpenter said the victim had been shot three times and was dead when dropped from a car. The body was set on fire afterward, he said.

Arraignments held for 13 defendants

Thirteen persons appeared in Fayette County Common Pleas Court Wednesday to be arraigned on indictments rendered by a Fayette County grand jury Oct. 25.

Eleven of the defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges levied against them; the other two sought continuances of the hearing until a later time. A number of the defendants were appointed counsel because of their lack of funds to obtain counsel on their own.

Attorney John C. Bryan, who represented Hurles, requested a continuance of the proceedings so that he might further investigate the matter before entering a plea. Judge Evelyn W. Coffman granted the request.

Each of the other defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges against them. It was noted at the arraignment that John H. Roszmann, representing the state, would file a motion to consolidate the trials of the four men into one jury trial. A hearing on that motion will be held in the near future and a trial date or dates will be finalized after the hearing.

DANNIE M. HOAGLAND, 34, and his wife, Audrey, 31, asked that they be appointed counsel. Robert L. Simpson was named to handle their case and entered pleas of not guilty for each. They were arrested by city police Oct. 18 in connection with the burglary of an E. Paint Street residence.

Lawrence Snyder, 39, of New Holland, charged with theft in connection with the same incident, requested appointed counsel. Pat Harkins was appointed and also entered a not guilty plea.

Charles O. Varney, 36, of 331 Rose Ave., pleaded not guilty to a charge of grand theft. He allegedly was responsible for the theft of two shotguns from the K-Mart store on Columbus Avenue. He requested a jury trial.

Simpson was also appointed counsel for Lawrence E. Shafer, a Tennessee resident, who was charged by the Ohio Highway Patrol with carrying a concealed weapon, and Wayne D. Penwell, 19, of 713 Sycamore St., who is charged with receiving property stolen from a Staunton resident. Simpson entered not guilty pleas for both defendants.

Charles E. Tillis, 19, of 513 S. Fayette St., entered a not guilty plea through his appointed counsel Dennis P. Ulrich. He is charged with forgery.

Leonard L. Kelley, 23, Chillicothe, who is charged with possession of stolen property, was granted a continuance of his arraignment so that he might obtain his own counsel.

Business news

Martindale named new store manager

Randy Martindale, 24, Ohio 38-N, has been named manager of the new Kaufman's Decorating Centre, located at the corner of Court and Hinde streets.

Martindale, a 1969 graduate of Washington Senior High School, was general manager of the Midwest Stain Sales, division of Stoner Industries, Columbus, for three years before accepting the local position.

As general manager for the Midwest Stain Sales, Martindale was in charge of the entire distribution of Olympic Stain exterior and interior coating throughout Ohio.

Martindale said he was selected for the appointment by J.O. Garringer, owner of Kaufman's Decorating Centre, who was one of his many customers for Midwest Stain Sales.

He also worked 14 months for the Wilson Lumber and Building Center, 210 W. Oak St., prior to joining the Columbus firm.

As the manager of the new store, scheduled to open the first week of December, Martindale plans to expand his sales staff to five people and operate "as a one-stop, complete decorating center for the homeowner, contractor and dealer in all types of decorating needs from wall paints and covering to decoupage materials."

RANDY MARTINDALE

He is married to the former Janice Dean of Washington C.H. and has two children, Angela, 5, and Bryan, 3. He is also an executive officer of Squadron 1206 of the Civil Air Patrol.

One non-traffic case aired in Muny Court

A Washington C. H. man was fined $80 on traffic charges Wednesday by Municipal Court Judge Omar Schwart while an area woman was fined $50 and drew a suspended sentence in a non-traffic case.

Robert L. Lowe, 27, Ohio 41-S, was fined $50 on a charge of failure to yield the right of way and $30 on a charge of no operator's license after he pleaded guilty to both charges.

Linda Helms, 26, Atlanta, was fined $50 with a three-month sentence suspended on the condition of two years good conduct after she pleaded no contest to a charge of passing a bad check at Craig's Department Store.

A charge of passing a bad check against Marsha Schmidt, 32, Clarksburg, was dismissed with the costs to be paid by the defendant.

George E. Howland, Rt. 6, forfeited $34 bond on a charge of littering on the bank of Paint Creek, filed by state game protector Jerry F. Cremeans.

Shirley A. Oates, 39, of 514 E. Market St., was fined $5 after pleading guilty to failure to stop for a red light.

In one other bond forfeiture, William J. Jaeckels, 48, of 832 S. Main St., forfeited $25 on a charge of speeding.

Armed revolt breaks out in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A radio broadcast said an armed uprising broke out today against the three-year-old dictatorial regime of President Hugo Banzer.

The station, Radio Panamericana, broadcast the report of the revolt for only a short while and then stopped, reportedly under pressure from the Interior Ministry.

There was no immediate government comment and it was not known if there was any shooting.

Radio Panamericana said the revolt broke out in Santa Cruz, 330 miles east of La Paz, and that the leaders proclaimed victory there.

It said the uprising was staged by elements of the leftist Nationalist Revolutionary Movement and the Socialist Falange, a rightist group.

The broadcast said former Health Minister Carlos Valverde Barberi and Gen. Julio Prado were leading the revolt.

Radio Panamericana had joined other Bolivian radio stations in a "National Liberation Network" that accused Banzer of "malad-ministration" and said his followers were "lackeys."

The network said the rebels would revive nationalism in Bolivia, and that Barberi was their "undisputed leader."

The reported uprising was the latest in more than a dozen plots against Banzer's harshly anti-Communist regime.

Last January the country was plunged into economic turmoil and violence when workers struck to protest inflation that has doubled basic commodity prices.

Banzer, a former army general, proclaimed himself president three years ago after the bloody overthrow of a leftist regime headed by President Juan Jose Torres, another general.

Holy smoke!

The New Holland Church of Christ and Christian Union caught fire at 7 p.m. Wednesday, when the furnace exploded.

The New Holland Fire Department put out the blaze and reported moderate damage. Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies were also on hand to assist.

Greenfield area men indicted for shooting

HILLSBORO — Two Greenfield area men were indicted on three counts each Wednesday by the Highland County grand jury in connection with a shooting incident last month at the residence of a Greenfield police officer.

Vernon R. Jenkins, 23, of Greenfield, and Rex A. Erskine, 21, Rt. 2, Greenfield, were indicted on charges of felonious assault, discharing a firearm from a motor vehicle and malicious vandalism.

Both have been freed on $5,000 bond.

Jenkins, an employe of the Greenfield service department and a former auxiliary police officer, and Erskine were charged in connection with a shooting incident at the residence of Greenfield Police Sgt. Gregory H. Hadley, Ohio 28, just west of Greenfield. The two defendants were arrested by Greenfield police officers and Highland County sheriff's deputies.

Sgt. Hadley was preparing to report for duty at the Greenfield Police Department when the shooting incident occurred. He and his wife and two young children were in the residence when the shotgun blast was fired, apparently from an auto.

No one was injured and the only property damaged was the front door of the home.

Intoxication charge filed

Washington C. H. police officers didn't stop Carl E. Aber, 58, of 604 Clinton Ave., when they observed him stumbling down N. Fayette Street at 2:10 a.m. Thursday — they didn't have to.

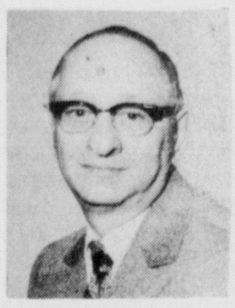

According to the report, Aber was heading for the police station and upon his entrance announced to dispatcher Steve Deere and Specialist Dennis Brown, "I can't find a way home and I can't walk!"

Specialist Brown was in complete agreement and Aber was charged with intoxication.

He was incarcerated in city jail in lieu of $100 bond and no longer worried about a ride home.

Money Matters

Four Ways To Buy What You Want or Need:

If you NEED what you WANT - and, for example, if that "need" is a $250 appliance (or whatever), consider these 4 ways in which you can buy:

1. - CASH - your total cost is $250

2. - 2 YEAR CREDIT UNION PLAN - at about an annual percentage rate of 12 per cent, your cost will be $282.45.

3. - STORE PAYMENT (2-year installment) - Your annual percentage rate of 18 per cent will result in a total cost of $299.55

4. - FINANCE COMPANY (2-year-loan) - with an annual percentage rate of 30 per cent your total cost for the $250 item will be $335.47.

Now, how much do you need that $250 item - and how are you going to handle the cost?

One more thing: Before you do anything, talk with your Banker. He may well have some good ideas as to how you can have your cake, and eat it too - and at less cost than you'd think!

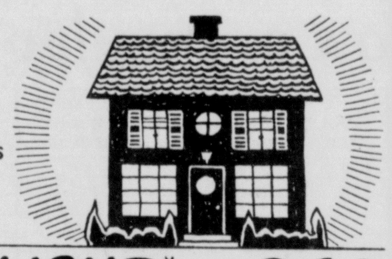

Congratulations to David Duff, Randy Beekman, Alan Binegar, Don Davis, Bret Taylor and Ken Moon for being chosen to attend the FFA Convention in Kansas City. And Congratulations to Ted Waddle for receiving the highest honor conferred at the FFA Convention.

Especially true is the fact that at our bank, your friendly First National Bank of Washington Court House, we are in business to help people get the most for their money, to save and spend wisely. Don't hesitate to talk things over with us, BEFORE you get involved in any financial transaction!

Immigrant finds U.S. not starving

LOCUST, N.J. (AP) — Simas Kudirka came to the United States expecting to find his new country wracked by starvation.

That was what propaganda in the Soviet Union told him to expect, the 44-year-old Lithuanian seaman who was freed from a treason sentence said Wednesday, his first full day in the United States.

He said he wanted some firsthand information, so he went shopping to see if there was a shortage of food and to find out whether the quality of food in this country was poor.

"That certainly is not the case," said Kudirka, whose Soviet prison diet was such that his teeth began to rot.

Soviet propaganda depicts the United States as gripped by massive unemployment and starvation and its workers as under the thumb of factory supervisors "who want to squeeze out the last bit of blood from workers for their personal gains and who, with automation ... want to get rid of workers," Kudirka said.

He attempted to escape to the United States four years ago only to be returned to the Soviets by the Coast Guard. He was declared a U.S. citizen while in a Soviet prison.

He is temporarily staying with one of the families who worked for his release to the United States. Kudirka, his wife, two children and mother arrived Tuesday from Moscow.

Still groping with adjustment, he said he has to "find out what I'm going to do for a job, what my wife is going to do for a job, about school for my children and where we are going to live."

Kudirka said in an interview conducted through an interpreter that the Russians were stopped twice from killing him when he attempted to escape to the United States by boarding a U.S. Coast Guard cutter from his Soviet fishing trawler anchored off the Massachusetts coast and asking for asylum.

When the Russians were permitted by the cutter's captain to come aboard and arrest him, they tried "to hang me with a telephone wire (electric cable) and a Coast Guardsman stopped them by separating them and trying to get them to stop it.

"After I was back on the Russian ship, they tried to kill me until someone screamed that they had to stop because I had to be brought back," Kudirka said.

He said he was shipped back to his port in Lithuania on another boat in a room used for sailors who go insane at sea.

Kudirka said he was convicted for treason and sent to prison for a 10-year term.

He was declared a U.S. citizen two months after the State Department gave the same status to his Brooklyn-born mother, who was taken to Lithuania by her parents before World War II.

Rain hits northwest

By The Associated Press

Rain splattered into the Pacific Northwest, the interior Northeast and parts of the South today, but most of the nation in between was fair and pleasant.

Up to an inch of rain soaked sections of the Northwest during the night as a fresh surge of cold air dipped into the region. Showers ranged eastward into Montana and turned to snow at higher elevations.

Drizzle dampened an area from Ohio and West Virginia to New York and Pennsylvania, and clouds spreading over the Southern Plains spilled rain across much of Texas and into portions of Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Clear and cool weather from the Rockies through the western Great Lakes region tumbled temperatures into the 30s and 40s over most of the nation's interior overnight. Similarly crisp readings dipped well into the South.

GOP eyes ways to rebound following election losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three moderate Republican senators say the GOP must broaden its base and offer specific economic programs if it hopes to rebound from off-year election defeats that left its national strength at a 10-year low.

The statements from Sens. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland came as President Ford and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield pledged cooperation Wednesday despite a general expectation of conflict over economic programs.

Democratic leaders, meanwhile, gave every indication they will set their own agenda, headed by national health insurance, tax reform and an expanded public service jobs program, when the 94th Congress meets in January.

"There is an inherent weakness in the entire structure of the Republican party," Weicker declared. "They are not going to win any election until they broaden the base of their party.

Percy, sounding a bit like the presidential contender he hoped to be before Ford succeeded Richard M. Nixon, said, "The Republican party can rebound, but only by developing a distinct set of programs that realistically attack the problems, especially the crunching economic problems, that confront us all."

Mathias, saying that he had received support from blacks, labor and ethnic groups in his re-election, said he intends to see that the national GOP "does reach out" to such groups.

Turnout for this election was the lightest for any year since at least 1946, with an unofficial count showing 38 per cent of the voting age population cast ballots.

Nearly complete election returns showed Democrats fell short of their predicted preelection gains by the narrowest of margins, especially in the Senate, where Republicans led three Senate races by a total of less than 1,300 votes.

GOP victories in all three — North Dakota, New Hampshire and Nevada — would keep the net Democratic Senate gain to three, from 58 to 61. Democratic victories could swell the gains as high as six, to 64.

In two other Senate races, one led by each party, the margin was less than 5,000 votes. And in five governorship contests, too, the unofficial margin was less than 5,000.

This was the standing:

—Senate: Democrats captured four Republican seats, in Florida, Colorado, Kentucky and Vermont, but trailed for one in Nevada they now hold. That left them with an assured 61 seats in the new Senate, the 11th straight under Democratic control.

—House: The net Democratic gains, exceeding pre-election forecasts, stood at 43, meaning the new House will have at least 291 Democrats. Three races remained undecided. The Democratic total barely missed matching the 295 in Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 landslide, the largest total won by either party since 1936.

—Governors: Democrats captured nine, while losing three to the Republicans and a fourth to an independent, in Maine. Another Democrat trailed, indicating the new standing would be 36 Democrats, 13 Republicans and one independent, surpassing the 35 Democrats elected in 1958.

The closest Senate contest was in North Dakota, where Republican Sen. Milton R. Young and former Democratic Gov. William L. Guy finished in a virtual dead heat. The Associated Press unofficial tally put Guy 14 votes ahead, while the News Election Service said Young led by 16, pending an official tally of the 229,000 votes.

In two other contests, the margins were a bit bigger, but not much.

In Oklahoma, Republican Sen. Henry Bellmon hung on to squeeze by Democrat Ed Edmondson by 3,290 votes.

In Vermont, Patrick J. Leahy became the first Democrat ever elected to the Senate by defeating Rep. Richard Mallary by a 4,042-vote margin.

In three other states, Democrats captured Republican seats by more. In Colorado, Gary W. Hart swamped Republican Sen. Peter H. Dominick. In Kentucky, Gov. Wendell H. Ford ousted Republican Sen. Marlow W. Cook. And in Florida, Democrat Richard B. Stone defeated Republican Jack Eckerd.

In the governor's races, too, Republicans appeared beneficiaries in close contests, leading or capturing three of the five races where margins were less than 5,000.

In Alaska, the outcome of a close race between Republican Jay Hammond and Democratic Gov. William A. Egan was in doubt pending late returns from remote bush precincts.

In Arizona and New Mexico, the winning margins of Democrats Raul Castro and Jerry Apodaca were 4,113 and 2,530, respectively.

In Kansas and New Hampshire, Republicans Robert F. Bennett and Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr. won by 4,485 and 4,145, respectively.

With the last votes trickling in, most members of Congress, especially the leaders, were looking to the future.

Reports heard, member inducted by Jaycees here

One new member was inducted and a variety of reports were presented during the regular monthly meeting of the Washington C. H. Jaycees Wednesday night.

President John Marcum said Robert A. Munn, 1220 Cornell Drive, manager of the new McDonald's restaurant in Washington C.H., was inducted as a new member. He was sponsored for membership by Gary Johnson.

Reports on two fund-raising projects were presented. It was reported that 30-gallon trash can liners can still be purchased. The price has been lowered to $3 per box of 50 liners. It was also announced that the Jaycees recycling project will be held Nov. 16-17 at the Seaway parking lot, CCC Highway-W. Persons unable to deliver papers to the recycling center or those wishing to purchase trash can liners may call Mike Bailo or Ernie Wilson.

Final reports on the Jaycees' team in the Pony football league, game personnel provided by the chapter, in addition to a financial report on the banquet were also heard.

Marcum said the chapter's men's night event will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15 and the Christmas wrapping paper sale will be beginning in the near future.

Meeting set

Union Local 1070 of the United Paper Workers International Union, Mead Containers, will hold its meeting for the nomination of officers Nov. 9.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. at the Eagles Lodge, according to secretary Nate Bolton. The election date will be Dec. 7, to be held at the same time and place.

Pride at stake for Washington

Lions close season at Hillsboro

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

It was the final game of the 1973 season. With the scoreboard showing a 58-0 victory for the Lions, Washington coach Maurice Pfeifer walked across the field to offer his congratulations for a well-played game to the Hillsboro coaching staff. As he was departing, one of the members of the Indians' coaching staff told Pfeifer that Hillsboro would not be beaten by Court House in 1974.

This Friday, the final game of the 1974 campaign awaits the Blue Lions at Hillsboro. Washington enters the contest with a mark of 6-3 overall and 3-2 in the South Central Ohio League. The Indians, who are already assuring themselves of a last place finish in the league with a 0-5 record, are 2-7 for the year.

"After our superb performance in the loss to Miami Trace last week, it would be expected that we would be flat for this game," Pfeifer noted. "However, this will not be the case this season."

"Because of the unfair and unkind way Hillsboro responded to our magnificent state championship team of last year, our team and coaching staff has really been looking forward to this game," Pfeifer indicated. "We were criticized by their coaching staff for our supposedly unsportsmanlike conduct during the course of the game. We have taken this as a challenge and this game means just as much to us as our annual confrontation with Miami Trace."

Does this mean the dean of the SCOL coaches is carrying a grudge into this week's contest?

"No, I would not consider this a grudge match," he reflected. "I would consider this a matter of pride."

It appears as though the Indians are well on their way to their second consecutive 2-8 season. Hillsboro coach Mike Doyle is presently confronted with a six-game losing streak after opening the year with a 2-1 record.

"As a result of last year, Hillsboro figures their season starts with us," Pfeifer stated. "There is also the added incentive that Doyle is a graduate of Miami Trace."

Since the Indians took a 50-6 pasting at the hands of Miami Trace in the fifth game of the season, Doyle has been doing a lot of juggling with his lineups. Both offensively and defensively, the Indian mentor has made five changes.

One of the biggest changes involved the quarterback situation. Junior quarterback Don Marsh was switched to tight end and sophomore Tyler Woods has been calling the signals. Earley has been intercepted five times while completing 40 of 110 passes for 569 yards. Woods has connected on seven of 21 passes with three interceptions for 82 yards.

"With Woods at quarterback, we will have to contain the option play," remarked Pfeifer. "If Marsh should return to quarterback, our defense will need to have a good pass rush since he is a drop back passer."

Junior halfback Ken Captin is the major threat in the Indians' running attack. Captain has scored 46 of the 122 points produced by the offense of Hillsboro this season.

Washington's defense will be fighting hard to shut out Hillsboro's offense, which has been averaging 14 points per game. The Lions have already given up 90 points this season and they do not want to go over 100 points in total points yielded.

Despite the loss to Miami Trace last week, the Lions' defense turned in one of its sharpest performances of the season. It was the first time this year the devastating offense of the Panthers was held to under 150 total yards.

Keying last week's defensive efforts were guard Brian Haines, who was selected as the defensive lineman of the week, and linebacker Larry Dumford, who was chosen as the defensive back of the week. Haines totaled 19 defensive points, which included three hits on the quarterback, and was graded at 95 per cent. Dumford accumulated 28 defensive points, which included 11 tackles, and received a grade of 70 per cent.

Washington's defense will have to rely upon its tremendous quickness. The Indians' offense averages over eight pounds per player heavier than the Lions' defense.

This may be the opportunity for Washington's offense to really put something together. Hillsboro's defense has been porous this year. The Indians have given up an average of nearly 32 points per game as opponents have struck for a total of 79 points in the first and third periods each.

The two major threats in the backfield of Washington's offense are sophomore tailback Leroy Wilson and senior quarterback Jeff Brown. Wilson has garnered 383 yards in 131 carries this season. Brown has connected on 36 of 80 passes with six interceptions for 625 yards.

Last week, Brown connected on five passes for 99 yards to tight end David Thompson, who was selected as the offensive lineman of the week. One of the pass receptions was for an eight-yard touchdown and he received a grade of 85 per cent for his performance.

Washington's offense will also be at a weight disadvantage to the defense of Hillsboro. The Indians will be averaging nearly two pounds per player more than the Lions.

Tackle Kevin Pfeifer will be missing the game this week because of a cyst on his spinal column. Tim O'Flynn, who is also the starting defensive end, will be seeing action in Pfeifer's place on offense.

The best pursuit awards were earned by Haines of offense and tackle Richard Haithcock on defense. Haines delivered two blocks on one play and Haithcock came from behind to tackle Panther halfback Kent Smith, when he broke loose for a 28-yard run on the second play of the game.

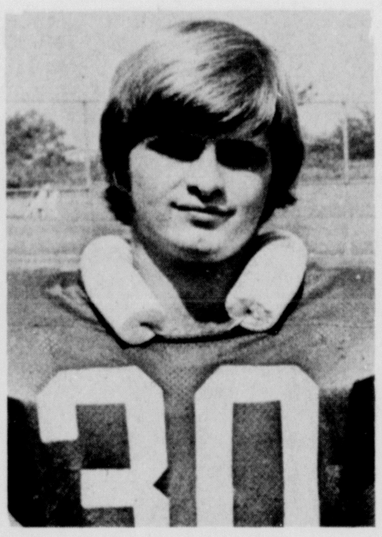

Sam Aills delivered the best hit of the game. His hit came when he stopped a run by Miami Trace fullback Jeff Sagar.

For the trivia nuts, a victory this week will mark the Blue Lions' 12th consecutive win on the road. Washington's last loss on the road was to Grove City in 1972. All three of the Lions' losses this season have been in the not so friendly confines of Gardner Park Stadium.

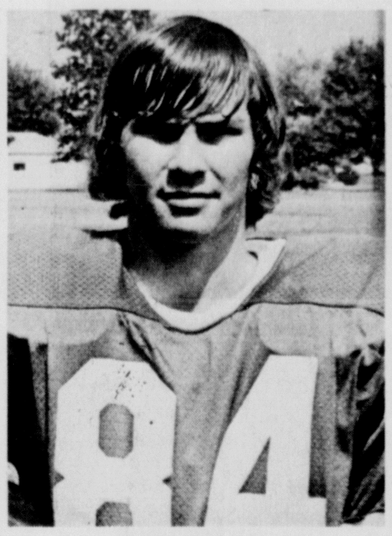

Ten seniors will be putting on their helmets for the final time this week. Although the number is few, the holes will be hard to fill.

Big shakeup in Class AA computer polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Warren Western Reserve, the 1972 state playoff champion, has vaulted back into a Class AAA regional lead this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized football ratings.

Western Reserve, with 127.19 points, took over the top spot in Region 1 from Warren Harding, last week's pacesetter. Harding is a close second with 126.87 points.

The OHSAA uses the ratings to select its semifinalists in all three classes for the postseason playoffs beginning next week. The final rankings will be released Monday morning.

The other Class AAA leaders were the same as last week, Upper Arlington in Region 2, Canton McKinley in Region 3 and Cincinnati Elder in Region 4.

The biggest shakeup this week came in Class AA where three of the four frontrunners were new. Only Shelby in Region 6 kept its Class AA lead.

The new Class AA leaders were Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary in Region 5, Louisville St. Thomas Aquinas in Region 7 and Cincinnati Mariemont in Region 8.

In Class A, Windham in Region 9, Fremont St. Joseph in Region 10, Newark Catholic in Region 11 and Middletown Fenwick in Region 12, preserved their leads. Fenwick is the defending Class A playoff king.

With the 14-13 upset victory over Class AAA Wilmington, Unioto made the biggest jump among the South Central Ohio League teams in the computer ratings. In Region 12 of Class A, the Shermans moved from 20th to 13th in the ratings.

In Region 8 of Class AA, Circleville was the only team to advance. The Tigers leaped from 10th to eighth. Greenfield remained at 14th, but Washington Court House dropped from 13th to 15th and Hillsboro moved from 41st to 46th.

In Region 4 of Class AAA, Miami Trace advanced to 19th after holding the 21st position last week. Wilmington dropped from 50th to 51st in the ratings.

Bowl pairings shaping up

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Ohio State, Oklahoma and Michigan are ranked first, second and fourth, respectively in The Associated Press college football poll this week. Only one will be going to a post-season bowl game this year.

Meanwhile, Maryland, Mississippi State, Houston and Oklahoma State have joined the rapidly-growing list of schools who have accepted bids to play in the year-end spectaculars while Pittsburgh is playing a wait-and-see game.

Maryland, 14th-ranked nationally, will play in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 16 at Memphis, Tenn.

Herbie Hunt, Liberty Bowl president, said said Liberty Bowl representatives will be watching four games this weekend in an attempt to select an opponent for Maryland. The four games slated for scrutiny are Auburn at Mississippi State, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Missouri at Oklahoma and Tennessee at Memphis State.

Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl officials said hometown Houston's opponent Dec. 23 will be either North Carolina State or North Carolina, with Pittsburgh an outside possibility.

However, North Carolina State reportedly is headed for the Peach Bowl, which will be played Dec. 28 in Atlanta.

Oklahoma State, ranked 17th has accepted a bid to participate in the Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

The Western Athletic Conference champion will oppose Oklahoma State Dec. 28. Arizona State, which has won all three previous postseason contests, Arizona and Brigham Young are still in contention for the WAC title.

Sun Bowl officials say they want Pittsburgh if the Panthers beat Temple this Saturday. But Pitt also is reportedly being courted by the Liberty Bowl and the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Mississippi State said it has accepted an invitation to play in the Sun Bowl Dec. 28 in El Paso, Tex.

Although bowl officials declined to confirm it, it is believed the Gator Bowl Dec. 30 at Jacksonville, Fla., will match Auburn against the Southwest Conference runnerup.

The Southwest Conference champion — either Texas, Texas A&M or Baylor — is slated to play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 against Penn State.

The Sugar Bowl Dec. 31 will pit sixth-ranked Florida against ninth-ranked Nebraska, while third-ranked Alabama and eighth-ranked Notre Dame is expected to clash in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1 in a rematch of last year's national championship battle.

Miami of Ohio, ranked No. 13, is headed for the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 21 at Orlando, Fla.

Probation and conference rules have cut down two of the nation's best teams. Secondranked Oklahoma is banned from appearing in a post-season game by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

And the granddaddy of all bowl games — the Rose Bowl — will feature the Big Ten champion versus the Pac-8 champion. Since top-ranked Ohio State and fourth-ranked Michigan are both in the Big Ten, one will be watching the postseason festivities with the nation's other football fans — on television.

REGULAR SEASON ENDS

Elliott eyes 100 yards for Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals reserve running back Lenvil Elliott believes that "I'm capable of gaining 100 yards in a ball game, given the proper breaks.

"It's a goal I have but not a selfish one," said Elliott, in his third year as a pro, "it would be a thing for the team."

Elliott, who has the second best record of the Cincinnati running backs this season, will be in uniform for the first time against the Pittsburgh Steelers here this Sunday.

Elliott has gained 252 yards in 45 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per try and two touchdowns, one from a pass.

Bobbie Clark, although averaging only 3.9 yards, has gained 312 yards in 99 attempts. He is out indefinitely with a broken arm suffered last week in the 24-14 triumph over Baltimore.

Doug Dressler has been slated to replace Clark here Sunday.

"Really," said Elliott, after viewing the Steelers game films, "they more or less manhandled every other team they played outside of Oakland.

Ali says he would fight Foreman again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, in Columbus Wednesday to pick up a $100,000 motor coach, said he is willing to fight George Foreman again, "after a month or two of rest."

Ali told WLW-C sports director Jimmy Crum, "if he's (Foreman) crazy enough to fight me again, I'll beat him every day of the week."

WFL struggles to finish first year

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The Chicago Fire says it is through for the year, Portland Storm players are refusing to play another game until they're paid and the Charlotte Hornets have literally lost their shirts.

It was just another day in the life and times of the World Football League.

The show must go on, however, and the WFL continued to struggle gracelessly toward the conclusion of its first season Wednesday night with Birmingham beating Philadelphia 26-23, Shreveport topping Charlotte 19-14 and the Hawaiians whipping Southern California 29-8.

Tonight's schedule calls for Chicago at Memphis and Portland at Florida, but WFL schedules lately have been as dependable as subway gum machines.

Birmingham built up a 26-0 lead in the first half of its game with Philadelphia behind the running of Art Cantrelle and Paul Robinson, who scored one touchdown apiece, and then held off a Bell rally. The game ended in a brawl that took officials several minutes to break up.

The announced attendance was 22,963, about half of what the Americans have been averaging.

Randy Johnson threw a pair of touchdown passes to John Isenbarger, and Al Davis and Vince Clements ran for two others in the Hawaiians' victory over Southern California before an announced crowd of 13,780 at Honolulu.

Kermit Johnson's touchdown in the fourth period averted a shutout for the Sun, now 13-6. The Hawaiians improved their record to 8-11.

Fire owner Tom Origer handed the stricken league another headache Wednesday when he announced that his club won't play its final game next week in Philadelphia and won't participate in the playoffs.

"We don't deserve to be in the playoffs and I'm against the eight-team thing, anyway," said Origer, whose team has lost nine straight games.

A league spokesman said WFL President Donald Regan will look into the Chicago matter Friday.

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, you want action? No delays, just business. So, how about Atlanta over Los Angeles? And Houston over Buffalo!

Far fetched? Maybe — but over the years, a change of coaches in mid-season often sets the stage for an upset. This could mean an Atlanta victory. But what about one for Houston?

While you mull over this for a moment, let's report that last week's effort by the Pro Pigskin Picker was 13-0, a perfect slate. It lifted the season's showing to 74-29-1 for .718.

Now back to Atlanta and Houston:

ATLANTA (2-6) at LOS ANGELES (6-2): The Falcons have never won in Los Angeles, but they have a chance to redeem themselves and provide Marion Campbell, Norm Van Brocklin's successor, with his first victory. So, in the Upset Special ... Falcons 21, Rams 20.

HOUSTON (3-5) at BUFFALO (7-1): There's no reason to expect that the Oilers, on their first two-game victory streak since 1971, will make it three. So let's not have an upset here and say ... Bills 31, Oilers 17.

PITTSBURGH (6-1-1) at CINCINNATI (5-3): The injury to Cincinnati running back Boobie Clark tilts the scale to ... Steelers 20, Bengals 16.

WASHINGTON (5-3) at PHILADELPHIA (4-4): The going is too sticky in the NFC East for the Eagles to catch Washington looking ahead to Dallas. So ... Redskins 19, Eagles 17.

SAN FRANCISCO (2-6) at DALLAS (4-4): And the Cowboys won't start thinking about Washington until Sunday night ... Cowboys 24, 49ers 15.

DETROIT (4-4) at OAKLAND (7-1): Guess who has the longest victory streak current in the NFC? Guess who still will have the longest victory streak in the AFC ... Raiders 30, Lions 19.

MIAMI (6-2) at NEW ORLEANS (3-5): New Orleans will still be no worse off than a second-place tie in the NFC West after the scoreboard says ... Dolphins 26, Saints 14.

CLEVELAND (2-6) at NEW ENGLAND (6-2): The Patriots have scored more points than any other NFL team so far. Cleveland has yielded more points than any other club. How about ... Patriots 30, Browns 13.

CHICAGO (3-5) vs. GREEN BAY (3-5) at Milwaukee: Chester Marcol's field goal kicking should help John Hadl register his first victory for Green Bay ... Packers 17, Bears 14.

DENVER (3-4-1) at BALTIMORE (1-7): It's simply a case of the Broncos having more horsepower ... Broncos 35, Colts 10.

SAN DIEGO (2-6) at KANSAS CITY (3-5): With the help of rookie running back Don Woods, San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts should lead his team to its second straight upset ... Chargers 30, Chiefs 27.

NEW YORK JETS (1-7) vs. NEW YORK GIANTS (2-6) at New Haven, Conn.: Is there room in Manhattan for two swingers like the Jets' Joe Namath and the Giants' Craig Morton?... Giants 24, Jets 19.

MINNESOTA (6-2) at ST. LOUIS (7-1): Quarterbacks Jim Hart and Fran Tarkenton will provide the fireworks for the Monday night viewers in a game that could be a preview of the opening match in the NFC divisional playoffs in seven weeks ... Vikings 28, Cardinals 26.

How to avoid future shock.

Tomorrow won't take care of itself. And, deep down, you know that. So you'd better do something about your future money needs today.

There's a painless way. Simply start building your nest egg a little at a time. It's easy when you buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

You can save as little or as much as you want. Just specify the amount. And it'll be set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

Then, when the future arrives, you'll be better fixed to face it. Because Bonds are the best shock absorber around.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

JOLLY BLUEBIRDS

The Jolly Bluebirds met at Belle-Aire School with eight members present and Mrs. Tom Vrettos and Mrs. Robert Wilson. Pam Jenkins led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Vrettos collected dues, TV stamps and Kroger labels. She also reminded the girls that Dec. 1 is the last day for labels and stamps to be collected.

Deana Rogers and Pam Jenkins served refreshments. Jeannie Teets and Pam McDonald were chosen for refreshments for the next meeting.

The group then went on a tour of the bowling alley.

Electric, phone firms want hikes

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. has asked for a 26 per cent rate increase, and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. is expected to ask for an even bigger hike.

An Ohio Bell official disclosed last month that the telephone company would ask for a 33 per cent boost in rates, and that announcement is expected soon.

In making its increase request, the Illuminating Co. told the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday if it could get "prompt rate relief" to the tune of 11 per cent it might not need the full 26 per cent by 1976.

A CEI spokesman said the company needs $120 million for construction early next year but that "substantial interest charges" could be saved with a quick 11 per cent increase.

That would raise about $51 million in additional capital, the spokesman said.

He said an 11 per cent increase would mean an average of eight cents more per day on the average customer's bills.

A 26 per cent increase would hike the average bill 18 cents a day, he said.

Great Lakes navigation extended

DETROIT (AP) — At least 16 freighters will brave the worst of winter by sailing the Great Lakes through February, with another 24 vessels operating into January, the Lake Carriers Association says.

Association officials called the winter navigation plans a "dramatic departure" from a few years ago when the sailing season traditionally closed on or about Dec. 15.

They said numerous special aids to navigation, aerial ice reconnaisance flights, special communications and weather forecasts will help the late-season sailors.

Winter navigation has caused protests from those living along the shores of the lakes. The say ice pushed aside by the freighters damages the already eroding shoreline.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. said seven of its boats are scheduled to sail through February, with five operating from Marquette to Lake Erie and two from Escanaba to Chicago.

U.S. Steel Co. said nine of its vessels will push through shipping lanes—which likely will be ice-laden—until February if possible.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Stapled Food Packages: Dangerous

In one of your columns you once warned housewives of the dangers of stapled food packages. Has anything been done about this? My daughter started to swallow a staple and by sheer luck was able to spit it up.

Mrs. J.E., Fla.

Dear Mrs. E.:

I don't know why so many food stores insist on stapling bags of food.

Some may claim that this is the only way to prevent pilfering. Yet it seems that other methods might be used. When the bag is taken home, the staple can pop off and become embedded in bread, vegetables or other uncovered food items.

The danger of swallowing a metal staple is one that cannot be overlooked. Many cases of injury have been reported in children and adults.

This preventable health hazard should be legally stopped. Until legislation makes it mandatory not to staple food packages, housewives must be the main force in demanding that such stapling be eliminated.

* * *

Do people with Parkinson's disease develop mental deterioration?

Mrs. G.N., Ohio

Dear Mrs. N.:

With Parkinson's disease, there often is a fixed facial expression. This mask appearance may, by its unresponsiveness, give the impression of some mental disturbance. This is false.

There does not seem to be any relationship between this illness and intellectual capacity.

* * *

After a big yawn I often dislocate my jaw. Is there any way of preventing this?

Mr. D.W., Okla.

Dear Mr. W.:

Dislocation of the jaw, with referred pain from the jaw joint to the ear, to the top of the head and down the neck, is a very common condition.

Specially trained dental surgeons have developed many fine techniques for the better understanding of the jaw joint and the muscles that surround it. Occasionally, it becomes necessary to use some form of corrective surgery to prevent repeated dislocations of the jaw.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Declarer frequently encounters a situation where it is more dangerous for him to have one defender on lead than the other. In such hands, declarer tries to shape his play so as to prevent the dangerous opponent from taking the lead.

Consider this deal where West leads the king of hearts. It is at once obvious to declarer that he may lose three diamonds and a trump — conceivably two trump tricks — and go down if the cards lie unfavorably.

It is also obvious to South that he can arrive home safe and sound, even if the trumps are divided 3-1 instead of 2-2, if he can stop East from taking the lead in trumps for a diamond return through the king.

Accordingly, upon winning the heart lead with the ace and discarding a diamond from his hand, declarer plays a trump and, when East produces the eight, covers it with the nine.

In the actual hand, the nine loses to the jack and South is then impervious to attack. Whatever West returns, South draws trumps, disposes of another diamond on dummy's fourth club, and winds up making four.

Observe that if declarer starts out by playing the A-K of trumps — making no effort to avoid East's taking the lead — he goes down one against proper defense. He loses a spade and three diamonds.

It is true that South's effort to avoid East would cost him a trick if the trumps were divided 2-2. However, he should be perfectly willing to lose this 30-point trick in the interests of safety. The governing principle is that you don't play the spades so as to assure the maximum number of spade tricks, but to assure the maximum chance for the contract.

THE BETTER HALF — By Barnes

"Did you ever think what a menace to society you'd be if all that turned into muscle?"

Over 9½ million Americans are on the Payroll Savings Plan.

Maybe they know something you don't.

Maybe they know it's easier to save money you never see. So they sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan. And specify an amount to be set aside from each paycheck to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

And maybe they know Bonds are one of the best ways to feel secure about your savings. Because you always get back what you paid. Plus interest.

So maybe you'd better talk to your payroll people. And join the 9½ million already on the Payroll Savings Plan. Soon.

Two defendants who pleaded innocent to charges of burglary and grand theft at their arraignment Sept. 12 have changed their pleas to the burglary charges and been sentenced in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

Roy A. Green, 29, of Montgomery, and Ronnie H. Jones, 28, of Dayton, pleaded guilty to burglary when the state agreed not to prosecute the grand theft charge. Both men were arrested by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies on the property of the Lakewood Sportsman, CCC Highway-W, on Aug. 30. They were indicted by the September term of the Fayette County grand jury.

Represented by counselor Robert Renshaw, of Springfield, the pair entered the new pleas before Common Pleas Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, who imposed sentence.

The burglary counts carry a maximum jail term of five years, and the sentence imposed by the judge will be released as soon as an entry has been signed by Renshaw and assistant county prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmann, who represented the state.

Asthmatic child wins new life

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two-year-old Chris Winninger is in Phoenix today, the beneficiary of a cross-country campaign launched by two newspapers to get the asthmatic child to the dry climate of Arizona.

"Tell everyone we said thank you," Mrs. Robert Winninger said as she, her husband and Chris boarded the jetliner at Standiford Field.

The journey was conceived when a doctor told Winninger and his wife, Beverley, that Chris' severe asthma could endanger their daughter's life unless she got to a dry climate.

Winninger, an unemployed laborer, had no way to move his family west until a couple of weeks ago, when the Louisville Courier-Journal ran a story about Chris' plight.

The response to the story was "unbelievable," Winninger said.

Donations ranging from $1 to $100 amounted to about $1,900 in all — enough to pay the little girl's medical expenses and the family's moving expenses.

Mayor Harvey Sloane called the city managers of Phoenix and Tucson to ask about getting Winninger a job. Job possibilities were mentioned by a wide range of organizations. Church groups and charitable organizations also offered assistance.

Argentina in uproar

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentine terrorists today shot to death an army major and burned military vehicles in the first reaction to the government's declaration of a state of siege.

Police said Maj. Hector Lopez was slain as he left his home this morning in Santa Fe, 300 miles north of here. The shots came from a house across from Lopez' residence, killing the major instantly.

Terrorist groups set fire to about 20 military buses at a factory north of Buenos Aires, police sources said.

Other guerrillas briefly seized the railroad station at Avellaneda, south of Buenos Aires, painted revolutionary slogans and distributed literature of the outlawed People's Revolutionary Army — ERP — police said.

With political assassinations occurring at the rate of more than one a day, President Isabel Peron returned Argentina to a state of siege on Wednesday. Her decree enabled the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial.

'White fleet' trip eyed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A proposal to send a "Great White Fleet" of about 24 warships on a world-circling voyage is circulating in high Navy circles, the Norfolk, Virginian Pilot says.

The newspaper said today that the proposed voyage is designed to tie in with America's bicentennial celebration and enhance the Navy's image at home and abroad.

The proposal reportedly suggests that such goodwill visits would dispell the wariness with which some countries view the United States after the Vietnam war, the newspaper said.

Navy officials said the idea, now only a theoretical concept, falls into the realm of "possible future operations" and can't be discussed, the Virginian-Pilot said.

The fleet would be named after President Theodore Roosevelt's Great White Fleet of 1908, which visited six continents and traveled more than 42,220 miles in 535 days.

Work stoppage certain

Weekend coal accord could shorten strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief coal industry negotiator in contract talks with the United Mine Workers says an agreement could be reached by this weekend to keep short an expected nationwide miners strike.

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, said Wednesday he thought the two sides should be able to reach an accord "in two or three days," provided no new snags develop.

"I don't think we're that far apart. That's not to say we don't have some real knotty issues which need to be resolved," Farmer said.

UMW President Arnold Miller said there could be a tentative agreement before the current contract runs out at midnight Monday, but not in time to prevent at least a brief work stoppage. Miller would not comment when asked about the possibility of a breakthrough this weekend.

"What we do every day (at the bargaining table) will affect the duration of a stoppage," Miller said. Under the union's ratification procedures, it will take about 10 days for the membership to approve a tentative settlement.

Farmer said the negotiators were in the process of taking each other's proposals, starting at the beginning and comparing positions and "discussing how we might settle it."

Sources said that while major differences remained, the two sides were close in the economic area, including wage increases for the union's 120,000 miners.

The government has estimated that a month-long strike could force the layoffs of as many as 400,000 workers in the steel and other coal-burning industries. In addition, the auto industry, the nation's largest consumer of steel, says it would have to shut down within a few weeks for lack of supplies.

Governor's race recount may take until Christmas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The people of Ohio may not know officially until Christmas who their next governor will be.

With an unofficial victory margin of just over 10,000 votes for former Gov. James A. Rhodes, incumbent Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan is entitled to a free recount, and the recount is considered almost a certainty.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said the recount may take until Christmas and could cost the state as much as $200,000.

Brown said he expects errors in the unofficial tallies released early Wednesday.Those figures gave Rhodes, a Republican, 1,485,977 votes; Gilligan 1,475,799 votes, and Nancy Brown Lazar, an independent, 97,502.

The raw scores in the unofficial totals are reported to Brown's office by telephone.

"They are seldom the same as the written report that follows up," Brown said. "There are transpositions and things like that discovered when the written report is prepared."

Brown first gets a written report of the unofficial vote. Then an official canvass begins, lasting two to three weeks, he said.

After that is certified, the recount request can be made.

Brown said past experience has shown that major mistakes usually are caught during the written unofficial tabulation, which is started after election personnel get a day's rest from their all-night stint.

Under state law, candidates are entitled to a recount at state expense if the margin is less than one-half of one per cent. That would include the Gilligan-Rhodes contest.

When a candidate has to pay for a recount himself, the price is $10 per polling place, and Brown says that doesn't cover expenses. The state has 13,013 polling places.

Since the state will be paying for the recount, Brown is expected to ask the Democratic-controlled state Controlling Board to reimburse his actual cost.

The Democrats, who have more to gain than they do to lose, are expected to comply.

"Everybody will want to be assured of the actual vote," Brown said. "If I was Gov. Gilligan, I would."

Rhodes said it will not bother him to wait until Christmas for the final word.

"I will go on as I have before," he said. "We will leave that up to Ted Brown. We will abide by the law."

Body discovered in woman's yard

GREENFIELD — The Greenfield Police Department was contacted shortly after 8 a.m. Thursday when a woman living on Taylor Street reported that a man, dressed only in underwear, was lying in her front yard.

Officers responded and found the body of an elderly man at the residence. Dr. Glenn B. Doan, county coroner, verified that the man was, in fact, dead, and the investigation was turned over to the Highland County Sheriff's Department.

Since the man carried no personal items, identification was difficult. However, area residents were contacted, and some recognized the man from photographs.

He was identified shortly before 1 p.m. as Lester Tuesdale, 1028 South St., Greenfield.

The Sheriff's department and county coroner will continue their investigation into the cause of death.

Subdivision proposals approved by planners

Preliminary plans for two new residential subdivisions in Washington C.H. were approved by members of the City Planning Commission during the regular monthly meeting held Wednesday night in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford, who serves as secretary of the City Planning Commission, said preliminary plans for the proposed Wagon Wheel Estates and Belle-Aire South Subdivision No. 3 were approved by the city planners.

He said no date was established by the planning commission to review final plats and detailed construction plans by the two developers involved.

Robert E. Lewis, doing business as Silver Dollar, Inc., 1017 Clinton Ave., is proposing the Wagon Wheel Estates Subdivision at the corner of Gregg and Lewis streets in Washington C.H.

Lewis has proposed single-family residences on 34 lots. A small area of the proposed subdivision must be annexed into Washington C.H. The present zoning is R-2.

The Baker Construction Co., 225 S. Main St., has submitted plans for a Belle-Aire South Subdivision No. 3. Single family residences would be situated on three lots. Present zoning in the area is presently R-2 and R-3.

Man wins $300,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Kenneth F. Comer of Springfield won $300,000 today in the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 300 drawings.

Lester C. Nelson of Zanesville and Paul J. Markovsky of Youngstown each won $30,000. There was no $60,000 prize since there were only seven participants, too few under lottery rules to warrant the larger prize.

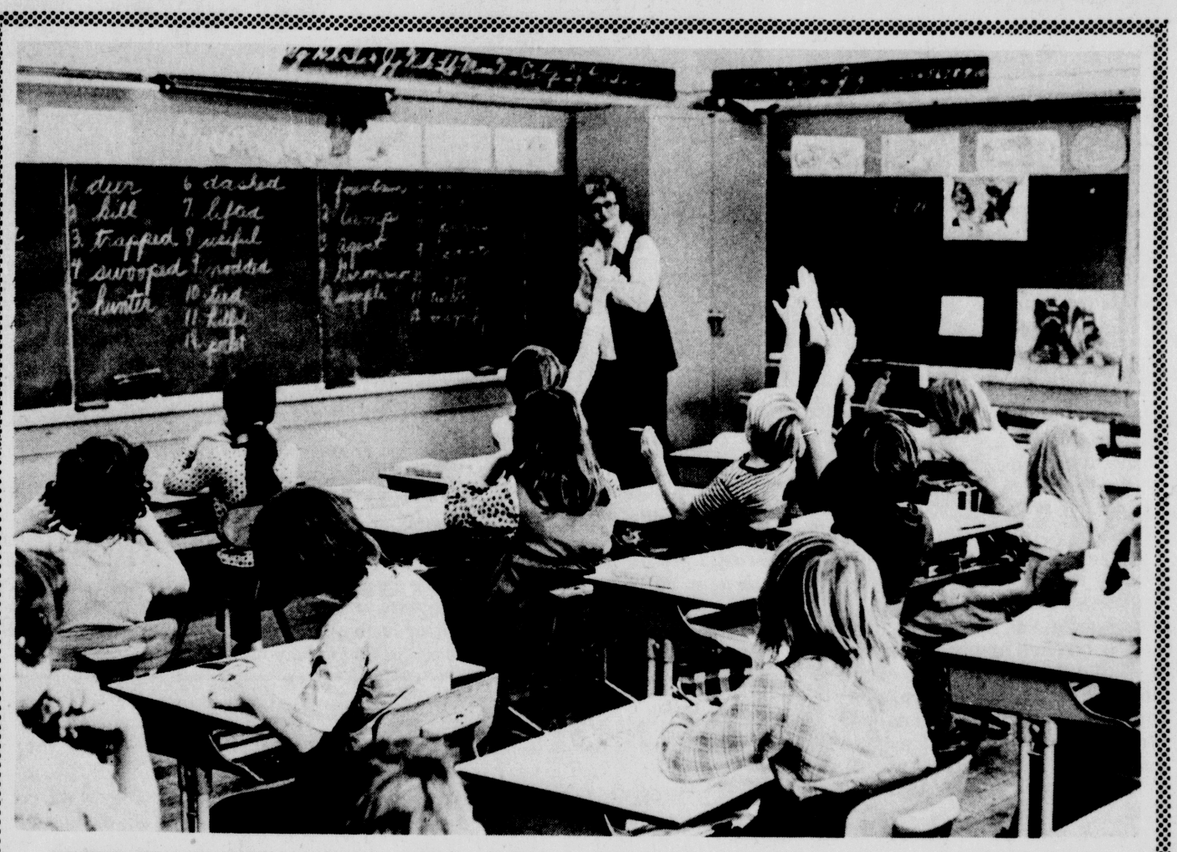

Winning the Buckeye 300's minimum $15,000 each were Gerald Harris of Defiance, Robert R. Ross, Elyria; Terri A. Fenwick, Canton; and Robert Gibson, Cambridge.

The week's winning numbers were announced as 096 for the single set and 623 062 as the double.

About a dozen additional participants were selected for Ohio's second millionaire drawing, tentatively scheduled for Jan. 10 or 11 in Columbus, according to Ohio Lottery Commission spokesman in Cleveland.

Combined class studied

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Are the Washington C.H. city schools reverting to the old tradition of the one-room red brick schoolhouse?

It would appear as such after the city Board of Education instituted a combined third and fourth grade class under one teacher this fall at the Rose Avenue Elementary School.

HOWEVER, according to Edwin Nestor, superintendent of the city schools, the plan was instigated under an emergency situation in which a tremendously low enrollment in the two grades made it economically impossible to conduct two separate classrooms.

Nestor said the school board was faced with two alternatives with the enrollment problem at the school — it could either bus the children in the two grades out to other city schools in their own classes or "in an attempt to preserve the neighborhood school atmosphere," it could set up one class with both grades under one, well-qualified teacher.

The board combined the 10 third grade students with the 14 fourth graders at the Rose Avenue school under Mrs. Dorothy Stanforth, who had been a fourth grade teacher for the last 12 years.

According to Nestor, the move has proved to be "a rather interesting venture and even though it came out of necessity, it is going to be a valuable experience for the students."

Nestor said he believes the combined grades "may bring up some unanticipated benefits" and noted that several school systems around the state were receding to the combined grades system under the thinking that "there may be values there with the little ones learning from the older ones."

But Mrs. Stanforth feels there are some definite drawbacks in teaching a combined-grade class today. "I think it is cutting some of the goals of elementary teaching," she said. "The combined-grade class doubles and even triples the work load of teachers and leaves them with less time to work with the students individually."

She added that there were some advantages in the system, such as allowing the children to work more on their own and giving the third graders a chance to learn and retain some knowledge from the fourth grade students, but overall, Mrs. Stanforth feels the arrangement is a "step backwards" and "should not be used unless you absolutely have to."

MRS. STANFORTH said she did not think the children had noticed that much of a difference in their classes. "In fact, they seemed to have adjusted to the change easier than their teacher," she said.

Although Mrs. Stanforth said she enjoyed teaching the two groups and watching their different reactions, she added that she would not teach a combined class again next year if it was reinstituted.

Her main reasons were the heavy workload and the time element involved in such an undertaking. "It takes a lot of extra preparation and drills in teaching two classes. The fourth graders have social studies and science, two subjects the third grade does not have, so I have to give the third graders extra drills in spelling and math to keep them busy while I'm teaching the other group," she said.

She added that the amount of free time was another important element in teaching a double grade. "There is no free time," she said. "While the third grade is out for art class, you're always teaching the other class geography or something, and when the fourth grade goes to art, the third graders are coming back so you have to be ready for

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping gains Democrats scored in Congress, especially in the House, could mean that the lawmakers will do little more than mark time in the lame-duck session that opens Nov. 18.

Major decisions on economic and social programs, most of which had little chance of enactment this year in any case, are more likely than ever to be left to the more Democratic, more liberal and younger Congress that will convene in January.

There will be a strong effort in the Senate to conclude action this year on the foreign trade bill, which the House has passed and which was brought to the verge of Senate approval by a compromise on Soviet emigration policies.

Some senators also have promised to try to attach to any available House bill some version of the tax on oil company windfall profits, which has been stymied in the House.

But wide-ranging tax revision, a national health plan, strengthening of the unemployment compensation system and a big public service job program are issues likely to be left to a Congress where more sweeping solutions could have more support.

It was increasingly doubtful that Congress would conclude action this year on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president.

The Senate may finish its part, even though additional hearings have been scheduled. In the House, where the Judiciary Committee has not begun hearings, it seemed likely that the final vote would come in 1975.

In the Congress that convenes in January, Democrats are assured at least 291 House seats, more than two-thirds, with three races still unsettled. In the Senate, they will have at least 61 out of 100.

President Ford and Democratic congressional leaders exchanged post-election statements pledging cooperation in solving the nation's problems, but the record gave no assurance they will see eye to eye on the methods.

Senate Leader Mike Mansfield told Ford, "I would hope ... now that the election is over we will be able to get together and work cooperatively. I know you want to, I know the Senate wants to and I feel sure the House wants to."

"Let me assure you that will be the case," Ford replied.

After a House leadership conference at which Speaker Carl Albert was reported to have urged that solving the economic problems be put ahead of partisan interests, an aide said, "The name of the game is going to be compromise.

"We may make suggestions, but if anything is to be done, Ford is going to have to agree."

Traffic blocked as rig upsets on U.S. 35

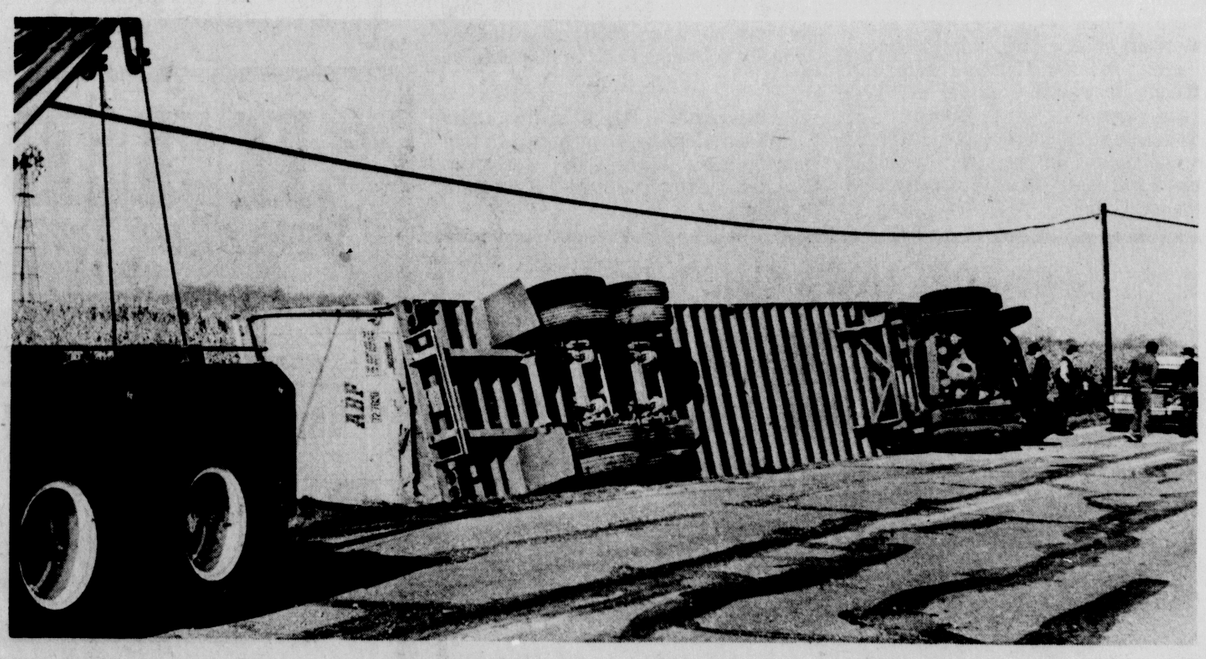

A tractor-trailer rig upset along U.S. 35-S shortly after 9 a.m. Thursday hospitalizing the driver and blocking traffic for several hours.

David Lawson, 44, of Connersville, N.C., was admitted at Fayette Memorial Hospital suffering from abrasions of the back and shoulder, lacerations of the face and injuries to the legs. He is listed in satisfactory condition.

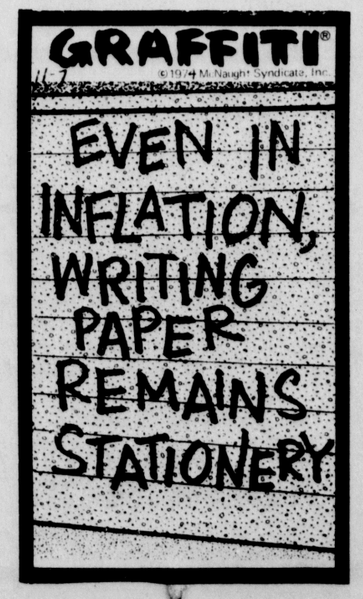

The 1974 model truck carried more than a quarter million dollars worth of cigarettes, all of which had to be transferred to another trailer before the truck could be righted. Two tow trucks were positioned in a field across the highway to pull the semi back on its wheels, blocking traffic for some time.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputy John Emrick was on the scene for more than four hours, directing traffic and protecting the payload from looters.

First reports of the incident were relayed to Sheriff's deputies by a ham radio operator as a passing motorist had reported the mishap on a citizens' band radio.

QUARTER MILLION PAYLOAD — This truck carrying more than $250,000 worth of cigarettes overturned along U.S. 35-S Thursday morning. The driver, David Lawson, 44, of Connersville, N.C., was reportedly passing another semi truck when the mishap occurred shortly after 9 a.m. The driver was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he is listed in satisfactory condition.

"As the work gets harder in each grade level, it would become more difficult in this type of situation to give them the additional individual attention they need," she said.

Nestor said he could not speculate on whether the board would continue the present program with combined grades until viewing the total perspective of the situation at the end of the year.

Robert Highfield, a member of the city school board, said that although he had not visited the class, he did not think the program would be continued. "It (the enrollment problem) just came up too soon and no one was aware of it; they'll probably bus the students to other schools in the future," he said.

Guy Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, said there were two cases of combined grades in session this school year in the county schools.

"In general, we do not encourage these situations. The reasons are simply due to the irregular enrollment in most instances where we cannot justify two separate sections so we just combine the two and still have a workable situation," he noted.

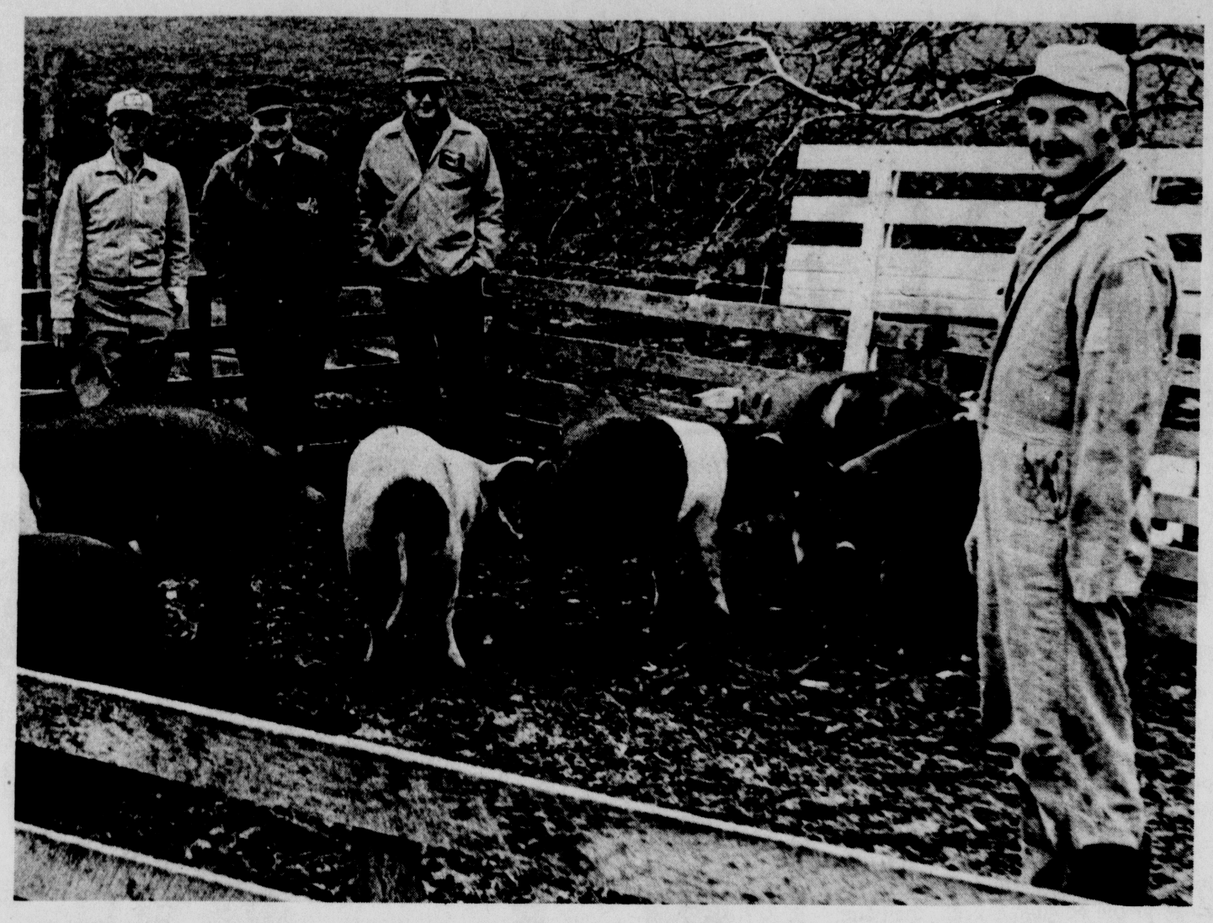

However, Foster said the county school board tries to be selective when establishing a combined-grade class. "We look at the teacher involved and the overall achievement level of the kids. We tend to take the stronger kids out of the two sections who work on their own and are more inclined to explore and do reference work on their own," he said.

Nestor said the board would definitely keep the number of students in a combined class down to "less than 30," the average size of a classroom under one grade level and teacher, if they found it necessary to combine grades again.

LEWIS PARRETT, city schools elementary coordinator, said if he were to employ the combined grade system, he would have to "look at each situation differently. I would hold down the number of students to probably under 25 depending on the pupils and how well they are able to follow directions and blend in with the situation."

The children who are placed in the situations do not appear to find the change so drastic and according to Mrs. Stanforth, she has heard no complaints from parents.

But in order to continue and capitalize on the combined-grade system, the Washington C.H. and Fayette County school boards have an extremely difficult situation to consider and evaluate.

SAUSAGE TIME — The 65 members of the Good Hope Lions Club will be treating hungry folks to their annual sausage and pancake supper from noon this Saturday through 7 p.m. at Wayne Hall in Good Hope. A very full belly can be obtained for $2 if you're an adult and $1.50 if you're a child. Along with the novelty of "the freshest sausage ever," (presently on the hoof in the photo) maple syrup and real butter will also be served. The money raised by the supper will help finance Lion's Club activities in helping promote the pilot dog program, eye research and the purchase of glasses for people in Fayette County who cannot afford them. Left to right behind the hogs are Howard Barney, club president; Joe Barton, chairman of the supper; Jack Alkire, public relations chairman and in the foreground is Mead Noble, the hog securer.

Nixon tape system flaw-ridden

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Secret Service man has testified that former President Richard M. Nixon's taping system had flaws that make it suspect as a complete record of his White House conversations.

Secret Service technician James G. Baker said Wednesday at the Watergate cover-up trial that as much as three minutes of some presidential conversations went unrecorded while tape reels were being changed.

Baker, a retired Air Force sergeant, testified as one of a series of witnesses summoned to authenticate 26 White House tapes the prosecution plans to play for the jury. The verification process was scheduled to continue today with the likely testimony of former White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt.

Assistant special prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste said none of the 26 tapes the prosecutors plan to introduce into evidence starting next week have any gaps resulting from the Secret Service's method of changing tape reels.

Defense sources said, however, there were other flaws in the system that probably prevented other presidential conversations from being picked up by the taping system.

Former White House assistant Alexander P. Butterfield has testified that Nixon ordered the system installed in the White House Oval Office, the president's office in the Executive Office Building and the Cabinet Room in the White House.

As described by Baker and Secret Service agent Randolph Nelson on Wednesday, the taping system was installed in February 1971 and remained until July 18, 1973.

Through an elaborate interconnection of electronic and sound gear, the system was devised to pick up only conversations in which Nixon was a participant.

Although the tape recorders were designed to turn on with the sound of a voice or some other noise, only if the President was present would the reels begin to roll.

Agent Nelson said he knew of only nine persons, including Nixon, cover-up defendant John D. Ehrlichman, Butterfield and Secret Service men, who knew about the system until Butterfield made it public.

Nixon said battling pneumonitis

Known as pneumonitis, the condition was apparently not considered serious. Dr. John C. Lungren said his patient is exhibiting over-all "slow but gradual improvement" since his brush with death last week following phlebitis surgery.

"He's ready to face the world again and fight back," reported a source close to Nixon. "He's not depressed anymore but he's grouchy."

Nixon, 61, hopes to be able to walk well enough soon to greet his wife, Pat, at his hospital room door, hospital spokesman Norman Nager said Wednesday. Nixon has been taking brief walks, assisted by nurses, around his room at Memorial Hospital Medical Center.

The pneumonitis, which Lungren said was being combatted with antibiotics, was presumably responsible for the partial collapse of the lung.

"The pneumonitis was determined by tests," Lungren said Wednesday in a written statement. He added that "it would be premature to offer a prognosis at this time."

Nixon has suffered numerous complications since his surgery Oct. 26. He remained on the critical list for six days after he went into shock for three hours from internal bleeding brought on by the operation.

Ohio Bell seeks huge rate boost

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. today asked state approval of a $216 million rate increase to cope with inflationary pressures.

Bell, in its request filed today, said the company had made some significant changes in the way it proposes to charge for some services.

The proposed increase, if granted as requested, would amount to about a $3 monthly hike in telephone costs to a residential user, a Bell spokesman said.

Mrs. Elsie W. Clayton

GREENFIELD — Services for Mrs. Elsie Ware Clayton, 80, of 433 North St., Greenfield, will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Anderson-Strueve Funeral Home with the Rev. Clair Emerick and Dr. Clarence Kerr officiating.

Mrs. Clayton, the widow of Earle S. Clayton who died in 1965, was found dead at her residence Tuesday by neighbors. Born in Ross County, her parents Oris and Ella Jones Ware. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and of the Women's Association of the church, Coterie Club, and Juliana White Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. C.M. (Jean) Parrett, Bloomington, Ind.; and three sons, Earle F., of Cincinnati, Dr. Frederick W. of Gaithsburg, Md., and Dwight S., of Los Alamos, N.Mex.; 15 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 9 p.m. Friday. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

JOHN P. McCANN — Services for John P. McCann, 82, of Wilmington, were held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with Dr. Don Carlos Monteos officiating. Mr. McCann died Sunday at his residence.

Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was the organist at the services. Pallbearers for the burial in Sabina Cemetery were Robert Sears, Greg Ellenberger, Robert and Willard Stanforth, Erwin Ross, R.B. Allen, Carl Conklin and John Stamm.

SHERIDAN L. LOYD — Services for Mr. Sheridan L. Loyd, 73, of 225 N. Hinde St., were held at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating. Mr. Loyd died Monday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Washington Cemetery were James Lake, Paul Davis, Rupert Loyd and Greg Loyd.

SAMUEL H. ROUSH — Services for Samuel H. Roush, 48, of 1242 Rawlings St., were held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Earl Schottke of Bradford, officiating. Mr. Roush, a truck driver for Landmark, died Monday. The flag which draped the casket of the World War II U.S. Navy veteran, was folded by C. P. Hackett and J. Paul Strevey of the Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post, and presented to the son, Joseph Roush.

Pallbearers for burial in the White Oak Grove Cemetery were Harold and Gary Davis, Ralph Carr, Tom and Richard Purtell and Raymond Meredith.

Stock list up slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly today in another active, back-and-forth session on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.20 at 672.32, and gainers held a moderate lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said hopes for another prime rate cut by New York's First National City Bank on Friday were providing the market with some upward impetus.

Texas Utilities, the most-active NYSE issue, rose ¾ to 21⅜ in trading that included a 99,900-share block at 21½.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slipped .12 to 69.69.

Houston Oil & Minerals led the active list on the Amex, rising 1⅛ to 29¾.

Fair weather was forecast to return to Ohio today and continue through the weekend, following the rain and drizzle that hung over the state Tuesday and Wednesday.

A high pressure area centered over Missouri this morning is responsible for the return of fair skies. The high is forecast to move to West Virginia by early Friday, then continue eastward, bringing warmer weather late Friday and on Saturday.

Lows at dawn today were generally in the 30s and low 40s. The cool spot in the state was Toledo Express Airport with 33 degrees.

Readings this afternoon were forecast in the upper 40s and low 50s and lows tonight are expected to dip to the low 30s. Sunny skies Friday should push temperatures into the 50s and possibly the low 60s.

Fair and mild Saturday through Monday.

Economic outlook bad

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— You can hedge against inflation two ways, says internationally noted economist Pierre Rinfret: by shopping with care, and by making every effort to stash cash into savings accounts.

Resist buying; make do with what you have, he said Wednesday in talking to economists in a Cleveland conference. Putting money into savings means it will draw at least some interest, and that helps beat inflation, he said.

As for the future, he said, if he sounds pessimistic it's because he is: next year will be bad and will get worse as it goes along; unemployment will rise; inflation will continue; and President Ford's "Whip Inflation Now" program will be ineffective.

Joblessness will be eight to 10 per cent by the middle of 1975, Rinfret said. The housing and automaking industries will continue to decline.

WINDING UP — George Geesling, a new barber-hair stylist in Washington C.H., is located in Carey Phillips' old barbershop at 114 N. Fayette St. The old barberpole Phillips had when he ran the shop is still in working order. The novelty of the pole is that instead of being electric like the newer ones, it must be wound like a clock. This is the first thing George does in the morning - wind up for another day of business.

Austria continues aiding of Jews

VIENNA (AP) — Chancellor Bruno Kreisky, who leaves Saturday for an official visit to the United States, says Austria is determined to continue acting as a transfer point for Jewish emigres from the Soviet Union.

The flow of immigrants has never halted despite the closing last year of the Schoenau transit camp, the 62-year-old Socialist leader said in an interview with The Associated Press. Instead, other camps were arranged for them.

Two Arab terrorists seized three Soviet Jews in September 1973, shortly after their train crossed the Austrian border. They held them until Kreisky agreed to close the Schoenau transit camp through which the immigrants funneled to Israel.

Kreisky, who is of Jewish ancestry, was criticized by a number of foreign leaders, including Israeli officials.

"This has been completely misunderstood in the world," he said. "Everybody has been able to see in the meantime that we are determined to continue to be a transfer country."

He said some in Israel considered him a traitor for not automatically siding with Israel on every issue.

"I cannot allow any people, living in Israel or anywhere else in the world, to tell me, 'You are not an Austrian, you are a Jew,'" he said.

The present transit camp in a Vienna suburb is the third such facility. Mayor Leopold Gratz wants it moved because it is close to a densely populated housing project. Kreisky refused to say whether a fourth transit camp would be set up or where it might be located.

"I do not plan to give any hints to these people," he said, referring to terrorists.

Kreisky warned that if the flow of Jews out of the Soviet Union increases to 60,000 a year as a result of the recent Soviet-American agreement, "other countries must take over a share of the burden.

"Nobody has talked to us so far about an increase. If it takes place, I am sure we will be contacted. In that event, we will state clearly that the problem has become too big for us to carry alone."

About 40,000 Jews left the Soviet Union in 1973, and the number of departures is running somewhat lower this year.

Kreisky said Austria and the United States have such close ties that "there is no need for any concrete results of my present visit to the United States, because there are no open problems between the two countries."

By MARK THELLMANN

When most older barbers are saying, "Ya, I think I can shag your hair or give you a 'style' cut," 23-year-old George Geesling will tell you, "I can give the regular haircuts such as the flat-top, the crew-cut or the standard trim too."

The full-bearded Geesling, who sports longish hair and lives with his wife, Susan (Coldiron) and his two children, Jason and Dawn, at 4525 Ohio Rt. 753, has been open for business at 114 N. Fayette St., (where Carey Phillips ran his barber shop for 60 years), for the past eight weeks.

Geesling, a native of Washington C.H. and a 1969 graduate of Miami Trace High School, recently returned home (he had been working as a barber in Columbus for the past couple years), because he felt Washington C.H. needed a male hair stylist.

"Some men who would prefer to get their hair styled, instead of cut, are opposed to sitting in a beauty salon with a bunch of women," Geesling explained and continued, "I provide a barber shop which does hair styling to alleviate this problem."

Geesling must be fulfilling the need for a man's hair-stylist he thought existed in Washington C.H., for business is going well.

"I have tried to arrange my hours around the working man who can't get away at lunch for a quick haircut. I'm open from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday and Friday, 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Saturday from 9 a.m. through 5:30 p.m. and I'm closed on Thursday," Geesling announced.

Geesling graduated from Andrew's Barber College in Columbus in 1970 after 10 and a half months of training. He then completed 18 months of apprenticeship as a registered barber. This enabled him to take a test for his master's status in haircutting, which he was awarded.

Schooling isn't over for Geesling though. He explained there is something to attend at least once a month, such as seminars on haircutting and hair products and styling courses which keep a barber abreast of new trends.

"There are four main seminars every year which are held in different locations throughout the United States. These seminars give a barber a chance to meet people from all over America in the same profession and an opportunity to put one's skills on the line in haircutting competition which is part of the seminar," Geesling stated.

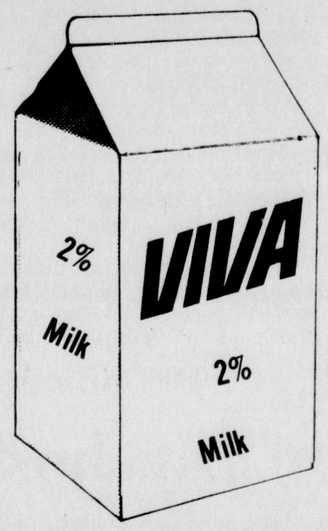

One problem which Geesling has been confronted with in his vocation, is ignorance when it comes to hair care.

"I've seen many customers walk out of a barbershop thrilled with their new hair style, only to return the next day and ask where it went after they shampooed. Many of the new stylish looks won't spring back after you dry your hair with a towel and run a comb through it. If you have oily or dry hair, you may have to use a shampoo to correct the condition and a hot-comb or hair dryer is usually a necessity to capture the same look your new hair style had when you left the barber shop," Geesling explained. "I am more than willing to educate the person to his own individual hair needs while I'm working on him. What they don't know, will hurt them and me."

A novelty at Geesling's barber shop is the antique barber pole outside the front door, which has been there ever since Carey Phillips had the shop. Unlike the new barberpoles, this one is wound up in order to rotate.

"That's the first thing I do every morning," Geesling stated, "I wind up for another day of business!"

Opinion And Comment

Openness: A matter of judgment

In the early days of the Ford administration, Vermont Royster of the Wall Street Journal raised an interesting question. While government openness is a fine thing and a goal to strive for, he asked, isn't some secrecy necessary? Aren't there occasions when government spokesmen simply cannot divulge information and must in fact present false stories?

Royster cited two episodes to illustrate the sort of thing he had in mind: President-elect Eisenhower's trip to Korea, which was kept secret from the press for security reasons; President Johnson's secret meeting with Kosygin in Gladsboro, N.J., which was announced only after it had begun. One thinks also of Henry Kissinger's trip to Peking to arrange for the Nixon visit, when it was feared that the entire enterprise might be scuttled by premature publicity. And then there were the false stories and misleading of the press by the Kennedy administration at the start of the Cuban missile crisis.

It could be argued with regard to each of these cases that for one reason or another it was in the public interest to withhold information. Our feeling is that the answer does not lie in absolutes but is a matter of degree and emphasis.

To shade a story or dissemble when the truth is actually known does not immediately place a White House press secretary in the Ronald Ziegler mold. The difference is in the trend. A generally open administration may on occasion legitimately seek to avoid publicity because of, say, possible adverse effects on delicate negotiations. That is not comparable to a situation in which secretive or misleading attitudes are the order of the day, with administration cards held close to the chest as a regular thing.

This is the way it often was in the Nixon administration, and no one wants a repetition of that. Nor does anyone want a government which publicizes every last piece of information, sensitive or not. One can hope that the present administration will fall somewhere between those two extremes.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . . By John P. Roche

The depression psychosis

That half of the United States population born since World War II may have been noticing some odd behavior recently among their elders. I have noticed some strange symptoms in myself: I have been jumpy, irritable, even slightly paranoic. I have suddenly, without notice, been hit by the conviction that events were conspiring against me.

Then I had a dream. Usually I awake without having the slightest recall of the content of my dreams, but this was different. Two men were at our front door with documents authorizing them to take back the television because we had defaulted on our payments! "But," I said, "we paid cash for it!" I was so irate I woke up and thus, I suppose, remembered.

The dream, however, clued me in to the source of my morbidity: Like millions of contemporaries, I have a "Depression Psychosis." I recall "Them" coming to our Brooklyn home and reclaiming the Majestic (or was it FADA?) radio on which we had been unable to keep up the time payments. It's a vivid memory: Mother crying and telling me they had come to take it for repairs. Then there was all that business of banks folding, unemployment and the politicians explaining there was nothing to worry about. At the age of seven or eight I was not particularly up on politics. But I knew we had something to worry about when Dad got fired.

The Depression imbedded itself in our collective subconscious. (Just as the War did: We are the generation accused of having a "Munich Complex.") And now the news keeps hitting us and jamming our radar. "What was that about the Franklin Bank?" "How could they get away with it?" "Do you think our bank's sound, our savings secure?" Then there is unemployment, which seems to be hitting autoworkers as well as stockbrokers. Oh Lord, are we in for it again?

An interesting index of how this mood has been internalized by the pre-World War II segment of the population was President Gerald Ford's speech specifically blaming the Democrats for the 1929 Crash. To the younger half of the populace this must have seemed like a reference to the Middle Ages. It was rather as if Ford had accused the Democrats of dragging the country into the Spanish-American War. But the President is one of Us. It is hard to see how he could blame "President" Al Smith for the bust, but understandable that he should not want to be featured as the contemporary Herbert Hoover. The over-45 sector of the electorate is notable for its high level of electoral participation. (According to the latest census figures there are 22 million people over 65 and they love to vote.)

Although I doubt if President Ford has nightmares in which bailiffs come to the White House to reclaim the TV, it is obvious that his sensitive political instincts have spotted the "Depression Psychosis." The trouble is that to date his remedy consists of a series of pep rallies which trigger precisely the wrong memories. When I saw that appalling speech to the Future Farmers (which friendly networks had tried to keep off the tube), I would have started burying gold under the fireplace — if I had any gold. As President Hoover said in Jan. 1932, "We cannot squander ourselves into prosperity. . . . the reduction of government expenses and the stability of government finance is the most fundamental step towards this end."

Of course, the United States in 1974 is radically different from what it was in 1930. And I personally have little reason to lie awake nights. Our only outstanding indebtedness is that precious 5 per cent mortgage plus whatever my wife charges on 30-day accounts. But I worry. (Once before I mentioned that I almost gave an auto salesman a heart attack by handing him a check for a car. I had an even more bizarre experience when we recently had to replace our TV. I wrote out a check, and the salesman looked baffled and shunted me off to a higher authority. To make a long story short, before I got that set in the car I was virtually subjected to a psychiatric examination! Apparently only nuts pay cash.)

At any rate, I hope the young will show some compassion towards the eccentric behavior of their parents and grandparents. A quite inconsequential bank failure could, for example, trigger a national twitch — such is the "Depression Psychosis."

Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good period for tackling jobs that require patience.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Especially favored now: educational pursuits, travel, research. Achievement is possible in out-of-the-ordinary ways and places.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A day in which to make new starts — in new directions; to lead rather than to follow. Stellar influences favor all pioneering efforts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Do not yield to indifference, nor lose confidence in a matter which seems stymied. Strengthen your hand with facts, your faith with courage.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A conflict between business and personal affairs may bring on some tension. You can counter by isolating the essential and getting it out of the way.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Keep emotions under stern control. Any tendency to "fly off the handle" could result in serious misunderstandings.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Curb an inclination to take on more than you can reasonably handle. You will only scatter energies and accomplish less in the long run.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A better day for your interests than you may realize. Waste no time getting started, but don't drive through, indifferent to the reactions of others.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely ambitious individual, endowed with an outstanding gift of leadership. If a man, you may join the armed forces, where you would make a commander extraordinary. You could also shine as a captain of industry or as a leader of state. The stage may attract you and, if so, your outgoing personality, coupled with your fine sense of drama, could help you to scale the heights in brilliant fashion. Your financial acumen is remarkable and this fact, teamed with your tremendous ambition, should bring you a considerable amount of material success.

C&SOE asks rate boosts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. has asked the state to approve rate hikes averaging 25 per cent for customers whose rates are not set by city or village ordinance.

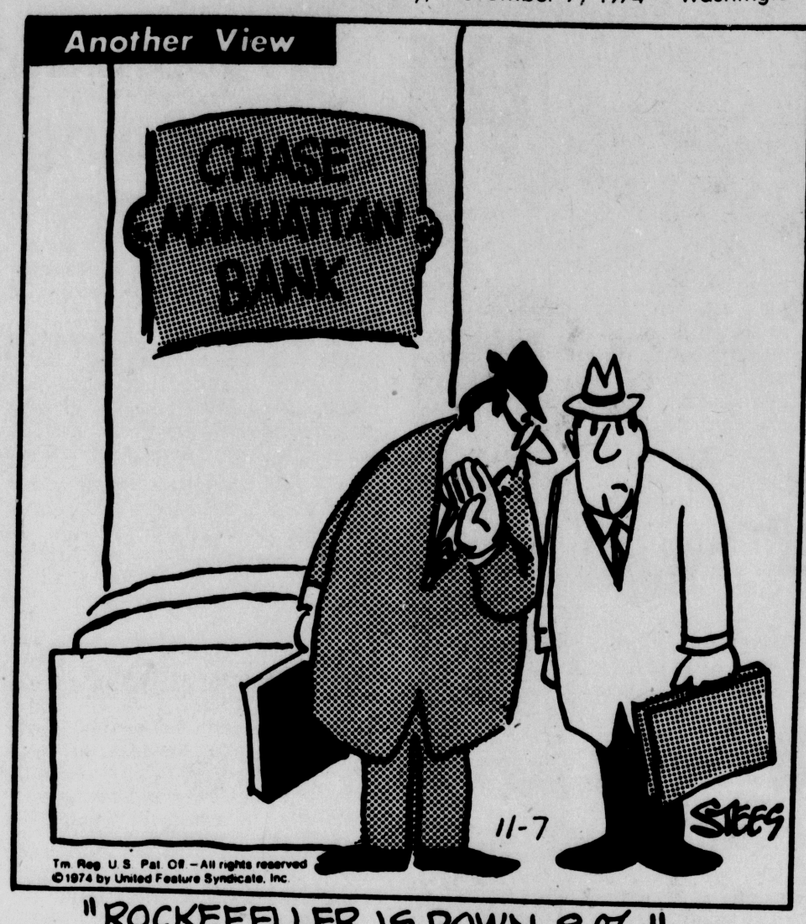

The company filed the request with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio on Wednesday. The PUCO must approve the hike before it would take effect.

The utility said about 37 per cent of its customers would be affected.

The application asks for rate increases totaling $26.5 million.

The proposal also includes higher rates for higher consumption in the summer months, the period of peak demand.

Ohio Perspective

Women's rights pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) -- Women comprise a majority of the population. But they're a minority of the work force and a much, much smaller minority of management.

That bothers the Ohio Civil Rights Commission, charged with enforcing state anti-discrimination laws. It also handles most federal discrimination complaints. They think it's more than coincidence.

Mrs. Marion R. Sweeney, civil rights commissioner, said only 9 per cent—or 58,000—of the nation's doctors and dentists are women. But 96 per cent of all nurses and dietitians—or 879,000—are women.

"Women have the aptitude and proven ability to be nurses, but are denied the opportunity to take the next step and become doctors," she said in a recent speech.

Women comprise 88 per cent of all bank tellers, but only 19 per cent of bank financial officers.

They comprise 70 per cent of teachers, but only 28 per cent of the college level teaching force.

There are 5.03 million women secretaries, receptionists, typists, office machine operators and file clerks, but only 132,000 women are officer managers.

"Even in the work categories in which women dominate, they are not in positions of authority," Mrs. Sweeney said. "These differences can not have occurred by chance."

Yet women are not casual workers, she said. Almost one million Ohio families rely on a woman's income to stay above the poverty level.

"The majority of women in the work force today are not there biding their time either awaiting death or marriage," she said. "They are there out of necessity. And for this reason, industry must reevaluate its policies toward women."

She said some employers mistakenly believe they don't have to worry about sex discrimination because the Equal Rights Amendment has not been ratified.

But, the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964, which applies to many employers, includes sections on sex discrimination, she said. And an Ohio law effective last Dec. 19 specifically forbids sex discrimination.

Of 3,866 complaints of bias filed with the commission during the last year, about 30 per cent charged sex discrimination, she said. There were 187 sex bias complaints in June alone.

And the commission is doing more than investigating complaints, she said. Investigatory teams are now looking at employers with a low proportion of women in management to see if it's just accidental, and they're not waiting for complaints.

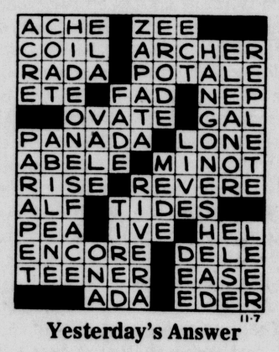

"Many have not shared in our country's economic and social progress," she said. "As we approach the 200th anniversary of this nation..., I still have hope for the day when women and men, persons of different color, and with different religious beliefs can say with conviction, 'My country tis of thee, land of the free.'"

(© 1974 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Fourteen years later, and he's still paying

DEAR ABBY: My husband has too much pride to ask his former wife to relinquish her alimony payments. We've discussed it and he is also opposed to taking the matter to court.

1. She received all the equity in a home, paid-up car, and all the furnishings as part of the original settlement.
2. Their children are now married, and financially independent.
3. His ex-wife is now in her forties, is employed full time, and earns a better than average income.
4. He has paid alimony promptly for 14 years. I would appreciate your thinking.

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SEC: You've stated that you have discussed the matter with your husband, and he's content to keep the status quo, so my thinking is not likely to influence him.

Alimony has been appropriately called, "the high cost of leaving." Perhaps unconsciously your husband feels that it's not too high a price to pay for what he bought.

DEAR ABBY: For the last eight years I have been 'engaged" to a married man. I know you've heard this story a thousands times, but he says we will be married as soon as he can get a divorce. Lately I am beginning to wonder.

He is 42 and I am 29. When I met him he said he was separated from his wife. Later on he said he was trying for a divorce but she was contesting it.

He claims he lives like a gypsy, staying with one relative after another, and sometimes with friends. I have never had a phone number where he can be reached in case of emergency. And no address either.

He owns his own business and has given me some expensive gifts, but I want to get married and live a normal life. I used to tell my family and friends that I was too young to get married, but at 29, that's ridiculous excuse.

How do you figure this, Abby? Am I just a slow learner? I promise to take any advice you give me. Please, help me.

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: I think you've been used. Don't waste any more of your valuable time on him, dear. Quietly relocate, and make sure he doesn't have your phone number or address.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is a lovely, 24-year-old, college-educated woman who is in love with a man who absolutely does not believe in marriage.

They have been living together for three years, and now they want to start a family. We are heartsick and don't know what to do.

He has no family, but we have. My parents would suffer even more than we if they knew that their beloved grandchild (my daughter) had a child out of wedlock. Should we say they were secretly married, and try to carry it off, or forget it?

We have no one to ask advice from as we are too ashamed to have anyone know.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: You are not responsible for the decisions of your 24-year-old daughter, so hold up your heads and get over the idea that you have something about which to be ashamed. Do not lie to your parents or anyone else. It may ease your burden to know that you have plenty of company.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN DEEP IN HIGHLAND PARK, ILL": There are exceptions, but a good rule to follow is: Don't lend money to a person who owes you money unless he has made an honest effort to pay at least part of what he owes you.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, the Bolsheviks overthrew the shortlived Kerensky government in Russia and Nikolai Lenin became the new head of government.

On this date —

In 1659, the Pyrenees were fixed as the boundary between France and Spain, ending a 24-year war.

In 1885, the Canadian Pacific railroad was completed.

In 1918, a false report that Germany had accepted World War I peace terms set off great excitement.

In 1944, Franklin Roosevelt was elected to a fourth term as president.

Five years ago: Sixty-five miners were killed in an explosion in a gold mine in South Africa.

One year ago: In an address to the nation, President Nixon said he had no intention of resigning.

4-H roundup

BY JEANNIE ANDERSON
4-H Program Assistant

Would you like to learn a crafty craft? Most magic tricks are professional secrets, but here's one I'll let you in on. It's so far out, you'll have trouble believing it really works. Yet, it's so simple and safe that anyone, even your youngest 4-H'er, can do it. The secret is just this: certain plastics contract under ordinary oven heat, and as they do, they also become thicker. So what? Well, knowing this, you can create art miniatures for mere decorations, or for useful items. Interested? Let's start.

First, round up some clear acetate. How? Well, you can purchase it in sheets from a hobby shop, or you can use the lids from cottage cheese or any clear container — remember, only the clear ones, and never the white ones. Sometimes, gift boxes have large, see-through lids, which may do. If you buy acetate sheets, you know the plastic will contract evenly. But, let's assume you've scrounged the acetate from other sources. You can test a scrap in the oven to see how well it will work. There's absolutely no danger in this. If you've guessed wrong, discard the plastic and try another piece. Testing process is the same as described later for shrinking artworks.

Next, get several permanent marking pens in assorted colors. One should be black for outlining. Again, be certain the labels say "permanent", as water-base inks will not work. You'll also need scissors, a piece of aluminum foil (to rest the plastic on, while heating it), an oven, or a sandwich toaster oven, and finally a spray can of white enamel.

Now for your design. With your black marking pen, draw a design on a piece of acetate. This may be a free-hand creation, or a design you trade from a picture. Remember, though, that the whole piece of plastic is going to contract to about one-fourth its original size, so select or make your design large enough to still show detail when it is small.

Your black outline makes up the front side. After you've finished it, turn the plastic over and on the back, fill in areas you want colored, using colored marking pens. The colors will appear thin and faded, but don't worry. The heat and contraction will concentrate and enrich them.

Now, cut around your design with scissors. If you plan to hand the item (for instance a key chain holder, a gift tag, a pendant), punch a hole now. Remember the contraction: make the hole big enough. . . . a paper punch works fine.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place your trimmed plastic art on a piece of aluminum foil on a rack in the oven, or on the tray in your toaster oven, and close the door. This is when the magic occurs. If your oven has a glass in the door, you can watch the fascinating process. As the acetate heats, it contracts through contortions, into torturous shapes, kind of all wadded up. Then, like magic, it just straightens itself out again. All of this takes only a minute or a minute and a half. If your oven door has no window, peek in now and then to check progress. When the piece has contracted and flattened, it's finished. Remove the foil (with item on it), and place it on a countertop. Set an oven-proof glass cake pan on top of the plastic for a few minutes to keep it flat while it cools and you're basically finished. Sometimes, a coat of white enamel sprayed on the back brings out colors and depth, so appraise each piece as you create it.

Creative uses for this oven magic are endless. We're sure you will come up with lots of ideas we haven't thought about.

4-H arc welding club to be organized here

A 4-H club for arc welding is being organized at the Landmark meeting room, 319 S. Fayette St. at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, according to Jack Sommers, 4-H extension agent.

The club is open to any young person 14 to 18 years old.

In addition to learning basic welding skills, members taking the project will be involved in welding safety and have a chance to learn advanced skills such as vertical and overhead arc welding.

Two units of the project are available. The first unit gives the beginner an opportunity to learn how to successfully make basic welds such as butt, lap and fillet. Unit A also covers different types of welders, rods and metals.

More experienced welders may be interested in Unit B which offers instruction on difficult skills. These include vertical and overhead welds, working with specialized metals, and using the carbon arc torch for brazing. In addition Unit B will involve use of acetylene equipment. In both units members enrolled in the welding project can design and construct useful tools for home, farm and shop use.

Older youths interested in the welding project should contact the County Extension office (335-1150) or come to the organizational meeting on Tuesday. Advisors for the group are Jim McClure and Roger Thompson.

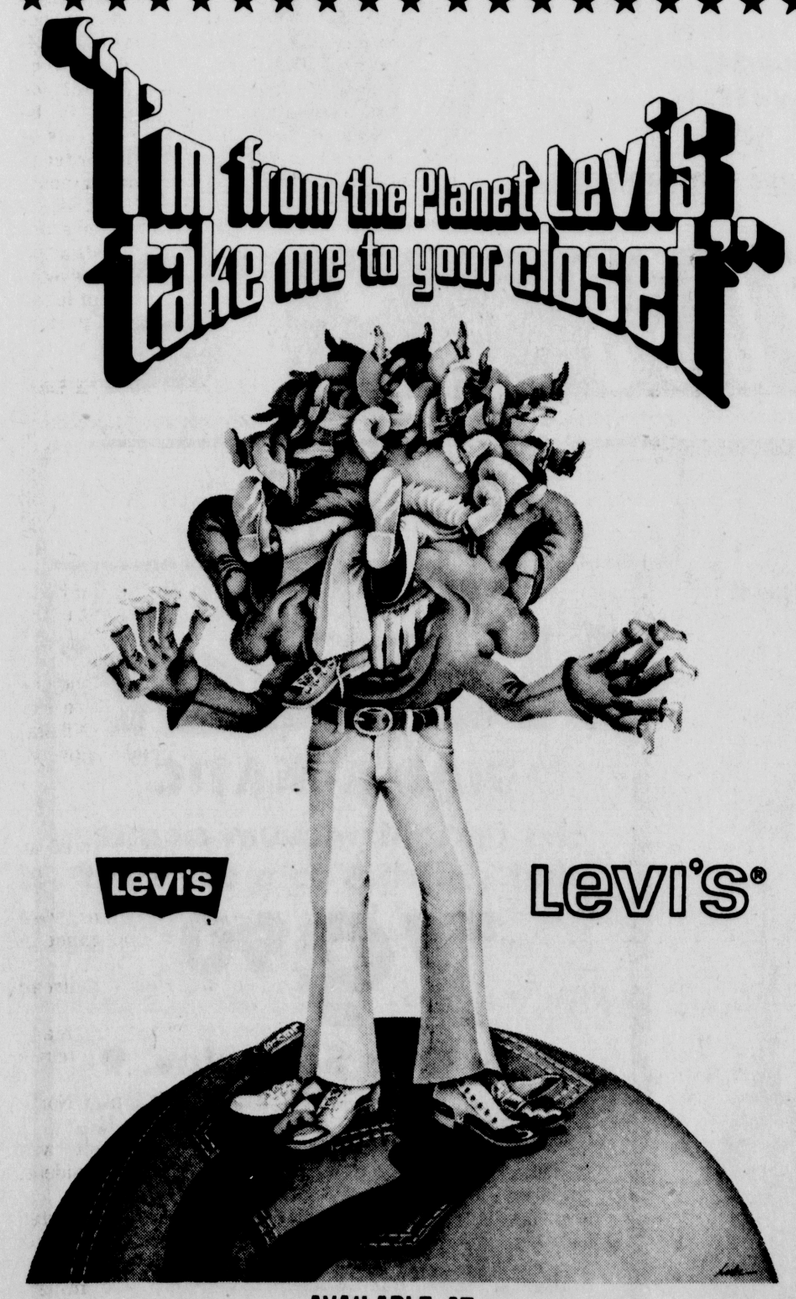

Frank Sinatra's house for sale

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — There isn't a "For Sale" sign on the front lawn, but singer Frank Sinatra has put his 2½-acre estate on the market.

For $1.75 million, a homeowner can have the mansion, five guest houses, a tennis court, two swimming pools, a whirlpool bath, sauna and heliport. Terms are available, according to the realtor.

It seems the entertainer wants to move to Idyllwild in the San Jacinto Mountains west of here.

In the Chinook language the word chee means new or fresh while the word chako means to come. The term chee-chako was applied to newcomers into Yukon at the time of the Klondike Gold Rush of 1898.

Plain Dealer section published

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Plain Dealer is continuing its efforts to publish despite a strike by members of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild that has halted operations at the Plain Dealer plant since Friday.

The morning newspaper's request for an injunction to force nonstriking craft unions to cross the Guild picket lines and return to their jobs is in its fourth day today in federal court.

U.S. District Court Judge Ben C. Green continued the case Wednesday after the third day of testimony.

Ohio lottery to be best

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the Ohio Lottery Commission said he expects the state lottery to be "the best lottery anywhere in the United States."

David F. Leahy said, however, that the lottery is just like any other "big retail business" with all the same initial problems in buying, selling and operating.

Addressing about 65 businessmen attending the 52nd annual meeting of the Ohio Council of Merchants, Leahy, a former council president, said the "product is the game.

"Although the lottery does push people a certain amount to take a chance," Leahy said, "the winning ticket is a passport to a new life to those who win."

The lottery ticket sales began Aug. 12, Leahy said, and during the first 12 weeks, 54 million tickets worth $27 million were sold. "There have been 240,000 $20 winners, all eligible for the million dollar drawing," Leahy said.

Beta Omega reports on Convention

The business meeting of the Beta Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha took place in the home of Mrs. Wayne Clark.

Members opened the meeting with the Opening Ritual, which was followed by the 'pledge pinning ceremony' conducted by Mrs. Gary McMurray, president and Mrs. Dennis Hagler, vice president. New members pledge during the ceremony were Mrs. Dennis Holloway, Mrs. Chuck Winkle, and Mrs. Lynn Preston.

Members judged candidates for the Little Miss Snow Princess contest last Saturday and Mrs. Hagler announced the final judging will be held at Eastside School noon Saturday.

All volunteered to help with the TB Skin Testing program at Miami Trace High School and the Washington Court House Middle School.

Mrs. Lester Bower discussed the Craft Auction to be held December 2 at her home. Each is to donate four items. Mrs. Kenneth Everhart will serve as the auctioneer.

Mrs. McMurray reported on the Ohio State Convention. Beta Omega received the State Philanthropic Award for the most money donated to the American Cancer Society, the group's State philanthropic project. This was accomplished through the sale of flowers on 'Daffodil Day.' Mrs. Ralph Leeds, won the Distinguished Athene Award for her outstanding educational programs, and Mrs. Charles Moore, Beta Omega's 'Outstanding Girl,' won third place as the State Outstanding Girl. The chapter also received a gold link award.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Jack Elliott, Mrs. Everhart, Mrs. Hagler, Mrs. Harry Haines, Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. McMurray, Mrs. Holloway, Mrs. Winkle, Mrs. Preston, and Mrs. Steven Jennings.

Spaghetti supper enjoyed by class

The Couples Class and their families of First Presbyterian Church enjoyed a spaghetti supper Saturday evening in Persinger Hall at the church. Fall flower arrangements decorated the tables and the meal was prepared by George Robinson, Sunday School superintendent, and other men of the class.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Richard Rankin presented an interesting program with slides and narration on some of the old homes, especially those over 100 years old in Fayette County.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keiser and Rajean and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Marchant, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Heironimus, John and Don, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dorn and Jill, Mr. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Baker and Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer and Amy, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunn and Dennis, Pat and Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Wheat, Don, Doug, Becky and Debbie, Mrs. Bill Carson and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bishop, David and Danny, Mrs. Richard Rankin and guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Fletcher, Mrs. Don Robinette and Mrs. Wood.

Note to brides: when you are buying kitchenware, remember that pots and pans with rounded corners and few seams or crevices simplify dishwashing.

BY MARK THELLMANN

It was a quiet night - or rather morning. The Courthouse clock could be made out to say 1 a.m., if you squinted your eyes together real tight. The only sound came from someone swishing a broom back and forth in the doorway of Kroger's store.

Across from Kroger's on S. Main Street, a warm glow was emitted from Henry's Pastry Shop. The nocturnal employes of the grocery store weren't the only ones up.

Inside Henry's a man was running around beating on huge piles of dough, sprinting around the table he was working over to a cigarette burning slowly in an ashtray in the next room, fleeing back to the dough pile to roll it out into a giant sheet which the man punctured with a doughnut cutter, slashed into ribbons with a knife and squeezed into palm-size patties; all the time his eyes flashing anxiously from his work to the clock on the opposite wall and back again to his work.

WHAT WAS this chaos in the dead of night? It was Gary Sword's way of running a business which provided the normal people, sound asleep in their beds at this time, with a quick, tasty breakfast when they would appear at his shop some five hours later, eyes bleary and half-closed, with the sun coming up behind them.

It wasn't always like this though. Sword went through a brief period in his life when he was able to stifle his business interests, which emerged when he was a boy carrying newspapers for the Record-Herald.

Before he leaped into his bakery career, he worked as a jailor-dispatcher with the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, still keeping strange hours, but leading a relatively normal life. This lasted for three years and then one fateful morning, he wandered into Henry's to purchase a sweet roll and Ronald Kelley, owner of the business for the past 11 years, mentioned he was thinking of retiring.

Sword took a bite out of the sweet-roll he had purchased, counted his change and said, "This is the business for me!

"Kelley smiled and replied, "Come on in tonight and I'll start training you!"

Sword didn't jump into his new found vocation as cold as it may sound. He developed his business instincts by working for the J. C. Penney Co. through distributive education at Washington High School, where he graduated in 1966 and then did a four-year stint in the U.S. Army, finding time to work in a men's clothing store on the side. After his discharge, Sword worked for awhile in the Washington C. H. Police Department as a dispatcher and later transferred to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

During his "peace officer" days, he still felt the urge to return to private enterprise and "the day of the fateful sweetroll" answered his dreams.

Sword put in his resignation at the Sheriff's Department and trained under Kelley whenever he was away from the dispatcher's desk. His apprenticeship lasted two months. Then Kelley, who had been in the bakery business 47 years (since the age of 16), agreed with Sword, he was ready to go it alone; knowing Kelley would not be far away for fatherly advice, occasional trouble-shooting and a strong shoulder to cry on if anything went wrong. Sword then went from a man in blue to a man in white.

When asked why the name "Henry's" being the original owner was named Ronald Kelley, Sword took a last drag on the cigarette and ground it out in the ashtray, ran back to the dough and punched it a couple more times, glanced at the clock, drew a deep breath and explained, "Mr. Kelley originally owned a bakery in Dayton which was called 'Henry's.' When he set up his operation here in Washington C.H., he decided to let the name stick" and it still will. I have no intention of calling it 'Gary's.'

SWORD, who has been on his own in the bakery since Monday, works feverishly from 1 a.m. until 5:30 a.m., in order to produce 45 dozen assorted pastries Monday through Thursday and 60-70 dozen on the weekend; however, he is not alone in the effort. In June of 1967, he married Darlene Anderson, who is his partner in the business.

Darlene, at this time was rushing around as much as Gary, but doing it less conspicuously, which the natural

FROM BAKING TO BUSINESS — The day has begun and people have been stopping in since 5:30 a.m. (when Henry's Pastry Shop opens), to purchase the goodies Gary Sword and his wife created from 1 a.m. through 5:30 a.m. How's that for freshness?

Marathon reports oil discovery

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The Marathon Oil Co. has announced that three of four wells it has drilled in a new least tract off the Louisiana coast have struck multiple oil and natural gas zones.

Marathon said a test well showed production of 5.9 million cubic feet of natural gas and 744 barrels of oil per day. Arrangements for design of a drilling and production platform are underway, the Ohio-based compahy said.

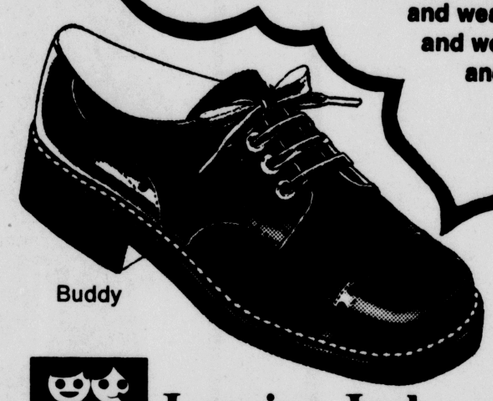

The tract was leased from the federal government on March 28. Marathon owns 25 per cent of the lease.

The first known American printing of the popular song "Yankee Doodle" was a part of Benjamin Carr's "Federal Overture" in Baltimore in 1795. The origin of the song is unknown.

grace of a woman allows her to do. She also trained for two months by husband Gary's side, under Kelley.

Sword checked the wall clock again and slowed his pace to a fast walk in a new direction - toward the door. The time was 5:30 a.m. and the lock was slid back. The sunrise was bringing people with empty stomachs in the direction of S. Main Street.

Completion of the task had exorcised the demon which had pushed the man so relentlessly the past four and one-half hours. The bell above the front door made a dull clang as a breeze of chill morning air entered with the first patron.

Gary Sword's eyes lit up and his face broke into a wide grin. "Good morning sir! What can I get you today?"

Bellefontaine closing set

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Bellefontaine schools will close 10 days early for the holidays in December as the result of the third defeat of a 5.9-mill operating levy on Tuesday, Supt. Harold Martin said.

The levy was rejeced by a vote of 2,852 to 1,984. Similar levies were turned down at special elections in May and August, Martin said.

A deficit of more than $53,000 is projected for the end of the year, Martin said. By law, the levy cannot be submitted to voters for a fourth time in one year.

The superintendent said he was notified Wednesday morning by the state that the district will have insufficient operating funds as of Dec. 10. The state auditor's office must certify that fact to the state Education Department before an order to close can be issued.

Martin said schools will reopen in January when the district can again borrow money.

Socialists plan more candidacies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Nancy Brown Lazar says the Socialist Workers party plans to run more candidates to capitalize on the strength that showed up in Tuesday's Ohio election returns.

Ms. Brown, as she prefers to be known, said Wednesday the 90,000 votes she received as a candidate for governor indicate that the party is stronger than most people think.

She said the party will run campaigns in the state, including a candidate for mayor of Cleveland.

And she said she will "continue to travel around the state and talk about the Socialist Worker ideas and what we think should be the changes in society."

She said she didn't see herself playing the spoiler's role in Tuesday's election, in which former Gov. James A. Rhodes, a Republican, upset Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Ms. Brown said she couldn't choose between Gilligan and Rhodes, because "I think that both of them are totally the same.

"I think if Gilligan were elected," she added, "he would have carried out the same exact policies that Rhodes will carry out."

Coal Grove officials face charges

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — The mayor, the police chief and the administrator of the Village of Coal Grove face a preliminary hearing in Lawrence County Common Pleas Court today on a variety of charges including embezzlement.

A Lawrence County Grand Jury indicted the trio on Wednesday following five days of testimony from more than 60 witnesses.

County Prosecutor Lloyd Moore said the investigation began last spring after a state audit of the village indicated an alleged shortage of funds.

Mayor Carey said he had "no comment, no comment whatsoever," when contacted Wednesday night. The other two officials were unavailable for comment.

Fertilizer talk rapped by official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a fertilizer trade association says it is "cruel and misleading" to suggest significant amounts of chemicals could be made available for food production if Americans would desist from feeding their lawns and golf courses.

Edwin M. Wheeler, president of The Fertilizer Institute, said only 3.5 per cent of all U.S. fertilizer is used for non-farm purposes.

"The amount of non-farm fertilizer used in the United States is very small compared to the amounts produced or used on farms in this country or, for that matter, needed by the developing nations," Wheeler said in a statement.

Cyclists held in slaying

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Three members of a motorcycle club are being held and one has been charged with aggravated murder in connection with the torch-slaying of a Hamilton man Wednesday.

The body of Michael Wayne Settles, 18, a self-employed siding installer, was still burning when police arrived on a rural road in suburban Fairfield Township.

Sheriff Harold Carpenter said the victim had been in a fight Friday and was scheduled to appear in court Wednesday on disorderly conduct charges.

Police charged Curtis Cash, 25, in the slaying. Two other members of the Iron Horsemen Motorcycle Club were held for questioning.

Carpenter said the victim had been shot three times and was dead when dropped from a car. The body was set on fire afterward, he said.

Arraignments held for 13 defendants

Thirteen persons appeared in Fayette County Common Pleas Court Wednesday to be arraigned on indictments rendered by a Fayette County grand jury Oct. 25.

Eleven of the defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges levied against them; the other two sought continuances of the hearing until a later time. A number of the defendants were appointed counsel because of their lack of funds to obtain counsel on their own.

Attorney John C. Bryan, who represented Hurles, requested a continuance of the proceedings so that he might further investigate the matter before entering a plea. Judge Evelyn W. Coffman granted the request.

Each of the other defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges against them. It was noted at the arraignment that John H. Roszmann, representing the state, would file a motion to consolidate the trials of the four men into one jury trial. A hearing on that motion will be held in the near future and a trial date or dates will be finalized after the hearing.

DANNIE M. HOAGLAND, 34, and his wife, Audrey, 31, asked that they be appointed counsel. Robert L. Simpson was named to handle their case and entered pleas of not guilty for each. They were arrested by city police Oct. 18 in connection with the burglary of an E. Paint Street residence.

Lawrence Snyder, 39, of New Holland, charged with theft in connection with the same incident, requested appointed counsel. Pat Harkins was appointed and also entered a not guilty plea.

Charles O. Varney, 36, of 331 Rose Ave., pleaded not guilty to a charge of grand theft. He allegedly was responsible for the theft of two shotguns from the K-Mart store on Columbus Avenue. He requested a jury trial.

Simpson was also appointed counsel for Lawrence E. Shafer, a Tennessee resident, who was charged by the Ohio Highway Patrol with carrying a concealed weapon, and Wayne D. Penwell, 19, of 713 Sycamore St., who is charged with receiving property stolen from a Staunton resident. Simpson entered not guilty pleas for both defendants.

Charles E. Tillis, 19, of 513 S. Fayette St., entered a not guilty plea through his appointed counsel Dennis P. Ulrich. He is charged with forgery.

Leonard L. Kelley, 23, Chillicothe, who is charged with possession of stolen property, was granted a continuance of his arraignment so that he might obtain his own counsel.

Martindale named new store manager

Randy Martindale, 24, Ohio 38-N, has been named manager of the new Kaufman's Decorating Centre, located at the corner of Court and Hinde streets.

Martindale, a 1969 graduate of Washington Senior High School, was general manager of the Midwest Stain Sales, division of Stoner Industries, Columbus, for three years before accepting the local position.

As general manager for the Midwest Stain Sales, Martindale was in charge of the entire distribution of Olympic Stain exterior and interior coating throughout Ohio.

Martindale said he was selected for the appointment by J.O. Garringer, owner of Kaufman's Decorating Centre, who was one of his many customers for Midwest Stain Sales.

He also worked 14 months for the Wilson Lumber and Building Center, 210 W. Oak St., prior to joining the Columbus firm.

As the manager of the new store, scheduled to open the first week of December, Martindale plans to expand his sales staff to five people and operate "as a one-stop, complete decorating center for the homeowner, contractor and dealer in all types of decorating needs from wall paints and covering to decoupage materials."

RANDY MARTINDALE

He is married to the former Janice Dean of Washington C.H. and has two children, Angela, 5, and Bryan, 3. He is also an executive officer of Squadron 1206 of the Civil Air Patrol.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to Turkey has been canceled, caretaker Premier Bulent Ecevit announced today. Kissinger was expected Friday.

Greenfield area men indicted for shooting

HILLSBORO — Two Greenfield area men were indicted on three counts each Wednesday by the Highland County grand jury in connection with a shooting incident last month at the residence of a Greenfield police officer.

Vernon R. Jenkins, 23, of Greenfield, and Rex A. Erskine, 21, Rt. 2, Greenfield, were indicted on charges of felonious assault, discharing a firearm from a motor vehicle and malicious vandalism.

Both have been freed on $5,000 bond.

Jenkins, an employe of the Greenfield service department and a former auxiliary police officer, and Erskine were charged in connection with a shooting incident at the residence of Greenfield Police Sgt. Gregory H. Hadley, Ohio 28, just west of Greenfield. The two defendants were arrested by Greenfield police officers and Highland County sheriff's deputies.

Sgt. Hadley was preparing to report for duty at the Greenfield Police Department when the shooting incident occurred. He and his wife and two young children were in the residence when the shotgun blast was fired, apparently from an auto.

No one was injured and the only property damaged was the front door of the home.

Intoxication charge filed

Washington C. H. police officers didn't stop Carl E. Aber, 58, of 604 Clinton Ave., when they observed him stumbling down N. Fayette Street at 2:10 a.m. Thursday — they didn't have to.

According to the report, Aber was heading for the police station and upon his entrance announced to dispatcher Steve Deere and Specialist Dennis Brown, "I can't find a way home and I can't walk!"

Specialist Brown was in complete agreement and Aber was charged with intoxication.

He was incarcerated in city jail in lieu of $100 bond and no longer worried about a ride home.

One non-traffic case aired in Muny Court

A Washington C. H. man was fined $80 on traffic charges Wednesday by Municipal Court Judge Omar Schwart while an area woman was fined $50 and drew a suspended sentence in a non-traffic case.

Robert L. Lowe, 27, Ohio 41-S, was fined $50 on a charge of failure to yield the right of way and $30 on a charge of no operator's license after he pleaded guilty to both charges.

Linda Helms, 26, Atlanta, was fined $50 with a three-month sentence suspended on the condition of two years good conduct after she pleaded no contest to a charge of passing a bad check at Craig's Department Store.

A charge of passing a bad check against Marsha Schmidt, 32, Clarksburg, was dismissed with the costs to be paid by the defendant.

George E. Howland, Rt. 6, forfeited $34 bond on a charge of littering on the bank of Paint Creek, filed by state game protector Jerry F. Cremeans.

Shirley A. Oates, 39, of 514 E. Market St., was fined $5 after pleading guilty to failure to stop for a red light.

In one other bond forfeiture, William J. Jaeckels, 48, of 832 S. Main St., forfeited $25 on a charge of speeding.

Armed revolt breaks out in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A radio broadcast said an armed uprising broke out today against the three-year-old dictatorial regime of President Hugo Banzer.

The station, Radio Panamericana, broadcast the report of the revolt for only a short while and then stopped, reportedly under pressure from the Interior Ministry.

There was no immediate government comment and it was not known if there was any shooting.

Radio Panamericana said the revolt broke out in Santa Cruz, 330 miles east of La Paz, and that the leaders proclaimed victory there.

It said the uprising was staged by elements of the leftist Nationalist Revolutionary Movement and the Socialist Falange, a rightist group.

The broadcast said former Health Minister Carlos Valverde Barberi and Gen. Julio Prado were leading the revolt.

Radio Panamericana had joined other Bolivian radio stations in a "National Liberation Network" that accused Banzer of "maladministration" and said his followers were "lackeys."

The network said the rebels would revive nationalism in Bolivia, and that Barberi was their "undisputed leader."

The reported uprising was the latest in more than a dozen plots against Banzer's harshly anti-Communist regime.

Last January the country was plunged into economic turmoil and violence when workers struck to protest inflation that has doubled basic commodity prices.

Banzer, a former army general, proclaimed himself president three years ago after the bloody overthrow of a leftist regime headed by President Juan Jose Torres, another general.

Holy smoke!

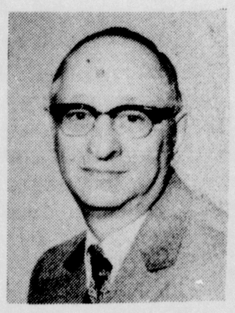

The New Holland Church of Christ and Christian Union caught fire at 7 p.m. Wednesday, when the furnace exploded.

The New Holland Fire Department put out the blaze and reported moderate damage. Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies were also on hand to assist.

Money Matters

Four Ways To Buy What You Want or Need:

If you NEED what you WANT - and, for example, if that "need" is a $250 appliance (or whatever), consider these 4 ways in which you can buy:

1. - CASH - your total cost is $250

2. - 2 YEAR CREDIT UNION PLAN - at about an annual percentage rate of 12 per cent, your cost will be $282.45.

3. - STORE PAYMENT (2-year installment) - Your annual percentage rate of 18 per cent will result in a total cost of $299.55

4. - FINANCE COMPANY (2-year-loan) - with an annual percentage rate of 30 per cent your total cost for the $250 item will be $335.47.

Now, how much do you need that $250 item - and how are you going to handle the cost?

One more thing: Before you do anything, talk with your Banker. He may well have some good ideas as to how you can have your cake, and eat it too - and at less cost than you'd think!

Congratulations to David Duff, Randy Beekman, Alan Binegar, Don Davis, Bret Taylor and Ken Moon for being chosen to attend the FFA Convention in Kansas City. And Congratulations to Ted Waddle for receiving the highest honor conferred at the FFA Convention.

Especially true is the fact that at our bank, your friendly First National Bank of Washington Court House, we are in business to help people get the most for their money, to save and spend wisely. Don't hesitate to talk things over with us, BEFORE you get involved in any financial transaction!

Immigrant finds U.S. not starving

LOCUST, N.J. (AP) — Simas Kudirka came to the United States expecting to find his new country wracked by starvation.

That was what propaganda in the Soviet Union told him to expect, the 44-year-old Lithuanian seaman who was freed from a treason sentence said Wednesday, his first full day in the United States.

He said he wanted some firsthand information, so he went shopping to see if there was a shortage of food and to find out whether the quality of food in this country was poor.

"That certainly is not the case," said Kudirka, whose Soviet prison diet was such that his teeth began to rot.

Soviet propaganda depicts the United States as gripped by massive unemployment and starvation and its workers as under the thumb of factory supervisors "who want to squeeze out the last bit of blood from workers for their personal gains and who, with automation ... want to get rid of workers," Kudirka said.

He attempted to escape to the United States four years ago only to be returned to the Soviets by the Coast Guard. He was declared a U.S. citizen while in a Soviet prison.

He is temporarily staying with one of the families who worked for his release to the United States. Kudirka, his wife, two children and mother arrived Tuesday from Moscow.

Still groping with adjustment, he said he has to "find out what I'm going to do for a job, what my wife is going to do for a job, about school for my children and where we are going to live."

Kudirka said in an interview conducted through an interpreter that the Russians were stopped twice from killing him when he attempted to escape to the United States by boarding a U.S. Coast Guard cutter from his Soviet fishing trawler anchored off the Massachusetts coast and asking for asylum.

When the Russians were permitted by the cutter's captain to come aboard and arrest him, they tried "to hang me with a telephone wire (electric cable) and a Coast Guardsman stopped them by separating them and trying to get them to stop it.

"After I was back on the Russian ship, they tried to kill me until someone screamed that they had to stop because I had to be brought back," Kudirka said.

He said he was shipped back to his port in Lithuania on another boat in a room used for sailors who go insane at sea.

Kudirka said he was convicted for treason and sent to prison for a 10-year term.

He was declared a U.S. citizen two months after the State Department gave the same status to his Brooklyn-born mother, who was taken to Lithuania by her parents before World War II.

Rain hits northwest

By The Associated Press

Rain splattered into the Pacific Northwest, the interior Northeast and parts of the South today, but most of the nation in between was fair and pleasant.

Up to an inch of rain soaked sections of the Northwest during the night as a fresh surge of cold air dipped into the region. Showers ranged eastward into Montana and turned to snow at higher elevations.

Drizzle dampened an area from Ohio and West Virginia to New York and Pennsylvania, and clouds spreading over the Southern Plains spilled rain across much of Texas and into portions of Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Clear and cool weather from the Rockies through the western Great Lakes region tumbled temperatures into the 30s and 40s over most of the nation's interior overnight. Similarly crisp readings dipped well into the South.

THANKSGIVING CONCERT — The Miami Trace High School vocal and instrumental departments will present a free Thanksgiving concert of religious music at 8 p.m. Nov. 25, at Grace United Methodist Church, corner of North and Market streets. Featured on the program will be: the Symphonic Choir (pictured), the Women's Glee Club, the Miami Trace Folksingers and the Brass Choir and Woodwind Ensemble. Elsie Hill will be the pianist and Mrs. Gene Hughes will play the organ.

GOP eyes ways to rebound following election losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three moderate Republican senators say the GOP must broaden its base and offer specific economic programs if it hopes to rebound from off-year election defeats that left its national strength at a 10-year low.

The statements from Sens. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland came as President Ford and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield pledged cooperation Wednesday despite a general expectation of conflict over economic programs.

Democratic leaders, meanwhile, gave every indication they will set their own agenda, headed by national health insurance, tax reform and an expanded public service jobs program, when the 94th Congress meets in January.

"There is an inherent weakness in the entire structure of the Republican party," Weicker declared. "They are not going to win any election until they broaden the base of their party.

Percy, sounding a bit like the presidential contender he hoped to be before Ford succeeded Richard M. Nixon, said, "The Republican party can rebound, but only by developing a distinct set of programs that realistically attack the problems, especially the crunching economic problems, that confront us all."

Mathias, saying that he had received support from blacks, labor and ethnic groups in his re-election, said he intends to see that the national GOP "does reach out" to such groups.

Turnout for this election was the lightest for any year since at least 1946, with an unofficial count showing 38 per cent of the voting age population cast ballots.

Nearly complete election returns showed Democrats fell short of their predicted preelection gains by the narrowest of margins, especially in the Senate, where Republicans led three Senate races by a total of less than 1,300 votes.

GOP victories in all three — North Dakota, New Hampshire and Nevada — would keep the net Democratic Senate gain to three, from 58 to 61. Democratic victories could swell the gains as high as six, to 64.

In two other Senate races, one led by each party, the margin was less than 5,000 votes. And in five governorship contests, too, the unofficial margin was less than 5,000.

This was the standing:

—Senate: Democrats captured four Republican seats, in Florida, Colorado, Kentucky and Vermont, but trailed for one in Nevada they now hold. That left them with an assured 61 seats in the new Senate, the 11th straight under Democratic control.

—House: The net Democratic gains, exceeding pre-election forecasts, stood at 43, meaning the new House will have at least 291 Democrats. Three races remained undecided. The Democratic total barely missed matching the 295 in Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 landslide, the largest total won by either party since 1936.

—Governors: Democrats captured nine, while losing three to the Republicans and a fourth to an independent, in Maine. Another Democrat trailed, indicating the new standing would be 36 Democrats, 13 Republicans and one independent, surpassing the 35 Democrats elected in 1958.

The closest Senate contest was in North Dakota, where Republican Sen. Milton R. Young and former Democratic Gov. William L. Guy finished in a virtual dead heat. The Associated Press unofficial tally put Guy 14 votes ahead, while the News Election Service said Young led by 16, pending an official tally of the 229,000 votes.

In two other contests, the margins were a bit bigger, but not much.

In Oklahoma, Republican Sen. Henry Bellmon hung on to squeeze by Democrat Ed Edmondson by 3,290 votes.

In three other states, Democrats captured Republican seats by more. In Colorado, Gary W. Hart swamped Republican Sen. Peter H. Dominick. In Kentucky, Gov. Wendell H. Ford ousted Republican Sen. Marlow W. Cook. And in Florida, Democrat Richard B. Stone defeated Republican Jack Eckerd.

In the governor's races, too, Republicans appeared beneficiaries in close contests, leading or capturing three of the five races where margins were less than 5,000.

In Alaska, the outcome of a close race between Republican Jay Hammond and Democratic Gov. William A. Egan was in doubt pending late returns from remote bush precincts.

In Arizona and New Mexico, the winning margins of Democrats Raul Castro and Jerry Apodaca were 4,113 and 2,530, respectively.

In Kansas and New Hampshire, Republicans Robert F. Bennett and Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr. won by 4,485 and 4,145, respectively.

With the last votes trickling in, most members of Congress, especially the leaders, were looking to the future.

Reports heard, member inducted by Jaycees here

One new member was inducted and a variety of reports were presented during the regular monthly meeting of the Washington C. H. Jaycees Wednesday night.

President John Marcum said Robert A. Munn, 1220 Cornell Drive, manager of the new McDonald's restaurant in Washington C.H., was inducted as a new member. He was sponsored for membership by Gary Johnson.

Reports on two fund-raising projects were presented. It was reported that 30-gallon trash can liners can still be purchased. The price has been lowered to $3 per box of 50 liners. It was also announced that the Jaycees recycling project will be held Nov. 16-17 at the Seaway parking lot, CCC Highway-W. Persons unable to deliver papers to the recycling center or those wishing to purchase trash can liners may call Mike Bailo or Ernie Wilson.

Final reports on the Jaycees' team in the Pony football league, game personnel provided by the chapter, in addition to a financial report on the banquet were also heard.

Marcum said the chapter's men's night event will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15 and the Christmas wrapping paper sale will be beginning in the near future.

Meeting set

Union Local 1070 of the United Paper Workers International Union, Mead Containers, will hold its meeting for the nomination of officers Nov. 9.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. at the Eagles Lodge, according to secretary Nate Bolton. The election date will be Dec. 7, to be held at the same time and place.

Pride at stake for Washington

Lions close season at Hillsboro

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

It was the final game of the 1973 season. With the scoreboard showing a 58-0 victory for the Lions, Washington coach Maurice Pfeifer walked across the field to offer his congratulations for a well-played game to the Hillsboro coaching staff. As he was departing, one of the members of the Indians' coaching staff told Pfeifer that Hillsboro would not be beaten by Court House in 1974.

This Friday, the final game of the 1974 campaign awaits the Blue Lions at Hillsboro. Washington enters the contest with a mark of 6-3 overall and 3-2 in the South Central Ohio League. The Indians, who are already assuring themselves of a last place finish in the league with a 0-5 record, are 2-7 for the year.

"After our superb performance in the loss to Miami Trace last week, it would be expected that we would be flat for this game," Pfeifer noted. "However, this will not be the case this season."

"Because of the unfair and unkind way Hillsboro responded to our magnificent state championship team of last year, our team and coaching staff has really been looking forward to this game," Pfeifer indicated. "We were criticized by their coaching staff for our supposedly unsportsmanlike conduct during the course of the game. We have taken this as a challenge and this game means just as much to us as our annual confrontation with Miami Trace."

Does this mean the dean of the SCOL coaches is carrying a grudge into this week's contest?

"No, I would not consider this a grudge match," he reflected. "I would consider this a matter of pride."

It appears as though the Indians are well on their way to their second consecutive 2-8 season. Hillsboro coach Mike Doyle is presently confronted with a six-game losing streak after opening the year with a 2-1 record.

"As a result of last year, Hillsboro figures their season starts with us," Pfeifer stated. "There is also the added incentive that Doyle is a graduate of Miami Trace."

Since the Indians took a 50-6 pasting at the hands of Miami Trace in the fifth game of the season, Doyle has been doing a lot of juggling with his lineups. Both offensively and defensively, the Indian mentor has made five changes.

One of the biggest changes involved the quarterback situation. Junior quarterback Don Marsh was switched to tight end and sophomore Tyler Woods has been calling the signals. Earley has been intercepted five times while completing 40 of 110 passes for 569 yards. Woods has connected on seven of 21 passes with three interceptions for 82 yards.

"With Woods at quarterback, we will have to contain the option play," remarked Pfeifer. "If Marsh should return to quarterback, our defense will need to have a good pass rush since he is a drop back passer."

Junior halfback Ken Captin is the major threat in the Indians' running attack. Captain has scored 46 of the 122 points produced by the offense of Hillsboro this season.

Washington's defense will be fighting hard to shut out Hillsboro's offense, which has been averaging 14 points per game. The Lions have already given up 90 points this season and they do not want to go over 100 points in total points yielded.

Despite the loss to Miami Trace last week, the Lions' defense turned in one of its sharpest performances of the season. It was the first time this year the devastating offense of the Panthers was held to under 150 total yards.

Keying last week's defensive efforts were guard Brian Haines, who was selected as the defensive lineman of the week, and linebacker Larry Dumford, who was chosen as the defensive back of the week. Haines totaled 19 defensive points, which included three hits on the quarterback, and was graded at 95 per cent. Dumford accumulated 28 defensive points, which included 11 tackles, and received a grade of 70 per cent.

Washington's defense will have to rely upon its tremendous quickness. The Indians' offense averages over eight pounds per player heavier than the Lions' defense.

This may be the opportunity for Washington's offense to really put something together. Hillsboro's defense has been porous this year. The Indians have given up an average of nearly 32 points per game as opponents have struck for a total of 79 points in the first and third periods each.

The two major threats in the backfield of Washington's offense are sophomore tailback Leroy Wilson and senior quarterback Jeff Brown. Wilson has garnered 383 yards in 131 carries this season. Brown has connected on 36 of 80 passes with six interceptions for 625 yards.

Last week, Brown connected on five passes for 99 yards to tight end David Thompson, who was selected as the offensive lineman of the week. One of the pass receptions was for an eight-yard touchdown and he received a grade of 85 per cent for his performance.

Washington's offense will also be at a weight disadvantage to the defense of Hillsboro. The Indians will be averaging nearly two pounds per player more than the Lions.

Tackle Kevin Pfeifer will be missing the game this week because of a cyst on his spinal column. Tim O'Flynn, who is also the starting defensive end, will be seeing action in Pfeifer's place on offense.

The best pursuit awards were earned by Haines of offense and tackle Richard Haithcock on defense. Haines delivered two blocks on one play and Haithcock came from behind to tackle Panther halfback Kent Smith, when he broke loose for a 28-yard run on the second play of the game.

For the trivia nuts, a victory this week will mark the Blue Lions' 12th consecutive win on the road. Washington's last loss on the road was to Grove City in 1972. All three of the Lions' losses this season have been in the not so friendly confines of Gardner Park Stadium.

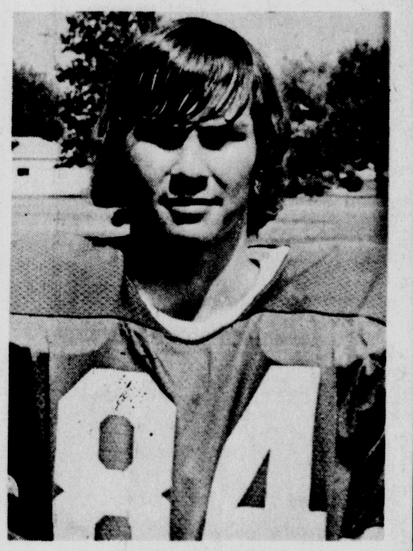

Ten seniors will be putting on their helmets for the final time this week. Although the number is few, the holes will be hard to fill.

Big shakeup in Class AA computer polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Warren Western Reserve, the 1972 state playoff champion, has vaulted back into a Class AAA regional lead this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized football ratings.

Western Reserve, with 127.19 points, took over the top spot in Region 1 from Warren Harding, last week's pacesetter. Harding is a close second with 126.87 points.

The OHSAA uses the ratings to select its semifinalists in all three classes for the postseason playoffs beginning next week. The final rankings will be released Monday morning.

The other Class AAA leaders were the same as last week, Upper Arlington in Region 2, Canton McKinley in Region 3 and Cincinnati Elder in Region 4.

The biggest shakeup this week came in Class AA where three of the four frontrunners were new. Only Shelby in Region 6 kept its Class AA lead.

The new Class AA leaders were Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary in Region 5, Louisville St. Thomas Aquinas in Region 7 and Cincinnati Mariemont in Region 8.

In Class A, Windham in Region 9, Fremont St. Joseph in Region 10, Newark Catholic in Region 11 and Middletown Fenwick in Region 12, preserved their leads. Fenwick is the defending Class A playoff king.

With the 14-13 upset victory over Class AAA Wilmington, Unioto made the biggest jump among the South Central Ohio League teams in the computer ratings. In Region 12 of Class A, the Shermans moved from 20th to 13th in the ratings.

In Region 8 of Class AA, Circleville was the only team to advance. The Tigers leaped from 10th to eighth. Greenfield remained at 14th, but Washington Court House dropped from 13th to 15th and Hillsboro moved from 41st to 46th.

In Region 4 of Class AAA, Miami Trace advanced to 19th after holding the 21st position last week. Wilmington dropped from 50th to 51st in the ratings.

Elliott eyes 100 yards for Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals reserve running back Lenvil Elliott believes that "I'm capable of gaining 100 yards in a ball game, given the proper breaks.

"It's a goal I have but not a selfish one," said Elliott, in his third year as a pro, "it would be a thing for the team."

Elliott, who has the second best record of the Cincinnati running backs this season, will be in uniform for the first time against the Pittsburgh Steelers here this Sunday.

Elliott has gained 252 yards in 45 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per try and two touchdowns, one from a pass.

Bobbie Clark, although averaging only 3.9 yards, has gained 312 yards in 99 attempts. He is out indefinitely with a broken arm suffered last week in the 24-14 triumph over Baltimore.

Doug Dressler has been slated to replace Clark here Sunday.

"Really," said Elliott, after viewing the Steelers game films, "they more or less manhandled every other team they played outside of Oakland.

Bowl pairings shaping up

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Ohio State, Oklahoma and Michigan are ranked first, second and fourth, respectively in The Associated Press college football poll this week. Only one will be going to a post-season bowl game this year.

Meanwhile, Maryland, Mississippi State, Houston and Oklahoma State have joined the rapidly-growing list of schools who have accepted bids to play in the year-end spectaculars while Pittsburgh is playing a wait-and-see game.

Herbie Hunt, Liberty Bowl president, said said Liberty Bowl representatives will be watching four games this weekend in an attempt to select an opponent for Maryland. The four games slated for scrutiny are Auburn at Mississippi State, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Missouri at Oklahoma and Tennessee at Memphis State.

Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl officials said hometown Houston's opponent Dec. 23 will be either North Carolina State or North Carolina, with Pittsburgh an outside possibility.

However, North Carolina State reportedly is headed for the Peach Bowl, which will be played Dec. 28 in Atlanta.

Oklahoma State, ranked 17th has accepted a bid to participate in the Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

The Western Athletic Conference champion will oppose Oklahoma State Dec. 28. Arizona State, which has won all three previous postseason contests, Arizona and Brigham Young are still in contention for the WAC title.

Sun Bowl officials say they want Pittsburgh if the Panthers beat Temple this Saturday. But Pitt also is reportedly being courted by the Liberty Bowl and the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Mississippi State said it has accepted an invitation to play in the Sun Bowl Dec. 28 in El Paso, Tex.

Although bowl officials declined to confirm it, it is believed the Gator Bowl Dec. 30 at Jacksonville, Fla., will match Auburn against the Southwest Conference runnerup.

The Southwest Conference champion — either Texas, Texas A&M or Baylor — is slated to play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 against Penn State.

The Sugar Bowl Dec. 31 will pit sixth-ranked Florida against ninth-ranked Nebraska, while third-ranked Alabama and eighth-ranked Notre Dame is expected to clash in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1 in a rematch of last year's national championship battle.

Probation and conference rules have cut down two of the nation's best teams. Secondranked Oklahoma is banned from appearing in a post-season game by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

And the granddaddy of all bowl games — the Rose Bowl — will feature the Big Ten champion versus the Pac-8 champion. Since top-ranked Ohio State and fourth-ranked Michigan are both in the Big Ten, one will be watching the postseason festivities with the nation's other football fans — on television.

Ali says he would fight Foreman again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, in Columbus Wednesday to pick up a $100,000 motor coach, said he is willing to fight George Foreman again, "after a month or two of rest."

Ali told WLW-C sports director Jimmy Crum, "if he's (Foreman) crazy enough to fight me again, I'll beat him every day of the week."

WFL struggles to finish first year

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The Chicago Fire says it is through for the year, Portland Storm players are refusing to play another game until they're paid and the Charlotte Hornets have literally lost their shirts.

It was just another day in the life and times of the World Football League.

The show must go on, however, and the WFL continued to struggle gracelessly toward the conclusion of its first season Wednesday night with Birmingham beating Philadelphia 26-23, Shreveport topping Charlotte 19-14 and the Hawaiians whipping Southern California 29-8.

Tonight's schedule calls for Chicago at Memphis and Portland at Florida, but WFL schedules lately have been as dependable as subway gum machines.

Birmingham built up a 26-0 lead in the first half of its game with Philadelphia behind the running of Art Cantrelle and Paul Robinson, who scored one touchdown apiece, and then held off a Bell rally. The game ended in a brawl that took officials several minutes to break up.

The announced attendance was 22,963, about half of what the Americans have been averaging.

Randy Johnson threw a pair of touchdown passes to John Isenbarger, and Al Davis and Vince Clements ran for two others in the Hawaiians' victory over Southern California before an announced crowd of 13,780 at Honolulu.

Kermit Johnson's touchdown in the fourth period averted a shutout for the Sun, now 13-6. The Hawaiians improved their record to 8-11.

Fire owner Tom Origer handed the stricken league another headache Wednesday when he announced that his club won't play its final game next week in Philadelphia and won't participate in the playoffs.

"We don't deserve to be in the playoffs and I'm against the eight-team thing, anyway," said Origer, whose team has lost nine straight games.

A league spokesman said WFL President Donald Regan will look into the Chicago matter Friday.

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, you want action? No delays, just business. So, how about Atlanta over Los Angeles? And Houston over Buffalo!

Far fetched? Maybe — but over the years, a change of coaches in mid-season often sets the stage for an upset. This could mean an Atlanta victory. But what about one for Houston?

While you mull over this for a moment, let's report that last week's effort by the Pro Pigskin Picker was 13-0, a perfect slate. It lifted the season's showing to 74-29-1 for .718.

Now back to Atlanta and Houston:

ATLANTA (2-6) at LOS ANGELES (6-2): The Falcons have never won in Los Angeles, but they have a chance to redeem themselves and provide Marion Campbell, Norm Van Brocklin's successor, with his first victory. So, in the Upset Special ... Falcons 21, Rams 20.

HOUSTON (3-5) at BUFFALO (7-1): There's no reason to expect that the Oilers, on their first two-game victory streak since 1971, will make it three. So let's not have an upset here and say ... Bills 31, Oilers 17.

PITTSBURGH (6-1-1) at CINCINNATI (5-3): The injury to Cincinnati running back Boobie Clark tilts the scale to ... Steelers 20, Bengals 16.

WASHINGTON (5-3) at PHILADELPHIA (4-4): The going is too sticky in the NFC East for the Eagles to catch Washington looking ahead to Dallas. So ... Redskins 19, Eagles 17.

SAN FRANCISCO (2-6) at DALLAS (4-4): And the Cowboys won't start thinking about Washington until Sunday night ... Cowboys 24, 49ers 15.

DETROIT (4-4) at OAKLAND (7-1): Guess who has the longest victory streak current in the NFC? Guess who still will have the longest victory streak in the AFC ... Raiders 30, Lions 19.

MIAMI (6-2) at NEW ORLEANS (3-5): New Orleans will still be no worse off than a second-place tie in the NFC West after the scoreboard says ... Dolphins 26, Saints 14.

CLEVELAND (2-6) at NEW ENGLAND (6-2): The Patriots have scored more points than any other NFL team so far. Cleveland has yielded more points than any other club. How about ... Patriots 30, Browns 13.

CHICAGO (3-5) vs. GREEN BAY (3-5) at Milwaukee: Chester Marcol's field goal kicking should help John Hadl register his first victory for Green Bay ... Packers 17, Bears 14.

DENVER (3-4-1) at BALTIMORE (1-7): It's simply a case of the Broncos having more horsepower ... Broncos 35, Colts 10.

SAN DIEGO (2-6) at KANSAS CITY (3-5): With the help of rookie running back Don Woods, San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts should lead his team to its second straight upset ... Chargers 30, Chiefs 27.

NEW YORK JETS (1-7) vs. NEW YORK GIANTS (2-6) at New Haven, Conn.: Is there room in Manhattan for two swingers like the Jets' Joe Namath and the Giants' Craig Morton?... Giants 24, Jets 19.

MINNESOTA (6-2) at ST. LOUIS (7-1): Quarterbacks Jim Hart and Fran Tarkenton will provide the fireworks for the Monday night viewers in a game that could be a preview of the opening match in the NFC divisional playoffs in seven weeks ... Vikings 28, Cardinals 26.

How to avoid future shock.

Tomorrow won't take care of itself. And, deep down, you know that. So you'd better do something about your future money needs today.

There's a painless way. Simply start building your nest egg a little at a time. It's easy when you buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

You can save as little or as much as you want. Just specify the amount. And it'll be set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds.

Then, when the future arrives, you'll be better fixed to face it. Because Bonds are the best shock absorber around.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

JOLLY BLUEBIRDS

The Jolly Bluebirds met at Belle-Aire School with eight members present and Mrs. Tom Vrettos and Mrs. Robert Wilson. Pam Jenkins led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Vrettos collected dues, TV stamps and Kroger labels. She also reminded the girls that Dec. 1 is the last day for labels and stamps to be collected.

Deana Rogers and Pam Jenkins served refreshments. Jeannie Teets and Pam McDonald were chosen for refreshments for the next meeting.

The group then went on a tour of the bowling alley.

Electric, phone firms want hikes

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. has asked for a 26 per cent rate increase, and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. is expected to ask for an even bigger hike.

An Ohio Bell official disclosed last month that the telephone company would ask for a 33 per cent boost in rates, and that announcement is expected soon.

In making its increase request, the Illuminating Co. told the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday if it could get "prompt rate relief" to the tune of 11 per cent it might not need the full 26 per cent by 1976.

A CEI spokesman said the company needs $120 million for construction early next year but that "substantial interest charges" could be saved with a quick 11 per cent increase.

That would raise about $51 million in additional capital, the spokesman said.

He said an 11 per cent increase would mean an average of eight cents more per day on the average customer's bills.

A 26 per cent increase would hike the average bill 18 cents a day, he said.

Great Lakes navigation extended

DETROIT (AP) — At least 16 freighters will brave the worst of winter by sailing the Great Lakes through February, with another 24 vessels operating into January, the Lake Carriers Association says.

Association officials called the winter navigation plans a "dramatic departure" from a few years ago when the sailing season traditionally closed on or about Dec. 15.

They said numerous special aids to navigation, aerial ice reconnaisance flights, special communications and weather forecasts will help the late-season sailors.

Winter navigation has caused protests from those living along the shores of the lakes. The say ice pushed aside by the freighters damages the already eroding shoreline.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. said seven of its boats are scheduled to sail through February, with five operating from Marquette to Lake Erie and two from Escanaba to Chicago.

U.S. Steel Co. said nine of its vessels will push through shipping lanes—which likely will be ice-laden—until February if possible.

Stapled Food Packages: Dangerous

In one of your columns you once warned housewives of the dangers of stapled food packages. Has anything been done about this? My daughter started to swallow a staple and by sheer luck was able to spit it up.

Mrs. J.E., Fla.

Dear Mrs. E.:

I don't know why so many food stores insist on stapling bags of food.

Some may claim that this is the only way to prevent pilfering. Yet it seems that other methods might be used. When the bag is taken home, the staple can pop off and become embedded in bread, vegetables or other uncovered food items.

The danger of swallowing a metal staple is one that cannot be overlooked. Many cases of injury have been reported in children and adults.

This preventable health hazard should be legally stopped. Until legislation makes it mandatory not to staple food packages, housewives must be the main force in demanding that such stapling be eliminated.

Do people with Parkinson's disease develop mental deterioration?

Mrs. G.N., Ohio

Dear Mrs. N.:

With Parkinson's disease, there often is a fixed facial expression. This mask appearance may, by its unresponsiveness, give the impression of some mental disturbance. This is false.

There does not seem to be any relationship between this illness and intellectual capacity.

After a big yawn I often dislocate my jaw. Is there any way of preventing this?

Mr. D.W., Okla.

Dear Mr. W.:

Dislocation of the jaw, with referred pain from the jaw joint to the ear, to the top of the head and down the neck, is a very common condition.

Specially trained dental surgeons have developed many fine techniques for the better understanding of the jaw joint and the muscles that surround it. Occasionally, it becomes necessary to use some form of corrective surgery to prevent repeated dislocations of the jaw.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Declarer frequently encounters a situation where it is more dangerous for him to have one defender on lead than the other. In such hands, declarer tries to shape his play so as to prevent the dangerous opponent from taking the lead.

Consider this deal where West leads the king of hearts. It is at once obvious to declarer that he may lose three diamonds and a trump — conceivably two trump tricks — and go down if the cards lie unfavorably.

It is also obvious to South that he can arrive home safe and sound, even if the trumps are divided 3-1 instead of 2-2, if he can stop East from taking the lead in trumps for a diamond return through the king.

Accordingly, upon winning the heart lead with the ace and discarding a diamond from his hand, declarer plays a trump and, when East produces the eight, covers it with the nine.

In the actual hand, the nine loses to the jack and South is then impervious to attack. Whatever West returns, South draws trumps, disposes of another diamond on dummy's fourth club, and winds up making four.

Observe that if declarer starts out by playing the A-K of trumps — making no effort to avoid East's taking the lead — he goes down one against proper defense. He loses a spade and three diamonds.

It is true that South's effort to avoid East would cost him a trick if the trumps were divided 2-2. However, he should be perfectly willing to lose this 30-point trick in the interests of safety. The governing principle is that you don't play the spades so as to assure the maximum number of spade tricks, but to assure the maximum chance for the contract.

Two defendants who pleaded innocent to charges of burglary and grand theft at their arraignment Sept. 12 have changed their pleas to the burglary charges and been sentenced in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

Roy A. Green, 29, of Montgomery, and Ronnie H. Jones, 28, of Dayton, pleaded guilty to burglary when the state agreed not to prosecute the grand theft charge. Both men were arrested by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies on the property of the Lakewood Sportsman, CCC Highway-W, on Aug. 30. They were indicted by the September term of the Fayette County grand jury.

Represented by counselor Robert Renshaw, of Springfield, the pair entered the new pleas before Common Pleas Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, who imposed sentence.

The burglary counts carry a maximum jail term of five years, and the sentence imposed by the judge will be released as soon as an entry has been signed by Renshaw and assistant county prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmann, who represented the state.

Asthmatic child wins new life

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two-year-old Chris Winninger is in Phoenix today, the beneficiary of a cross-country campaign launched by two newspapers to get the asthmatic child to the dry climate of Arizona.

"Tell everyone we said thank you," Mrs. Robert Winninger said as she, her husband and Chris boarded the jetliner at Standiford Field.

The journey was conceived when a doctor told Winninger and his wife, Beverley, that Chris' severe asthma could endanger their daughter's life unless she got to a dry climate.

Winninger, an unemployed laborer, had no way to move his family west until a couple of weeks ago, when the Louisville Courier-Journal ran a story about Chris' plight.

The response to the story was "unbelievable," Winninger said.

Donations ranging from $1 to $100 amounted to about $1,900 in all — enough to pay the little girl's medical expenses and the family's moving expenses.

Mayor Harvey Sloane called the city managers of Phoenix and Tucson to ask about getting Winninger a job. Job possibilities were mentioned by a wide range of organizations. Church groups and charitable organizations also offered assistance.

Argentina in uproar

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentine terrorists today shot to death an army major and burned military vehicles in the first reaction to the government's declaration of a state of siege.

Police said Maj. Hector Lopez was slain as he left his home this morning in Santa Fe, 300 miles north of here. The shots came from a house across from Lopez' residence, killing the major instantly.

Terrorist groups set fire to about 20 military buses at a factory north of Buenos Aires, police sources said.

Other guerrillas briefly seized the railroad station at Avellaneda, south of Buenos Aires, painted revolutionary slogans and distributed literature of the outlawed People's Revolutionary Army — ERP — police said.

With political assassinations occurring at the rate of more than one a day, President Isabel Peron returned Argentina to a state of siege on Wednesday. Her decree enabled the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial.

'White fleet' trip eyed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A proposal to send a "Great White Fleet" of about 24 warships on a world-circling voyage is circulating in high Navy circles, the Norfolk, Virginian Pilot says.

The newspaper said today that the proposed voyage is designed to tie in with America's bicentennial celebration and enhance the Navy's image at home and abroad.

The proposal reportedly suggests that such goodwill visits would dispell the wariness with which some countries view the United States after the Vietnam war, the newspaper said.

Navy officials said the idea, now only a theoretical concept, falls into the realm of "possible future operations" and can't be discussed, the Virginian-Pilot said.

The fleet would be named after President Theodore Roosevelt's Great White Fleet of 1908, which visited six continents and traveled more than 42,220 miles in 535 days.
